NOTICE TO MARINERS.

INDIA—WEST COAST—GULF OF CUTCH.

Fixed Light at Entrance to Toona Creek.

Information has been received from the Political Agent at Cutch Mandvec that a light was exhibited on the 5th September 1878 from a light-house recently erected on the swampy land south of Tekra Island, as a guide to vessels making for Toona, north shore of the Gulf of Cutch.

The light is a fixed white light, shown from an ordinary lantern elevated 17 feet above high water, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of 6 miles.

The light tower, which is built of stone, and 23 feet high, stands on the eastern edge of a low mangrove swamp about three-quarters of a mile south of Tekra Island, Toona Creek. At high tides this swamp is overflowed, which gives the light-house the appearance of being built in the water.

duty with which it is chargeable, are fully and truly set forth therein, and may refuse to proceed upon any such application until such abstract and evidence have been furnished accordingly :

Provided that no evidence furnished in pursuance of this section shall be used against any person in any civil proceeding, except in an enquiry as to the duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable; and every person by whom any such evidence is furnished shall, on payment of the full duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable, be relieved from any penalty he may have incurred under this Act by reason of the omission to state truly in such instrument any of the facts or circumstances aforesaid.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to require any Magistrate or Judge of a criminal Court to examine or impound any instrument coming before him in the course of any proceeding other than a proceeding under chapter forty or chapter forty-one of the Code of Criminal Procedure, or chapter eighteen of the Presidency Magistrates Act :

Provided also that, in the case of a Judge of a High Court, the duty of examining and impounding any instrument under this section may be delegated to such officer as the Court appoints in this behalf.

34. No instrument chargeable with duty

Instruments not duly stamped inadmissible in evidence, &c. shall be admitted in evidence for any purpose by any person having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence, or shall be acted upon, registered or authenticated by any such person or by any public officer, unless such instrument is duly stamped :

Provided.

Provided that—

1st, any such instrument, not being an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only or a bill of exchange or promissory note, shall, subject to all just exceptions, be admitted in evidence on payment of the duty with which the same is chargeable or (in the case of an instrument insufficiently stamped) of the amount required to make up such duty, together with a penalty of five rupees, or when ten times the amount of the proper duty or deficient portion thereof exceeds five rupees, of a sum equal to ten times such duty or portion ;

2nd, nothing herein contained shall prevent the admission of any instrument in evidence in any proceeding in a criminal Court other than a proceeding under chapter forty or chapter forty-one of the Code of Criminal Procedure, or chapter eighteen of the Presidency Magistrates Act ;

3rd, when an instrument has been admitted in evidence, such admission shall not, except as provided in section fifty, be called in question at any stage of the same suit or proceeding on the ground that the instrument has not been duly stamped.

35. When the person impounding an instrument under section thirty-three has by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence and admits such instrument in evidence upon payment of a penalty as provided by section thirty-four, he shall send to the Collector an authenticated copy of such instrument, together with a certificate in writing, stating the amount of the duty and penalty levied in respect thereof, and shall send such amount to the Collector, or to such person as he may appoint in this behalf.

In every other case, the person so impounding an instrument shall send it in original to the Collector

36. When a copy of an instrument is sent to a Collector under the first paragraph of section thirty-five, he may, if he thinks fit, upon application made to him in this behalf, refund any portion of the penalty in excess of five rupees which has been paid in respect of such instrument, or when such instrument has been impounded only because it has been written in contravention of section twelve, or section thirteen, he may refund the whole penalty so paid.

37. When the Collector impounds any instrument under section thirty-three, or receives any instrument sent to him under the second clause of section thirty-five, he shall adopt the following procedure :—

If he is of opinion that such instrument is duly stamped, or is not chargeable with duty, he shall certify by endorsement thereon that it is duly stamped, or that it is not so chargeable (as the case may be), and shall upon application made to him in this behalf deliver such instrument to the person from whose possession it came into the hands of the officer impounding it, or as such person may direct.

(b.) If the Collector is of opinion that such instrument is chargeable with duty and is not duly stamped, he shall require the payment of the proper duty or the amount required to make up the same, together with a penalty of five rupees ; or if ten times the amount of the proper duty or of the deficient portion thereof exceeds five rupees, then such penalty, not less than five rupees and not more than ten times the amount of such duty or portion, as he thinks fit :

Provided that, when such instrument has been impounded only because it has been written in contravention of section twelve or section thirteen, the Collector may, if he thinks fit, remit the whole penalty prescribed by this section.

Every certificate under clause (a) of this section shall, for the purposes of this Act, be conclusive evidence of the matters stated therein.

Nothing in this section applies to an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only, or to a bill of exchange or promissory note.

38. If any instrument chargeable with duty and which is not duly stamped is produced by any person of his own motion before the Collector within one year from the date of its execution or first execution, and such person brings to the notice of the Collector the fact that such instrument is not duly stamped, and offers to pay to the Collector the amount of the proper duty, or the amount required to make up the same, and the Collector is satisfied that the omission to duly stamp such instrument has been occasioned by accident, mistake or urgent necessity, he may, instead of proceeding under sections thirty-three and thirty-seven, receive such amount and proceed as next hereinafter prescribed.

Nothing in this section applies to an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only or to a bill of exchange or promissory note.

39. When the duty and penalty (if any) leviable in respect of any instrument have been paid under section thirty-four, section thirty-seven or section

Every instrument so endorsed shall thereupon be admissible in evidence, and may be registered and acted upon and authenticated as if it had been duly stamped, and shall be delivered on his application in this behalf to the person from whose possession it came into the hands of the officer impounding it, or as such person may direct :

Provided that no instrument which has been admitted in evidence upon payment of duty and a penalty under section thirty-four shall be so delivered before the expiration of one month from the date of such impounding, or if the Collector has certified that its further detention is necessary and has not cancelled such certificate :

Provided also that nothing in this section shall affect the Code of Civil Procedure, section 144, clause 3.

40. The payment of a penalty under this chapter in respect of an instrument shall not bar the prosecution of any person who appears to have committed an offence against the stamp-law in respect of such instrument :

But no such prosecution shall be instituted in the case of any instrument in respect of which such a penalty has been paid, unless it appears to the Collector that the offence was committed with an intention of evading payment of the proper duty.

41. When any duty or penalty has been paid, under section thirty-four, or section thirty-seven or section thirty-eight, by any person in respect of an instrument, and by agreement, or under the provisions of section twenty-nine or any other enactment in force at the time such instrument was executed, some other person was bound to bear the expense of providing the proper stamp for such instrument, the first-mentioned person shall be entitled to recover from such other person the amount of the duty or penalty so paid ; and for the purpose of such recovery any certificate granted in respect of such instrument under section thirty-nine shall be conclusive evidence of the matters therein certified.

42. When any penalty is paid under section thirty-four or thirty-seven, the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may, upon application in writing made within one year from the date of the payment, refund such penalty wholly or in part.

43. If any instrument sent to a Collector under the second paragraph of section thirty-five be lost, destroyed or damaged during transmission, the person sending the same shall not be liable for such loss, destruction or damage.

But nothing herein contained shall relieve any person from any penalty he may have incurred in relation to such bill, note or cheque.

CHAPTER V.

REFERENCE AND REVISION.

45. If any Collector acting under section thirty, section thirty-seven or section thirty-eight feels doubt as to the amount of duty with which any instrument is chargeable, he may draw up a statement of the case, and refer it, with his own opinion thereon, for the decision of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, and such Authority shall consider the case and send a copy of its decision to the Collector, and he shall proceed to assess and charge the duty (if any) in conformity with such decision.

46. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may state any case referred to it under section forty-five or otherwise coming to its notice and refer such case with its own opinion thereon, if the case arises in the territories for the time being administered by the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council or the Governor of Bombay in Council—to the High Court of Judicature at Madras or Bombay as the case may be: if it arises in the North-Western Provinces or Oadh—to the High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces: if it arises in the territories for the time being administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb—to the Chief Court of the Panjáb: if it arises in the Central Provinces—to the High Court of Judicature at Bombay; and if it arises in any other part of British India—to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William.

Every such case shall be decided by not less than three Judges of the High Court or Chief Court to which it is referred, and in case of difference the opinion of the majority shall prevail.

If the High Court or Chief Court is not satisfied that the statements contained in the case are sufficient to enable it to determine questions raised thereby, the Court may refer case back to the Revenue-Authority by which as stated, to make such additions thereto or alterations therein as the Court may direct in behalf.

48. The High Court or Chief Court, upon the hearing of any such case, shall decide the questions raised thereby and shall deliver its judgment thereon containing the grounds on which such decision is founded: and it shall send to the Revenue-Authority by which the case was stated, a copy of such judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar, and the Revenue-Authority shall, on receiving such copy, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

49. If any Court other than a Court mentioned in section forty-six feels doubt as to the amount of duty to be paid in respect of any instrument under the first proviso to section thirty-four, the Judge may draw up a statement of the case and refer it with his own opinion thereon for the decision of the High Court or Chief Court to which, if he were the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, he would under section forty-six refer the same, and such Court shall deal with the case as if it had been referred under section forty-six, and send a copy of its judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar to the Judge making the reference, who shall, on receiving such copy, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

References made under this section, when made by a Court subordinate to a District Court, shall be made through the District Court, and when made by any subordinate Revenue Court shall be made through the Court immediately superior.

50. When any Court in the exercise of civil or revenue jurisdiction makes any order admitting any instrument in evidence as duly stamped or as not requiring a stamp, or upon payment of duty and a penalty under section thirty-four, the Court to which appeals lie from, or references are made by, such first-mentioned Court may, of its own motion or on the application of the Collector, take such order into consideration; and if it is of opinion that such instrument should not have been admitted in evidence without the payment of duty and penalty under section thirty-four, or without the payment of a higher duty and penalty than those paid, may record a declaration to that effect, and determine the amount of duty with which such instrument is chargeable, and may require any person in whose possession or power such instrument then is to produce the same, and may impound the same when produced.

When any declaration has been recorded under this section, the Court recording the same shall send a copy thereof to the Collector and, where the instrument to which it relates has been impounded or is otherwise in the possession of such Court, shall also send him such instrument; and thereupon the Collector may, notwithstanding anything contained in the order admitting such instrument in evidence, or in any certificate granted under section thirty-nine, or in section forty, prosecute any person for any offence against the stamp-law which the Collector considers him to have committed in respect of such instrument:

Provided that no such prosecution shall be instituted where the amount (including duty and penalty) which according to the determination of such

Court was payable in respect of the instrument under section thirty-four is paid to the Collector, unless he thinks that the offence was committed with an intention of evading payment of the proper duty :

Provided also that, except for the purposes of such prosecution, no declaration made under this section shall affect the validity of any order admitting any instrument in evidence, or of any certificate granted under section thirty-nine.

CHAPTER VI.

- (4) an instrument executed by any party thereto which, for want of the execution thereof by some material party, and his inability or refusal to sign the same, is in fact incomplete and insufficient for the purpose for which it was intended :

Provided also that, in the case of stamped paper not having any executed instrument written thereon, the application for relief is made within six months after the stamp has been spoiled as aforesaid.

sions of section twelve, the Collector may, on application made within six months after the date of the instrument or, if it is not dated, within six months after the execution thereof by the person by whom it was first or alone executed, and upon the instrument, if chargeable with duty, being re-stamped with the proper duty, cancel and allow as spoiled the stamp so misused or rendered useless.

53. In any case in which allowance is made for spoiled or misused stamps, the Collector may give in lieu thereof (a) other stamps of the same description and value, or, (b) if required, and he thinks fit, stamps of any other description to the same amount in value, or (c) at his discretion, the same value in money, deducting one anna for each rupee or fraction of a rupee.

54. When any person is possessed of a stamp which has not been spoiled or rendered unfit or useless for the purpose intended, but for which he has no immediate use, the Collector shall repay to such person the value of such stamp in money, deducting one anna for each rupee or portion of a rupee, upon such person delivering up the same to be cancelled, and proving to the Collector's satisfaction that it was purchased by such person with a bona fide intention to use it, and that he has paid the full price thereof, and that it was so purchased within the period of six months next preceding the date on which it is so delivered.

" 25th	121	8vo. ... 1st ..		1,200	ditto ...	0 8 0	Not given ...	A close imitation of an abler work of the same name by Mano-Mohan Basu, and based on the well-known story in the life of Ráma, which tells how, when every preparation had been made for his coronation, he was obliged to go into exile with his wife and brother for 14 years to fulfil a promise his father had made to Kaikcyí, Ráma's step-mother.	1733
" 10th	185	8vo. ... 2nd ...		1,000	ditto ...	1 4 0	Jyotirindra Náth Tagore, Jorá-sángo, Calcutta.	Baffled in his first attempt to take Chittore, Aláuddin of Delhi secretly deputed one of his men, a Muhammadan, to repair to the city and sow dissensions among the Rájput chiefs. For this purpose he assumed the guise of a Hindu devotee and secured the reverence of the inhabitants by his sanctity. The impostor so far succeeds in his efforts that he is appointed priest of the local temple of Káli, while secretly carrying on correspondence with Aláuddin; to further whose wishes, he gives it out that the city may be delivered from the hands of the invader if the heroine, Sarojini, daughter of the Ráná, be offered up in sacrifice. This is strenuously opposed by the loving parents, while eagerly demanded by a portion of the inhabitants, who regard this as the only means of escape. This circumstance gives rise to internecine war and bloodshed. Meanwhile Chittore is taken and pillaged. The heroic Rájput females, however, including Sarojini, burn themselves to death to avoid outrage at the hands of the savage invaders. Many unnecessary characters are introduced into the work, and the dialogues are tediously long. There are, however, not a few passages evincing considerable pathos, and tenderness, and martial spirit.	1734
Oct. 28th	110	12mo. ... 1st ...		500	ditto ...	0 10 0	Krishna Dás, Shur, Chandernagore.	Vijay Ketu, a young prince, who is betrothed to Vidyumáliní, the heroine, conceives a dislike towards her and falls in love with Indu Máliní, the daughter of a rich merchant. The heroine finds this out, and by her skill and cleverness prevents the meeting of the lovers for a time, and at last effects a reconciliation between herself, the prince, and her rival, who is now discovered to be the daughter of a king. The prince marries them both, while his companion obtains the hand of a witty female attendant of Indu Máliní. The story is pointless and uninteresting; the style is pedantic and occasionally vulgar. The work is a worthless production.	1735

Oct. 15th	192	8vo. ...	2nd ...	300	Printed	0 13 0	Kumár Upendra Krishna Dev Bahádur, Shobá Bazar, Calcutta.	The present is Part III of a work complete in four parts. It is written in imitation of the Mysteries of Paris and other works of that worthless stuff.	1736
A narrative in a sensational style and abounding in intrigues, murders, &c., &c. the work, however, commanded an extensive sale when it was first published.
Dec. 2nd	151	12mo. ...	1st ...	500	ditto ...	1 0 0	Kedárnáth Chakravartí of Nandan Bagan Street, Calcutta.	An interesting work written on the strength of the saying of Professor Max Müller at the Congress of Orientalists held in 1874, that a nation which does not study its past can ever hope to be great. In the book before us is described the conquest of a portion of Bengal by a Muhammadan named Goráchánd who came disguised as a fakir after the last Hindu King, Lakshman Sen, had been deposed by Bakthiár Khilji. Chandra Ketu, was the king of Balanda, now an insignificant place in the sub-division of Baraset. How he fought with Goráchánd, was taken prisoner, and regained his liberty; the heroism, and adventures of Vijay Ketu, who defeated the invaders; the treachery of Rám Hájrá, a Hindu, who had called in the Muhammadans; and the tragic death of the females of the king's household and the end of Vijay Ketu and Chandra Ketu, who drowned themselves, are all described with much spirit. There are interesting traditions respecting this Muhammadan invasion and decaying monuments are still to be found in the Balanda Pergunnah.	1737
Nov. 8th	300	12mo. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	1 4 0	Ramesh Chandra Datta, Esq., c.s., Tipperah.	A tale of the times of Arungzebe. The cruel, ambitious, bigoted, and crafty character of that monarch, the rise of the Mah-ratta power, and the courage and daring of Shiváji are described in vivid colors. There is an interesting love episode in the work, in which Raghunáth, a young man of respectable, but disguised lineage, a soldier in Shiváji's army, figures as the hero, and succeeds after encountering many mishaps in winning and marrying Sharajuválá, a beautiful Rajput damsel.	1738
Sept. 16th	64	8vo. ...	1st ...	600	ditto ...	0 6 0	Vinod Vihári Shil, 118, Chitpore Road, Calcutta.	A translation into Bengali prose interspersed with poetry of Shakespeare's Tempest. The execution is stiff and occasionally unintelligible. The work has little to recommend it.	1739
„ 27th	138	Dy 12mo.	1st ...	500	ditto ...	0 12 0	Rámchandra Chaudhuri, of Vikrámpore, Dacca.	The love adventures and reverses of Ashwiní Kumár a daring young man who is represented as flourishing in Bengal in the 17th century. Through circumstances over which he had no control, he successively came in contact with and attracted the hearts of Hemlatá, a rich heiress of Benares, whom he subsequently married, and of Naliní, the betrothed of his childhood. The latter was forcibly carried away by a band of robbers on the day of the wedding, but after many years, during which period her fate was totally unknown to Ashwiní Kumár, she came across her husband, and naturally claimed him as her own. Ashwiní Kumár, however, was hesitating and jealous; the virtuous lady who did not deserve this treatment pined away, and at last went mad. After this, once only was she seen by her husband in Benares in a state of complete destitution. The tale is pathetic, and told with considerable skill.	1740

„ 8th	120	12mo. ...	4th ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	Rámhati Nyáya-ratna, Hooghly.	A useful grammar.	1742
„ 18th	192	8vo. ...	1st ...	550	ditto ...	1 12 0	Amvika Charan Rakshit of Jendidah.	Compiled from several approved Sanskrit and English medical works. The object of the writer is to stimulate inquiry among the graduates of the Calcutta Medical College regarding the Hindu system of medicine and native drugs. The work is written in a simple Bengali style, and the arrangement followed is that obtaining in English works on medicine.	1743
Dec. 2nd	16	4to. ...	1st ...	1,050	ditto ...	1 0 0	Jadunáth Mukerji, L.M.S., 198, Bow Bazar Street, Calcutta.	Treats of medicine, surgery, mid-wifery, and ophthalmic disease.	1744
Sept. 30th	247	8vo. ...	4th ...	1,000	ditto ...	2 0 0	ditto	The present is a revised and considerably enlarged edition. The work has proved exceedingly useful for the purpose for which it was intended. It is written in the form of a dialogue in simple and colloquial Bengali, intelligible to ignorant native midwives and mothers, and contains almost every information that is necessary.	1745

Sept. 14th	244	12mo. ...	1st ...	250	ditto ...	1 8 0	Vinod Káminí Niyogí, Bág-bazár, Calcutta.	The work is very neatly got up. A new feature is observable in the printing. Every line begins as in English poetry	1758 with a capital letter. There are altogether in this book 31 small lyrical poems, most of which treat of love. The author's conception of this sentiment, however, is not very elevated or refined. There is a poem in which the writer dwells on the past glories of India in imitation of Byron's "Isles of Modern Greece." The last piece, headed the Deserted Village, possesses some merit. The striking passages, however, are all taken from Goldsmith and Gray. The book is dedicated to a lady.

father revile Shíva. The latter, ever since her death, had become a stern ascetic. To induce him to marry again, the gods deputed the Indian Cupid to disturb his ascetic devotions. The enraged Shív reduced Madan or Cupid to ashes, but was persuaded to marry Gaurí. The incidents and most of the sentiments are taken from the " Kumār Sambhava " of Kálidās.
Sept. 26th	16	8vo. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 1 0	Nagendra Náth Sen, Bhowani-pore, Calcutta.	Describes how on the occasion of the Durgápujá, Hindu wives anxiously expect the return home of their husbands absent elsewhere on business, how it	2319 is a season of general rejoicings, and how most young Bengalis spend the holidays in drinking and other unholy pleasures. The title of the work is accounted for by the fact that, last year the Durgápujá lasted only for three days to the great chagrin of the merry-makers. There are occasional obscene passages in the work.
Nov. 21st	32	8vo. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 3 0	Navakrishna Banerjee, Jorá-sanko.	Under this pretentious title the author proposes to publish in monthly parts, poems and dramas composed by himself. In	2320
the present number he has commenced a drama entitled " Satya Chandrodaya ;" or, the Rise of the Moon of Truth, an allegory in which the conflict of Hinduism with so called Bráhmöism and unbelief at the present time, or Kaliyuga, is described in great detail. Genuine or Vedic Hinduism is described as a sovereign enthroned in the heart of the pious, which is its empire. He is attended by all the virtues as his ministers and generals; while Kali or the infidelity of the present iron age, is firmly seated as in a citadel in the heart of the dishonest with Atheists and Bráhmos and drunkards and hypocrites and prostitutes as his companions and supporters. A war is brought about between the two sovereigns, and the scene of action is the heart of the doubtful. The contending armies fight hard to gain this position. Here the first part closes.
Sept. 16th	46	12mo. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 4 0	Not given.	Krishna had for some time been seated on the throne of Mathurá, when one day the	2321 chanting of a love song by some unknown person reminded him of his acts in Vrindávan, of the parents who had brought him up with so much affection, of his simple-hearted cowherd companions, and of his amorous sports with Rádhá and other milkmaids. His heart was filled with sadness, and he sent his friend Uddhava to Vrindávan to carry news of his coming in a short time. The messenger on his arrival met with a sight truly miserable: every body in Vrindávan, every living thing, the kine and the birds, were pining away because of the absence of Krishna. Rádhá in the perturbed state of her mind was asking the Kokil to carry a message to Krishna. Uddhava returned, mentioned what he had seen, and the result was the return of Krishna to Vrindávan. The work seems to be exceedingly popular with the Vaishnava Hindus of Eastern Bengal; and from peculiarities of language bears evidence of the residence of the author.
„ 20th	68	12mo. ...	1st ...	2,000	ditto ...	0 3 0	Naderchánd Shíl, 326, Chitpore Road, Calcutta	Descriptive of Ráma having been sent into exile at the request of his step-mother Kaikeyí on the day on which every thing had been arranged for his anointment. Taken from the Rámáyán .	2322
„ 18th	36	12mo. ...	First .	500	ditto ...	0 4 0	Prasannakumár Chatterji.	Describes the intemperate habits, atheistic tendencies, and the love of tall talk and speech, making on patriotism and political topics which characterize	2323
the young Bengalis who have received an English education. The work embraces a variety of topics, such for instance, as the utter hypocrisy of many Christian Missionaries who, while ostensibly engaged in the work of preaching the Gospel, treat the natives of the country in a most cruel manner, and do not shrink even on the slightest provocation to murder them. Their style of preaching, their pronunciation of the Bengali, the abuse they pour upon Hindu gods and goddesses, and the wicked and hypocritical character of the Native Christian converts are all powerfully satirized. The writer throws much ridicule on the manner in which, trials of Europeans accused of murdering natives are conducted in the law courts. How a European beats to death an inoffensive native servant, a syce for instance; how his widow and children are paid a few rupees as compensation for the loss of their guardian; how suborned witnesses are procured; how the European medical officer is bribed into saying that the death was due to a rupture of the spleen; how the ignorant witnesses for the prosecution are bullied into making contradictory statements by the perplexing cross-examination of the Council for the defendant; how the Judge sums up, and how a European jury acquit the accused; and how, lastly, the conductors of the prosecution are fined, and occasionally imprisoned, for seeking to bring troubles upon an innocent (P) European, are described with great force. Reference is also made in the work to the Vernacular Press Act, and the spirit which led the authorities to pass that measure. It is an altogether mischievous production, calculated to foster discontent and mislead ignorant people.

	5 Hooghly, „ 25 „	Nil	Weather—cold and clear. The amun crop is nearly harvested. The prospects of the cold-weather crops are good. Fever has much abated. Cholera still continues at Gooptiparah.
	Howrah, „ 27 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. The small amount of crop still on the ground is doing well.
Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6 24-Pergunnah, Jan. 25 '79	Nil	Weather—seasonable. The state and prospects of the crops are favourable. The price of rice is very high. Public health in general is good.
	7 Nuddea, „ 25 „	Nil	Weather—cold. The amun harvest is over. The outturn is nowhere below the average; but the prices are still high. The winter crops generally are doing well. Cholera is still reported, and a few deaths have also been caused by small-pox.
	8 Jessore, „ 25 „	Nil	Weather—fine and cool. The storing of the amun crop is nearly completed. The winter crops promise well. General health is good.
	9 Moorshedabad, „ 25 „	Nil	The weather has again become cooler. Clear bright days. The rubbee continues to promise well. The price of rice remains high, and exportation continues. Health is good.
RAJSHAHY AND COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	10 Dinagepore, „ 24 „	Nil	Weather—clear and cold. The cold-weather crops are progressing favourably. The price of rice varies from 13 to 18 seers per rupee.
	11 Rajshahye, „ 25 „	Nil	No rain during the week. The dhan crop still continues to be reaped, but it is being exported abundantly from several parts of the district. The rubbee crops, though thriving, still require rain. Cholera has disappeared.
	12 Rungpore, „ 24 „	Nil	Weather—colder. The prospects of tobacco are good, and of wheat and mustard are moderate. Rain would cause an improvement. Cholera is disappearing, but small-pox is reported from Bagdogra.
	13 Bogra, „ 25 „	Nil	Weather—cooler than last week. North wind is prevalent. Almost all the amun has been reaped. The rubbee crops are doing well. Fever still prevails. Cholera is on the decrease.

	16 Julpigoree, „ 25 „	Nil	Hazy foggy mornings. Weather considerably cooler than last week. The ploughing of land for bhadoi is slowly progressing. Mustard and tobacco are doing well; the plucking of the latter has commenced. In the Dooars the mustard is said to be rather backward for want of rain.
	Cooch Behar, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable, clear, and cool. The reaping of the rice crop is completed. The prospects of the winter crops continue to be promising, but a little rain would have greatly benefited them. The state of the public health is good.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and ; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the nometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, early at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof. Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 10.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railway for the four weeks ending 28th December 1878.

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY COMPANY, TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, SEALDAH TERMINUS.

Report on Goods Traffic for the four weeks ending 28th December 1878.

Dated Calcutta, the 16th January 1879.

From—W. INNES, Esq., Acting Traffic Superintendent, To—The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, Calcutta.

The total traffic was 5,61,958 maunds, as against 5,65,432 maunds for the corresponding period of 1877, being decrease of 3,474 maunds.

The upward traffic shows a decrease of 34,368 maunds, which is principally on account of short despatch of salt, 27,360 maunds, miscellaneous 8,682, cotton 3,688, twist 1,213, piece-goods 981, sugar 750, and ales, &c., 488 maunds.

The decrease in salt is attributable in some measure to the number of close holidays in this period, as also inactivity in the market.

Against this decrease Railway materials shows an increase of maunds 4,411 and seeds 1,000.

The downward traffic shows a total of 4,19,623 maunds, against 3,88,729 maunds for 1877, being an increase 30,894 maunds, due to jute 81,368, tea 9,163, hides 9,076, gunny 6,759, and cotton 1,372.

There is, however, a considerable falling off in the following commodities: grain 41,767 maunds, turmeric 17,717, sugar 796, and miscellaneous goods 10,490 (mostly composed of chillies and ginger), seeds 8,480.

The increase in jute, hides, and gunny is due to increased activity in the market. That for tea, to the opening the Northern Bengal State Railway.

The decrease in grain is due to the heavy despatch last year consequent upon the Madras famine, seeds and sugar to short crops and miscellaneous, to short crops of ginger and chillies, turmeric, to want of demand for export.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 3rd February 1879.—The following correspondence is published for general information.

A. MACKENZIE,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 462, dated Fort William, the 29th January 1879.

From—A. W. CROFT, Esq., Director of Public Instruction,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I HAVE the honor to bring to your notice that Miss Kadambini Bose, a pupil of the Bethune School in Calcutta, has passed the Entrance Examination of the University in the second division. From information furnished me by the Registrar, I learn that if she had gained another mark over the 199 that were awarded her, she would have been placed in the first division. As this is the first occasion on which a native young lady has passed any University examination, it seems fitting to signalise her success in some conspicuous manner. I therefore beg to recommend that a special junior scholarship should be now created for her benefit, tenable by her for two years, provided she continues her studies in some institution approved by myself. The present junior scholarships are of three grades, of the value respectively of Rs. 10, Rs. 15, and Rs. 20 a month; these amounts being intended to meet the cost of books as well as of living. Either a first grade scholarship of Rs. 20 a month, or a second grade scholarship of Rs. 15 a month, would probably enable Miss Kadambini Bose to prosecute her studies to the First Arts standard, the University having lately made provision for the admission of female candidates to that examination. I also beg to suggest, for the consideration of Government, the permanent establishment of three junior scholarships of the first, second, and third grades respectively, to be awarded every year to three successful female candidates at the Entrance Examination, and to be tenable for two years on the conditions named above.

2. I further recommend that I may be authorised to award to Miss Kadambini Bose a present of books to the value of Rs. 50.

No. 97, dated Calcutta, the 3rd February 1879.

To—The Director of Public Instruction.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 462, dated 29th January 1879, bringing to notice the fact that Miss Kadambini Bose, a pupil of the Bethune School in Calcutta, has successfully passed the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University in the second division, failing to attain a place in the first division by one mark only.

2. This is the first occasion on which a young native lady has passed any University examination, and the Lieutenant-Governor is accordingly pleased, on your recommendation, to sanction the creation of a special junior second grade scholarship of the value of Rs. 15 a month for Miss Bose's benefit, to be tenable by her for a period of two years, provided she continues her studies in some institution approved of by you.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor also sanctions your proposal to establish permanently three junior scholarships of the first, second, and third grades respectively, to be awarded annually to successful female candidates at the Entrance Examination, and to be tenable by them for two years on the conditions named above.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor further authorizes you to award to Miss Kadambini Bose a present of books to the value of Rs. 50 (fifty).

MANAGEMENT OF THE CALCUTTA HOSPITALS AND THE

MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 25th January 1879.

READ—

Report on the Calcutta Hospitals and the Howrah General Hospital by the Committee appointed to enquire into Medical Expenditure in Bengal.

In the Resolution of 18th February 1878, the Lieutenant-Governor nominated a Special Committee to consider, among other subjects connected with medical administration, the question of hospital management in Bengal. The Committee have now, after detailed enquiry into the administrative history of each institution in Calcutta and the Suburbs, submitted a report containing the results of this portion of their labours in a series of well-considered recommendations on each subject.

2. The primary object of the Lieutenant-Governor, in instituting this enquiry, was to put an end to the confusion and waste which appeared to have crept into the administration of some hospitals, and to introduce an economical and uniform system of management. Some of the facts which have come to light will require explanation. But the Lieutenant-Governor is not now immediately concerned with the apportionment of praise or censure. Such cases will be dealt with separately and on their own merits, and, while the Lieutenant-Governor cannot permit any medical officer convicted of unpardonable carelessness and neglect of duty to resume or continue the management of a hospital, no such officer will be condemned until he has had an opportunity of furnishing an explanation of the charges brought against him. The Committee's remarks allude in many places to a state of things which existed under Superintendents of hospitals now no longer in India. In dealing with the Committee's report, therefore, Sir Ashley Eden will for the present avoid the mention of the name of any officer in any way responsible for a state of things which he may consider it his duty to condemn. Whatever explanations may be forthcoming, the facts stated in the Committee's report cannot be gainsayed. The object now in view is the establishment of a uniform system of hospital management, which will provide for the greatest economy consistent with full regard for the care of the sick, the elimination of vicious principles of administration, the selection of the methods found by experience to offer the best results, and the distinct apportionment of the duties and responsibilities of the different classes of officers. It should be stated at the outset that it is the desire of Government, not that less than they require should reach the sick, but that the public money should not, under the pretext of their needs, be wasted by the acts of dishonest or careless and inefficient subordinates. Fixed and uniform principles are required for the protection at once of the suffering poor and of the public funds.

3. The first four recommendations put forward by the Committee, which relate to general principles of administration, have the Lieutenant-Governor's complete approval:—

That the principle which ought to govern the management of a hospital or dispensary supported from public funds should be the greatest possible economy consistent with the liberal provision of all things necessary to the well-being and comfort of the sick.

That all officers concerned, each in his own sphere, should be held responsible that this principle is enforced.

That within such reasonable limits as experience has shown to be sufficient, medical officers entrusted with the treatment of the sick should be allowed the utmost freedom of action as to ordering diets, extras, stimulants, and other necessaries for their patients; but that, at the same time, they should be held personally responsible if they exceed the limits or allow their subordinates to exceed them.

That the system of accounts and returns should be simplified to the utmost, in order that the responsible officer may exercise a real control.

In the opinion of the Committee all these principles, with the exception of the third, have hitherto been ignored, and great waste has resulted from want of effective control. There can be little doubt that many medical officers have made their professional occupations their first care, and have to a great extent left the administrative part of their duties in the hands of their subordinates. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that it will only be necessary to affirm the principles enunciated above to prevent a recurrence of this. Since attention was directed to this question, the medical officers have exerted themselves most loyally to reform the administration of their hospitals.

4. Diet.—Up to 1866 the grant from Government in the Medical College Hospital on account of diet allowed the rate of 6 annas 8 pies daily for European patients, and 3 annas for native patients. In 1867 the rates were raised to 8 annas 10 pies and 4 annas respectively, and the expenditure was brought under audit by the Examiner of Medical Accounts. At the same time a system was introduced under which a separate diet sheet, containing, besides a column for diet, twelve columns for extras, was required for each patient. The theory was that the medical officer at his morning visit would give and initial the necessary orders in each case. This labour was found irksome, and the system had hardly been introduced when the only provision which could justify such an elaborate return was relaxed, and the medical officers were allowed to sign the sheets once a month only instead of daily. The whole control of the diets and extras was thus practically left in the hands of the Assistant Surgeons, and these cumbersome and elaborate sheets remained to suggest and invite extravagance by their very form. In 1870 the rates were raised from 8 annas 10 pies for Europeans and 4 annas for natives to 12 annas and 6 annas respectively, though the Principal had reported that no patient was denied anything that could conduce to his recovery. It was not even pretended that the full rates for Europeans were required. But the figures for the succeeding years show pretty clearly the elasticity of charges under such a system. For the first four months of 1876 the average cost for Europeans was 9 annas 7 pies, and for natives 6 annas 0·3 pie. In May 1877 the Lieutenant-Governor appointed a Committee to enquire into the expenditure of the Sealdah Hospital. In that month the cost of diet and extras for each native in the Medical College Hospital was 5 annas 6½ pies. In June it fell to 4 annas 11½ pies, and in July to 4 annas 7½ pies. An examination of the figures shows that, under the system of unsigned diet sheets and liberal maximum charges, the use of extras of all sorts had increased until the “diets” had become mere adjuncts of the “extras.” Among the extras used are found champagne, cigars, jellies and pomegranates, luxuries probably entirely new to the experience of the patients. Thus in May 1877 the cost of native diets was only 1 anna 10½ pies, while that of extras was 2 annas 11½ pies, and that of stimulants 8½ pies. In June and July the cost of diets was the same, while extras cost only 2 annas 6 pies and 2 annas 4½ pies, and stimulants only 7 pies and 4½ pies respectively. In September 1877 Dr. Coates, Officiating Principal of the Medical College, proposed a new scale of diets, designed to obviate the use of extras as a matter of course. The scale was duly considered and approved of by the Medical Department and was sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor. The great advantage anticipated was that, as patients for whom extras were considered necessary must be placed on special diet, extras would only be ordered in cases where they were actually required. The result was at once apparent in the charges for the first four months of 1878. The average for Europeans was only 5 annas 10 pies against 9 annas 7 pies in 1876 and 9 annas 4 pies in 1877, and that for natives only 3 annas 4 pies against 6 annas in 1876 and 5 annas 6 pies in 1877. That the interests of the sick are fully protected is clear from the evidence of the College staff. No extra is objected to if the medical officer orders it: but, as a matter of fact, the ordinary diets are found so liberal that fewer extras are ordered. The Assistant Surgeon is no longer left the opportunity of filling in extras at discretion in each case until, to use Dr. Coates’ words, “the diet sheets are frequently full from side to side.” Each patient for whom extras are still considered necessary is placed on special diet by the medical officer, and each case is thus easily checked. Dr. Coates, Dr. Chandra, Dr. Partridge, Dr. Palmer, and Dr. Gayer all distinctly state that they order whatever they consider necessary both of extras and stimulants. Dr. Charles makes a similar statement, but he qualifies it thus—“but since the enquiry into the Sealdah Hospital, I consider very little necessary.” The meaning of this is not altogether clear; nor is it quite easy to follow Dr. Charles when he states further on that, though he believes he has perfect liberty to order what he thinks is required, he has no doubt in his own mind that he has denied his patients many things which he ought to have allowed them. Dr. Partridge, on the other hand, states that his practice has not been altered, and that he orders as much now as formerly. It is quite clear that the medical officers have as a rule become more careful and give more personal attention to the articles ordered for their patients; but it is equally clear that no extra ordered has ever been denied, or, if ordered with special diet as required by rule, questioned. The whole staff unanimously admit that there must have been abuse under the old system. Drs. Coates, Partridge, and Gayer strongly condemn the system of signing diet sheets every month. Dr. Partridge says—"Unless a sheet was very full of extras, my attention would not be called to it, and even if it were, it would be extremely difficult to recollect the circumstances after five or six weeks." Dr. Gayer said—"It depends on the House Surgeon. If he is good it can be done; if not, it is very questionable. It is a contest between my memory and his neglect if he does not bring extras to my notice." To the Lieutenant-Governor it appears quite clear that no officer with a large number of patients to attend to could possibly check statements of this nature after such a lapse of time with any effect.

In the General Hospital the cost of diet has always been high. The scales hitherto in use have been those for military hospitals, and the check exercised by the Examiner of Accounts has been restricted to keeping the expenditure below a limit so liberal that it could with difficulty be attained. The vicious system of diet sheets has been in force, and subordinates have been allowed to order extras. The cost per patient was thus 10 annas 8 pies during the first four months of 1876. Since attention was called to hospital extravagance, the medical officers have reserved to themselves the right to order extras, and from January to April 1878 the average cost was only 7 annas 6 pies. Still, it is reported, "the medical officers retain the absolute power to order whatever they think necessary."

In the Howrah Hospital the average cost during the first four months of 1878 was 11 annas 11 pies for Europeans and 1 anna 11·7 pies for natives. The high rate for Europeans is accounted for by the circumstance that 85 per cent are paying patients. In the Mayo Hospital, which, like the Howrah Institution, has to husband its resources and is most economically as well as efficiently managed, the cost of dieting the patients (native) is only 2 annas 5·5 pies. A number of books are kept, showing at a glance the expenditure under each head daily. The circumstances connected with the expenditure of late years in the Scaldab Hospital have already been fully considered. The average cost of diet and extras from January to April 1878 was 2 annas 8·5 pies against 4 annas 5·8 pies in the same months of 1876. The present Superintendent, Dr. Mackenzie, states in his evidence that the patients get all that is necessary of food, extras, and stimulants.

		1876.		1877.		First half of 1878.
		No. of diets.	Cost.	No. of diets.	Cost.	No. of diets.	Cost.
			Rs.		Rs.		Rs.
Medical College Hospital ...	{ European ...	45,658	23,704	50,039	25,583	22,099	7,881
	{ Native ...	48,636	15,015	47,003	13,127	23,356	4,833

The most important measures of permanent reform are clearly the reduction within reasonable limits of the maximum allowances for diet, and the establishment of some efficient system of check. It appears from the evidence recorded that Dr. Coates' full diets are more liberal than those of the London Hospitals, and larger and far more varied than the great majority of the patients are accustomed to. It will be well therefore to revise the scale, and in doing so the slight modifications suggested by some of the staff can be attended to. It is shown that the cost of feeding native patients is still much higher in the Medical College than in any other hospital. The Lieutenant-Governor would, however, adopt the cost of the existing scale (3 annas 6 pies) as the maximum charge, in order to provide for eventualities. There can then be no complaint of insufficiency under any head, for it is well known that in any large institution the cost of a fairly liberal diet, treated as an average, amply suffices to cover all dieting charges whatever, including stimulants. The average cost for Europeans on the new scales is 7 annas $1\frac{1}{2}$ pies. The average cost in the first four months of 1878 at the General Hospital was 7 annas 6 pies. A safe maximum would evidently be 8 annas. The Lieutenant-Governor therefore approves the following recommendations of the Committee:—

*That the maximum limit for European and Native diets (inclusive of all extras and stimulants) should be fixed at 8 annas and 3 annas 6 pies respectively, and that each officer should be held personally responsible that these amounts are not exceeded.

That medical officers should, if possible, work below these limits and not order unnecessary articles on purpose to work up to them, as seems to have been done in some instances.

That in any special case where increased expenditure is unavoidable, the present rule should be maintained, and the amounts be passed on a certificate on honour that the expenditure was necessary, supported by a detailed bill.

That within the prescribed limits the hospital authorities may adopt such modifications of the existing diet scales as they see fit, and may devote such part of the diet money as they think necessary, to general kitchen expenses with a view to improve the cooking.

That where there are resident European medical officers it shall be the strict duty of one or other of them to attend in the wards and superintend the issue of the principal meal.

That the present diet sheets and all elaborate tables now sent to the Examiner of Medical Accounts be dispensed with, and in their stead a simple statement showing the number of each class of diets and the total expenditure for food, extras, and stimulants be submitted through the Surgeon-General to the Accountant-General monthly.

That as a detailed account and a means of showing the officers concerned the cost of their diets, a series of books, similar to those in use at the Mayo Hospital, be kept in each hospital, showing separately the expenditure by each medical officer, the diet and extras ordered for each patient being marked on his bed head ticket; and further, that each prescribing officer should initial his extras and expenditure daily, as is now done at the General and Mayo Hospitals.

That the responsible heads be allowed to arrange for the supply of all articles required in the manner most advantageous to the hospital with the consent of the Surgeon-General.

That while the Superintendents of the several institutions be held responsible to Government as at present, their subordinates should also be responsible, each in his place.

That the appointments of steward, apothecary, &c., be not restricted, as heretofore, to members of the Subordinate Medical Department, and that the men be selected for fitness alone. But in case of the selected man not being otherwise in the service of Government, he be required to give adequate security.

The Committee further propose the prohibition of all perquisites and the establishment of salaries rising from Rs. 250 to Rs. 400. Such a measure would require the sanction of the Government of India. The orders of Government on this point will be communicated hereafter. The proposal of the Committee to fix the limit of diet expenditure for the better classes of paying patients at 12 annas and Rs. 2 is approved. The arrangements already made in regard to patients of this description will be noted in the separate remarks on the different hospitals.

5. Stimulants.—In the Medical College and General Hospitals the same extravagance is observable under this head as under diet. The following table exhibits the fluctuations during the past three years:—

		First four months of—
		1876		1877.		1878.
		Amount.	Rate.	Amount.	Rate.	Amount.	Rate.
		Rs.	Rs. A.	Rs.	Rs. A.	Rs.	Rs. A.
Medical College ...	{ Europeans ...	1,015	23 13	915	21 7	163	4 0
	{ Natives ...	744	16 13	763	17 10	159	3 11
General Hospital ...		2,231	1,727	511

The only change that has been made is that subordinates are no longer allowed to order stimulants. In the words of the Committee's report, "the patients get all that the medical officers consider necessary, but cannot now get what they want for the asking, as was often the case formerly." Dr. Partridge is unable to explain the great reduction "unless the diet sheets were tampered with," and Dr. Gayer considers that "there must have been waste." Stimulants are now allowed with all diets, and there is no restriction on the discretion of the medical staff to order whatever they think their patients really require. It appears that, in the General Hospital, stimulants have hitherto been issued at the rate of 2½ ozs. a bottle, though the actual contents vary from 25 to 26 ozs. The balance has been the perquisite of the steward, and the Committee estimate that it must have amounted to 23 to 29 dozens in 1876. The returns of the Mayo Hospital, where native patients of precisely the same class as are admitted to the Medical College Hospital are treated, but where what is necessary only has hitherto been given, contrast strangely with those given above.

Amount.		Rate.	Amount.		Rate.	Amount.		Rate.
Rs.	Rs.	A.	Rs.	Rs.	A.	Rs.	Rs.	A.

In the Howrah and North Suburban Hospitals the quantity of stimulants used has always been very small. In the Sealdah Hospital the cost in 1878 was little more than one-fortieth of what it was in 1876. In the Police Hospital the average cost was Rs. 13 in 1876, Rs. 16 in 1877, and Rs. 2 in 1878.

The Committee recommend that, "except in special cases, rum only should be ordered for native patients requiring stimulants." The Lieutenant-Governor can see no good reason for making any exception. The Superintendents of the Howrah, Mayo and Sealdah Hospitals, speaking from experience, expressly state that they consider rum quite sufficient for native patients in all cases. No other stimulant is used in the Mayo, Chandney, Police, or North Suburban Hospitals, and in the Howrah Hospital it is almost exclusively used, though in these hospitals there is no restriction. The class of patients is in no way different in the Medical College Hospital, and, looking to the necessity of preventing a return to the previous waste and extravagance under this head, the Lieutenant-Governor would prefer to see the practice of the Mayo Hospital followed. The Medical College staff, with the exception of Dr. Charles, consider that good rum is sufficient in all ordinary cases, and they would all wish to have a discretion to use port and brandy under exceptional circumstances. In view of the high professional character of this body of officers, the Lieutenant-Governor will not restrict them absolutely, but he would require each officer ordering a stimulant other than rum to certify specially that he does not consider that rum would suit the case.

6. Private practice.—The Committee make the following recommendations under this head :—

- That, subject to the fullest responsibility for the administration and professional control of the institutions under their charge, medical officers who are at present allowed to take private practice shall continue free to do so, provided it does not interfere with their public duties.

That the rule forbidding certain officers to engage in private practice should be enforced, and should apply to native as well as to European resident officers.

In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion there can be no doubt whatever that much of the irregularity that has now been brought to light has resulted from the time and attention devoted by some medical officers to their private practice at the expense of their administrative duties. It has been forgotten that their first duty is to the Government that appoints them, and confers on them their rank and salary. It has been overlooked that the right of private practice is not the chief incident of their appointments, but only a privilege allowed them, on the understanding that it in no way interferes with their primary engagements. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that the exercise of private practice within these limits benefits both the patients treated in the hospitals and the students instructed in clinical medicine. The public interests, moreover, demand that the highest professional skill shall as far as possible be made available for the treatment of private cases. But there are several highly qualified medical officers on the Presidency staff, and it is not pretended that it is the business of Government to appoint and pay officers solely or principally for the pursuit of a lucrative practice. The vigilance of the Surgeon-General must be relied on to secure that the interests of the general administration are not again sacrificed to the private advantage of the medical officers; and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that he will not shrink from a strict and conscientious performance of this duty, however disagreeable it may be.

While, however, the above limitation only is required in regard to medical officers generally, there are certain officers who have been expressly prohibited by name from private practice. Among these are the Principal of the Medical College and the resident medical officers. The Principal has been for good reasons specially permitted to engage in consultation, not general, practice. The Lieutenant-Governor has learnt with displeasure that the resident officers at the Medical College Hospital have engaged in general private practice, in spite of the express prohibition existing. This departure from the conditions of the appointments is the more remarkable that it has been repeatedly impressed upon Government that the hospital duties of these officers are most engrossing and arduous. It was even made the ground of an application for relieving one of them of a part of his duties, that they involved too severe a strain on his constitution. Nevertheless it appears that he was able to snatch from them sufficient leisure for the pursuit of private practice in direct contravention of the conditions under which he obtained his appointment. The Committee recommend that these appointments should be dissociated from the professorships of Pathology and Physiology, and should be held, as was the rule for the Resident Surgeon, for two years only, in order that as many young officers as possible may have the advantage of the experience to be gained in these posts. Measures will be taken as soon as it can be conveniently arranged to give effect to this suggestion by making other arrangements for the charge of these professorships. In the protracted discussion which took place some years ago on the subject of the establishment of a special Chair for Physiology, two points were most urgently insisted upon—that the professor should be a man of considerable standing, and that he should certainly not be the Resident Surgeon. These considerations appear to have been both overlooked when the present arrangements were made on Dr. Ewart's departure on furlough: but the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the repeatedly and strongly expressed views of the College Council upon them should be accepted. The recommendation of the Committee that the appointment of Resident Surgeon at the General Hospital without attached duties should also be tenable for two years only will be adopted. It is due to the resident medical officers at this hospital to say that of late years the prohibition against private practice has been rigidly observed by them. The rule must in future be understood as applying to native as well as to European resident officers in all hospitals administered by Government servants.

The Committee have a further recommendation which has resulted from their enquiries at the Campbell Hospital, and which the Lieutenant-Governor fully approves—

That no medical officer of any grade whatever should be, under pain of dismissal from Government service, allowed to have an interest in any dispensary or druggist's shop.

The Surgeon-General should bring to the notice of Government any direct or indirect infringement of this rule which comes to his notice.

7. Clothing.—The expenditure under this head in the different hospitals during the past five years is shown below:—

	Medical College.	General.	Campbell.	Howrah, clothing & furniture.	Mayo.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1873	6,450	8,595	3,062	1,541
1874	6,084	5,189	4,271	3,218
1875	22,622	5,663	5,725	1,959	563
1876	2,617	7,639	4,749	1,934	289
1877	5,535	5,678	4,880	899	233
First half of 1878	0	0	292

It appears that the palpable extravagance which has existed in some of the hospitals is attributable to three causes—(1) the unnecessarily high scale adopted; (2) the want of proper system in stock-taking and in the custody of the clothing; (3) the system of condemning clothing by Committees. In the General Hospital the scale is too liberal. Since the closing of the out-door department the average number of patients is 163, and the maximum in hospital on any one day for the last ten years is stated to have been 231. Yet the scale provides, among other things, 2,580 linen sheets, and warm and light clothing for 960 men and 150 women. There have been considerable losses from theft, and it is clear that there has been an utter want of system in stock-taking and in the general arrangements for the custody of the clothing. A stock-book, such as is used at the Howrah Hospital, should be generally introduced. The Committee properly urge that extensive reserves are unnecessary and offer temptations to pilferers. It would be useless, however, to fix the scale at a small margin above the average number of beds occupied. As all patients must be clothed, the stock must necessarily be equal to the largest number treated. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees that it need not be made up to the full capacity of the hospital. Additional supplies may, on emergency, be procured from the Jail Department or in the open market. The recommendation of the Committee, that the nurses should be placed in charge of the clothing in current use, does not commend itself to the Lieutenant-Governor. Indeed it seems to be quite impracticable. The nurses, too, are not, strictly speaking, servants of Government, though a grant is made in aid of the Association which supports and provides them. The clothing must be in the hands of some responsible servant of Government who can be held answerable for all losses. A system such as that recently introduced at the General Hospital, under which the cashier giving security is responsible for all, is much preferable to a measure which would take any of the nurses from the special employment to which they are supposed to devote themselves. If this cannot be arranged, a special clothing steward or matron will have to be added to the hospital staff. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs in the remarks of the Committee on the evils of the system of condemning clothing and other stores by Committees. The Superintendent's responsibility should be in no way impaired, and he should pass orders on every article as soon as it is pronounced useless by his staff.

The following recommendations of the Committee are accordingly approved :—

That the system of condemning clothing and other stores by Committees should be abolished, and the Superintendents be allowed to condemn all articles as they become unserviceable.

That stock be taken of clothing once a quarter.

That a stock-book, similar to that in use in the Howrah Hospital, be kept by the steward or corresponding officer in every hospital in Calcutta, and that every article condemned or expended be initialled as disposed of by the Superintendent, the steward being responsible for every article until it is written off.

That the Superintendent, or a resident medical officer deputed by him, should verify the entries in this book at least twice a year at uncertain times.

8. Nurses.—The Lieutenant-Governor has already expressed his dissent from the view that the nurses should be made responsible for the hospital clothing. Sir Ashley Eden entirely concurs with Drs. Partridge and Jones in thinking that the duties which would necessarily follow upon such a charge would interfere with their true nursing work. The Committee further recommend that the nurses should be more under the control of the medical officers. The Lieutenant-Governor sees no necessity for any change in the existing arrangements, nor indeed can he understand on what grounds the recommendation is made. In the minutes of the evidence taken by the Committee, there is no hint of any difficulty being experienced. Without exception, the staff of the Medical College and General Hospitals express their complete satisfaction with the present system. Dr. Coates finds "it extremely useful, beneficial, and effective. Gives orders to the nurses directly and through the matron. These orders are, without exception, carried out willingly. Discipline very good indeed. Has sufficient control over the nurses in their duties to the sick in the wards, and can dismiss a nurse from his ward, not from her post of hospital nurse." Dr. Chandra "can give any orders relating to the nursing of the sick. Finds the discipline of the nurses good." Dr. Partridge has "never experienced any difficulty. Can give any orders. Orders carried out very willingly. Can dismiss from his ward." Dr. Palmer has found the system "always good. Orders always willingly attended to. Objectionable nurses have always been removed after fair and proper representation to the Secretary of the Ladies' Committee." Dr. Jones "can order them to perform any duty, but generally does it through the Lady Superintendent if it is of importance." The Lieutenant-Governor can see no necessity for interfering with a system which has worked so thoroughly well. Government only contribute a part of the cost of maintaining the Nurses' Institution. The Ladies of the Committee collect and administer the greater part of the funds, and by their general supervision of the nurses render most excellent service to the hospitals, and promote in no small degree the comfort and well-being of the sick. It is in every way desirable that they should continue to exercise these functions.

9. Medicines and Surgical necessities.—The figures under these heads present some very striking features. While the expenditure at the Howrah and Mayo Hospitals has been in every particular most moderate, the returns of the Medical College, General, and Campbell Hospitals show very marked extravagance.

In the Medical College Hospital the value of the medicines supplied was in 1867-68 Rs. 10,371 and in 1868-69 Rs. 7,862, against Rs. 22,956 in 1875-76 and Rs. 27,858 in 1876-77. The number of patients in the two first-mentioned cannot be ascertained, but there is no reason to suppose that it was below 540, the average of the two succeeding years 1869-70 and 1870-71, as well as of 1875-76 and 1876-77. In 1870-71 there was a rise of 65 in the daily average number of patients, but the value of the medicines was only Rs. 10,807 against Rs. 15,542 in the previous year. In 1871-72 there was a fall of 85, but the value of the medicines rose from Rs. 10,807 to Rs. 18,268. The average cost per patient was thus Rs. 30 in the first year, Rs. 18 in the second, and Rs. 37 in the third. These fluctuations are too violent to be explained by inequalities in the amount remaining in store at the close of each year. Such considerations, however, disappear altogether if lengthened periods are taken together, and this process brings into very strong relief the enormous increase in expenditure under this head of late years. The average cost per patient during this triennial period, 1869-72, was Rs. 28; in 1874-77 it was no less than Rs. 46. No doubt a part of this increase is due to the rise in the original cost of the drugs and to the depreciation in the value of silver; but a comparison of the quantities actually used with those consumed in the Mayo and Howrah Hospitals leaves no room for doubt regarding the main causes of the increase. Thus the expenditure of quinine during the past five years has been 181lbs.; on the scale of the consumption at the Mayo Hospital it would have been only 85lbs. At the rate of consumption in the Medical College and General Hospitals, the Mayo and Howrah Hospitals would have used 814 and 494lbs respectively of acaciæ gummi: they only used 75 and 89lbs.; they would have used 1,256 and 763lbs. of carbolic acid instead of 161 and 65lbs.; and 111lbs. and 67lbs. of bromide of potash instead of 22 and 35lbs. A great part of the increase is attributed by the Committee to the transfer of the out-door patients' department to the care of the resident physician and surgeon from that of the native assistant surgeons, and to the consequently increased use of European in preference to native medicines. This explanation is not satisfactory; for in the first place the out-patients at the Mayo Hospital, where the expenditure of European drugs is so small, have also been treated by a European officer; and in the second, it is shown in the report that these very native assistant surgeons have been most extravagant in prescribing European medicines, and even what the Committee call "fancy" medicines, for casual patients admitted during the day, and for ward patients in the evening. Moreover, the extravagance in such articles as lint, where the same rate would have given the Mayo 1,220lbs against its actual consumption of 138lbs and the Howrah 741lbs against 112lbs, is followed in the surgical necessities used only by in-door patients. The following table shows the reduction in the expenditure of some articles in the two surgical wards during the first four months of the last three years, the average number of beds occupied only varying from 59 to 51:—

The evidence of the hospital staff leaves little room for doubt of the destination of large quantities of these medicines and appliances. The late

Dr. Gayer considered that the figures for 1878 represented smaller quantities than might be found necessary as a general rule. Even with some correction on this account, they would form a remarkable contrast to those for 1876 and 1877. It should, however, be remarked that no member of the staff denies that he gets all that he requires of these articles. Dr. Palmer considers that there must have been "some misappropriation," and Dr. Partridge thinks that "the quantities mentioned could not have been used." Dr. Coates, late Officiating Principal, explains that the reduction began in September 1877, when, during the illness of one of the assistant surgeons, a student of the College was appointed to do his duty. "He did the dressing with his own hands, and so sudden and great was the decrease of dressing, that the past expenditure was proved to be excessive." It is reported that one patient was found to have secreted no less than 23 pieces of lint which had been given to him to dress his own wounds, apparently by the assistant surgeon whose duty it was to do the work; and it appears that this was not an isolated instance. It is clear that the assistant surgeons in these wards must have grossly neglected their duty. Indeed the most that can be said in respect of the expenditure of medicines and surgical necessities in this hospital generally, is that manifestly incorrect and misleading statements of the quantities used were not committed to writing as has been found to have been the case in the General and Scaldah Hospitals. But it is quite clear that the supervision of the higher medical officers must have been absolutely nominal, or such waste could never have passed undetected.

Year.	Average daily number of patients.	Gross cost.	Average cost per patient
		Rs.	Rs.
1869	171	4,564	26
1870	167	6,209	37
1871	161	7,349	45
1872	182	14,395	79
1873	178	11,927	67
1874	180	17,566	97
1875	243	19,129	79

It is true that these figures do not include the value of instruments returned to store, but this cause would be more or less constant, and would have little effect on the enormous difference between the average cost in the different years. It is true that the cost of drugs has risen, and it appears that the increased expense in 1872 was the result of a liberal supply of instruments in that particular year. But though this may in some degree account for the rise in the average cost from Rs. 26 per patient in 1869 to Rs. 79 in 1872, it will not explain why, with the average daily number of patients decreasing from 171 in 1869 to 167 in 1870 and 161 in 1871, the gross cost rose from Rs. 4,564 to Rs. 6,209 and Rs. 7,349. It will not satisfy the Lieutenant-Governor that, with an increase of two in the average daily number treated between 1873 and 1874, there was any necessity for an increase in the charge for medicines and instruments from Rs. 11,927 to Rs. 17,566, and in the average cost from Rs. 67 to Rs. 97 a head when just double the number were treated in 1877, after the attention of Government had been directed to the wasteful expenditure of the Calcutta hospitals, at two-thirds of the expense, viz. at a gross cost of Rs. 11,474 or Rs. 32 a head. If medicines only are considered, it is found that the average cost was Rs. 39 in 1873-74, Rs. 51 in 1874-75, and Rs. 16 in 1877-78. Yet, as the Committee observe, it is not hinted that any medicine really required has not been given during the latter year, and there is positive evidence that the medical officers prescribe whatever is necessary with the utmost freedom, though they were of course aware that in the latter year their expenditure was being carefully watched. There is, however, one important point which cannot be left out of consideration, and that is that there was a change in the administration of the hospital in 1876. The Committee have instituted a very careful comparison between the quantities of the various drugs said to have been used in the different years, and they have shown that of some, such as opium and morphia, the patients could not possibly have consumed the amount stated. Further light is thrown on this by the discoveries made by Dr. Raye when he took stock of the medicines in October 1877. It was then found that there were large quantities of different drugs in store which had already been shown as expended. Of one drug 32 pounds were shown as "remaining" in May 1875. During the succeeding year 17 pounds were shown as expended and 5 pounds more were asked for but disallowed. In 1876 the expenditure was shown as 5 pounds. If therefore the amount put down in May 1875 was correct, there must have remained at the close of 1876 only 10 pounds: but Dr. Raye discovered 31 pounds 12 ounces in October 1877. Of Gurjon oil 63 pounds were discovered in place of 3 pounds, and of tartaric acid 30 pounds instead of 12 pounds. It cannot be urged that the medicines were bad and had been condemned, for in the first place the great bulk has been found to be perfectly good and is being consumed by the patients; and in the second, if medicines go bad, they should be returned into store or be formally condemned according to rule. Indents for medicines are made by the Superintendent, who has to sign a declaration on honour that the medicines received on his indent have been and shall be solely expended for the purpose of the service, that he has satisfied himself that the amounts returned as "remaining in store" are correct, and that he has made the entries of the quantities "required" with his own hand. It is not easy to understand how, in the face of these facts, the Superintendents have found themselves able to make this declaration.

The question of the cost of medicines at the Sealdah Hospital has already been discussed in the Government Resolution of 9th January 1878. The average cost per patient was Rs. 2-8 in 1872, Rs. 4 in 1873, Rs. 16 in 1874, Rs. 35-11 in 1875, Rs. 40-6 in 1876, and Rs. 39-12 in 1877. The details of the medicines said to have been consumed have been fully considered. It now appears that, until Dr. French took charge in October 1877, no record of the issues were kept, the apothecary issuing supplies and preparing indents on his own responsibility. It has been found that here, as in the General Hospital, the indents, though certified correct by the Superintendent, were grossly incorrect. Large quantities of drugs, in unopened jars and bottles, have been found in excess of the quantities returned as in store and subsequently received. The indent showed no carbonate of potash in store: 4 pounds were received on indent: after a year's expenditure the Committee found 17 pounds 8 ounces in store, four 4-pound bottles never having been opened. The indent showed 3 pounds of squill vinegar in store: after a further year's expenditure the Committee found two 4-pound bottles in store unopened. These medicines were all perfectly good and are being used by the patients. It is clear that there must have been either gross and reckless carelessness, or elaborate dishonesty on the part of some one. The expenditure on bazar medicines and contingencies in this hospital was Rs. 3,234 in the first six months of 1877, against Rs. 1,761 in the first half of 1878; yet the Superintendent declares that he never questions any item for which any justification can be shewn, and that he believes that the patients get all that they require.

The Lieutenant-Governor is fully satisfied of the necessity of a radical change in the system hitherto adopted if wholesale plunder and waste of medicines are to be avoided. Measures must be taken to ensure that what is necessary only shall be supplied, and that what is ordered by the medical officers shall reach the patients. The Committee have shewn good reason against the adoption of fixed scales of medicines as embarrassing the medical officers and encouraging rather than preventing extravagance in indenting. They have also properly urged that, while medical officers should be exhorted not to use expensive and elaborate preparations in charitable institutions where cheaper drugs would suffice, their hands must not be tied by any hard-and-fast prohibition. Thus ample evidence has been received from all parts of the country of the efficacy of the mixed cinchona alkaloids, and the Lieutenant-Governor considers that a medical officer would be wanting in his duty if he did not employ this medicine in preference to quinine whenever he believes that it would be equally effectual as a remedy. Thus in the Howrah Hospital the alkaloid is used very largely even for Europeans, and Dr. Pilcher finds that it suits them admirably, and that in low fevers, ending in spleen, it is more efficacious than quinine. Dr. Cayley finds that the alkaloid answers "well in most cases." At the Chandney Hospital the resident medical officer has found it "more effective than quinine." Still the Lieutenant-Governor would not prohibit the use of quinine if a medical officer is satisfied that it is absolutely required. There are, however, many modern preparations which are extremely costly, and which are not allowed in provincial hospitals. The Lieutenant-Governor would not absolutely forbid the use of these, but he considers that they should not be indented for as a matter of course, and that they should be procurable only on special representation. The Committee propose that all quinine issued by Government should be coloured. This suggestion has already been considered, and it has been resolved to leave the process of dyeing in the hands of the manufacturers to ensure at once uniformity and secrecy. Meanwhile, however, quinine will be issued in sealed bottles, and it will be the duty of each officer to convert the contents of each bottle opened into a concentrated solution.

The Lieutenant-Governor approves the following measures :—

That the lists of medicines contained in the form of indent now issued by the Medical Store-keeper be revised, as it contains the names of many articles which should not be allowed in charitable institutions, except under very special circumstances.

That the resident medical officers of the General and Medical College Hospitals, and the Deputy Superintendent at Sealdah, be made primarily responsible that stock be correctly taken twice a year immediately before the submission of the indents; and that the quantities shown under the heads "remained," "received," "expended," and "remaining" are correct. They should certify this to the Superintendent on honour in their own handwriting.

That unserviceable drugs should be condemned by the Superintendent and destroyed in his presence, and that unserviceable necessities and instruments be returned into store if repairable, or destroyed as above if not so.

That the Superintendent, after satisfying himself as to the requirements, should, as now, fill in with his own hand the quantities required, and certify that he has done so.

That apothecaries, dispensers, or others in actual charge of the medicines, be held responsible for any irregularities brought home to them, and replace anything lost while in their charge.

That in the case of the General, Medical College, Campbell, Mayo, and Howrah Hospitals, where large quantities of medicines are used, two indents should be allowed instead of one—the first should be estimated to be sufficient for six months, and at the end of that time efforts should be made to utilize the drugs remaining by substituting prescriptions containing them for the other formulae, the supplementary indent being kept as low as possible.

That, in order to enable the hospital authorities to exercise all possible economy, the Examiner of Medical Accounts be required to furnish a copy of the latest official price list to every indenting officer. Very few medical men know anything of the price of drugs, and they often prescribe the more expensive medicines when cheaper medicines would do as well.

That a priced invoice of the actual value of stores supplied be sent to every indenting officer by the Examiner of Medical Accounts, and that the signature of the indenting officer be required before the bill is passed.

That a memorandum should also be sent to each hospital returning drugs or instruments into store of the value thereof, and that this should be shown in the yearly departmental statement of accounts as a set-off against total expenditure.

That the main stock of medicines should invariably be kept apart from that in current use, and that a stock ledger should be kept, in which all issues of every drug should be entered.

That arrangements be made to keep the out-patient dispensary department separate from the in-patient department, and that a register be kept showing the issue of all medicines and hospital necessities for the use of out-patients.

That, as a check on the compounders, the officer in charge of the store should occasionally test the expenditure of one or two medicines taken at random by the prescriptions in the ward books.

That the expenditure on bazar medicines and hospital necessities be checked in the same way.

10. General Hospital.—The Committee make several suggestions for the reduction of establishment in this hospital. Detailed proposals of revision are now before the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Committee's recommendations will receive due consideration in disposing of them. The proposed transfer of the female patients to the building from which they were originally removed to provide space for the Sumbhunath Pundit Ward has already been ordered. Space has also been made available for four classes of private patients, paying for the accommodation afforded Rs. 5, Rs. 3, Rs. 2, and Re. 1 respectively. Th present Superintendent is of opinion that Government has been systematically robbed of paying patients' money in this hospital, and he bases this belief on the apparently substantial ground that, while there have always been patients in the private wards for which the charge is Rs. 2 a day, the amount credited to Government before 1877 never represented payment from one patient a day, while the amount realized in 1877 represented receipts from 5, and that collected during a part of 1878 from 7·9 patients per diem. Dr. Mackenzie, who was Resident Surgeon of the hospital for some years, is of opinion that there has been no recent increase in the number of patients in the private wards. The books have disappeared, and the late steward declares that he made them over to his successor. A note of the books made over, however, which is signed by the late incumbent, now in military employment, contains no mention of them. This is only one further instance of the total absence of administrative control in this institution.

11. Medical College Hospital.—The question of the improvement of this hospital has been for many years under consideration. The urgent necessity for alteration and for the provision of additional accommodation has been recognized, but owing to an exaggerated view of the defects of the existing building, and to the consequently extravagant estimate of the sum required for the necessary improvements, the undertaking has been from time to time postponed. The Lieutenant-Governor recently urged the College Council to take up the matter in a moderate and earnest spirit, and to assist him in carrying out the really necessary improvements on some feasible scale. The whole question has been thoroughly considered by the Committee in concert with the College Staff. It has been conclusively shown that the extreme views hitherto entertained of the irremediable nature of the defects of the hospital are not justified, and that all that is necessary can be effected within a reasonable expenditure. The estimate of 20 lakhs previously put forward has been reduced to six lakhs. The Lieutenant-Governor and the Government of India have been satisfied of the soundness of the conclusions of the Council and the Committee, and the Government of India have agreed to make the Imperial grant of three lakhs originally promised in aid of the scheme. It is hoped that this long-desired work will be brought to a conclusion during the ensuing year.

The Lieutenant-Governor adopts the opinion of the Committee that European and quasi-European patients should continue to be treated in this hospital, all European sailors, except in urgent cases, being sent to the General Hospital.

The following recommendations are also approved:—

That, on the completion of the improvements, the obstetric department at the General Hospital should be closed, and that all cases should be sent to the new wards.

That, provided they remain subject to the immediate control of the obstetric physician, as many nurses as he can conveniently accommodate be allowed to attend in his wards for instruction in midwifery.

That the successor of the present steward be not necessarily a member of the Subordinate Medical Service, and that his selection be made by the Principal in consultation with the Surgeon-General.

That no native house-surgeon be allowed to add to or alter the diet or medicines prescribed by the physician or surgeon of the ward. Such alterations should only be made, when necessary, by a European medical officer.

12. General Hospital, Howrah.—The recommendations of the Committee in regard to this hospital embrace an annual grant of Rs. 6,000, and a grant-in-aid for the provision of additional accommodation for native patients. With reference to this, it may be observed that the average amount of the Government contribution during the past five years has been Rs. 8,512, and that land has been given, and a special grant of Rs. 10,000 only recently been made, for a new native ward. A further application is now under consideration. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that a wealthy and prosperous town like Howrah should be able to maintain a hospital without any further contribution from the public funds. There appears to be no objection to the proposal that the Railway Company should be asked to make a money grant instead of giving medicines, and that all medicines above a total value of Rs. 3,000 be supplied on a chargeable indent by the Medical Store Department.

13. Scaldah Hospital.—The recommendation that the Superintendent of the hospital should be ex-officio Principal of the Medical School, in direct communication with the Director of Public Instruction, will be considered in the Education Department. The Lieutenant-Governor fully recognizes the liability of the Calcutta Municipality to make an increased contribution under the agreement subsisting between it and Government. In view, however, of the existing state of the municipal finances, the Lieutenant-Governor will not press the claim at present. The proposal that the Suburban and Howrah Municipalities should pay for patients treated in the hospital requires further consideration. It would be better, if anything is to be claimed, to fix a sum to be contributed with reference to the average number treated in past years. It does not appear, however, that the Howrah Municipality would be willing to pay for small-pox patients, seeing that a further contribution from Government is considered necessary for the support of its own hospital. The accountant has been added to the permanent establishment of this hospital, as proposed. Measures have been taken to provide in the Alms House for blind and incurable paupers now in the hospital. Persons of this description should not be allowed to take refuge in the hospital.

14. Mayo, Chandney, and North Suburban Hospitals.—The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the Committee in thinking that these hospitals should, in return for the aid they receive from Government, conform to the general rules now laid down, and no doubt this can be arranged with the Committees of Management.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that an expression of his thanks be conveyed to the President and Members of the Committee* for the readiness with which they have undertaken the laborious duty assigned to them, for the very full and well considered report which they have submitted, and for the admirable and practical suggestions which they have made.

40	Hazareebagh, Jan. 31 '79	Nil	Weather—fine and growing warmer. The rubbee crops are looking throughout the district.
41	Lohardugga, Feb. 1 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. The rubbee crops promise well, except in the Pal sub-division where the prospects are not so favourable. Fever is prevalent in the Palamow sub-division.
42	Singbhoom, Jan. 31 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. The cold-weather crops are being harvested with average outturn. The price of rice is still high, and no change has taken during the week.
43	Manbhoom, Feb. 1 „	Nil	Weather—warm again; high winds which are also hot. The prospects of crops continue good; so also does the general health.

The average temperature of the corresponding period for 26 years, S. G. Office	68.9

The total fall from 1st January to 1st February 1879	Nil.
The average fall of the corresponding period for 26 years, S. G. Office	0.57

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

T. H. WICKES,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Report on the Fluctuations in traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of December 1878.

GENERAL REMARKS.

TRAFFIC generally has improved during the month, but especially so in jute and gunny, the reduced rates for which have now become generally known and have had a marked effect.

The total weight lifted during the month in jute, as will be seen from the figures given below, reached 40,112 maunds, being more than double the weight carried during the previous month. The increase in gunny is in still larger proportion, as a reference to the figures given under the head of gunny-bags in the comparative statement will show.

The gross weight carried in all staples during the month reached 1,20,265 maunds, being a net increase over November of 38,731 maunds.

INCREASES.

Ale ... Mds. 6
This is merely a slight fluctuation in private consignments, as no Commissariat beer has been moving during the month.

Ginger ... Mds. 742
This increase is almost entirely in the dry staple being sent forward for shipment.

Gunny-bags ... Mds. 7,642
The special reduced rate has given a great impetus to this traffic. The large despatches during the month, nearly all of which were through to Calcutta, go to shew that the hand-made bags of this district are successfully competing with mill-made gunnies.

Hides ... Mds. 1,170
The present rate of exchange has induced shippers to turn their attention to hides, and a considerable business has in consequence been done during the month.

Jute ... Mds. 21,651
The gross weight lifted during the period under review reached 40,112 maunds, being, as shown above, 21,651 maunds in excess of the weight carried in November. The reduced rate and the present favourable market continue to exercise considerable influence on this traffic.

Piece-goods ... Mds. 215
Since the cessation of the rains the piece-goods traffic has been steadily on the increase; large despatches have of late been made to Rungpore, which district until quite lately was served by the steamers via Dhooobree.

Railway material ... Mds. 8,320
A more plentiful supply of labor at Sara, owing to the return of the coolies from the harvest operations, has resulted in larger despatches.

Salt ... Mds. 211
This increase may be fairly set down to the closing of water communication to our stations.

Sugar ... Mds. 148
The movement in this staple has been purely local.

Tea ... Mds. 76
11,576 maunds were carried this month against 11,500 in November. We are now almost at the end of the season, and must be prepared to see a large falling off in this staple for a time.

All other goods ... Mds. 4,388
The miscellaneous through booked consignments have been particularly heavy during the month, the excess over any previous month being above 40 per cent.

DECREASES.

Food-grain ... Mds. 3,721

Seeds ... Mds. 431
The movement in this staple has hitherto been almost exclusively for agricultural purposes, and the falling off noticed is the result of sowing operation having ceased for the time being.

Tobacco ... Mds. 1,667
There has been no demand at all for this article during the month, and despatchers are holding off in the hope of more favourable rates.

CIVIL PENSION CODE.

Insert the following as Rule 1A under this Section:—

1A. Reasonable notice should be given to an officer in permanent employ before his services are dispensed with on the abolition of his office. If, in any case, such notice is not given at least three months before dispensing with the officer's services, and he shall not have been provided with some other employment, then, with the sanction of the Local Government, a gratuity not exceeding his emoluments (as defined in Section 69 (a), for the period by which the notice actually given to him falls short of three months, may be paid to him, in addition to the pension or gratuity to which he may be entitled under Section 59. But the responsible officer will be required to explain any neglect on his part which may give rise to expenditure for such a gratuity.

Insert the following as Rule 2:—

2. When the services of an officer are dispensed with on the abolition of his office, before the necessary enquiries preliminary to the settlement of the pension or gratuity to which he is entitled can be completed, the Accountant-General may sanction the immediate disbursement of the pension to which, after the most careful summary investigation that he can make without delay, he believes the officer likely to be entitled.

If the Accountant-General thinks it likely that the officer would be found entitled to a gratuity only, one-sixth of the amount of such probable gratuity may be disbursed to him monthly until the amount is finally settled.

The settlement of such provisional payments should be made so as to admit of their disbursement not later than one month after the officer has ceased to hold the abolished post.

If, upon the completion of the regular investigation, it be found that the pension or gratuity thus summarily assigned, differs from the pension or gratuity finally settled, the difference must be adjusted in the first subsequent payments. Provided that, if a gratuity summarily assigned under this Rule, proves to be larger than the amount found actually due upon completion of the enquiries, the officer shall not be required to refund any excess actually paid to him, except as provided in Chapter XX. To enable the Accountant-General to exercise the jurisdiction thus entrusted to him, the head of the office from which the officer is removed should furnish to the Accountant-General, as early as possible, immediately that it becomes known to him that the officer must retire, and without waiting for his actual retirement, the fullest information that can be obtained regarding the officer's service, without correspondence which must cause delay. This information is to be furnished in anticipation of the regular investigation required by Section 74, which, also, should on no account be delayed.

All officers should bear in mind that delay in the payment of pensions or gratuities may involve peculiar hardship, and everything should be done to prevent or shorten to the utmost such delays.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

ACT NO. I OF 1879.

An Act to amend the procedure in suits between Landlords and Tenants in Chota Nagpore.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the procedure in suits between landlords and tenants in Chota Nagpore: It is enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called "The Chota Nagpore Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act;"

It extends to the territories for the time being under the administration of the Commissioner of the division of Chota Nagpore, except the district of Manbhoom and the Tributary Mehals.

And it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Civil Jail" includes the civil jail of the district, and any place appointed by the local Government for the confinement of prisoners under this Act.

"The Commissioner" and "Judicial Commissioner" mean respectively the Commissioner and Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

"Deputy Collector."

"Nazir" means any officer of a Court authorized to serve or execute its process.

"Section."

"Deputy Collector" includes also an Assistant Commissioner.

"Section" means a Section of this Act.

3. On and from the commencement of this Act, the enactments specified in Schedule A hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the said Schedule.

4. All suits or proceedings, of the nature provided for by this Act, which, before the commencement of this Act, shall have been instituted before any Deputy Commissioner or other officer having jurisdiction under any enactment hereby repealed, shall be heard and decided, so far as may be, under this Act.

5. Every ryot is entitled to receive, from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable, a pottah containing the following particulars:—

the quantity and boundaries of land; and where fields have been numbered in a Government survey, the number of each field; the amount of annual rent; the instalments in which the same is to be paid; any special conditions of the lease; and (if the rent is payable wholly or partially in kind), the proportion or quantity of produce to be delivered, and the time and manner of delivery.

6. Every ryot, who has cultivated or held land for a period of twelve years, has a right of occupancy in the land so cultivated or held by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to the classes of lands locally known as majhahas, man, or saika; nor to klfamar, nijjote, or scer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure, and let by him on lease for a term, or year by year.

Decision of suits instituted before the commencement of this Act.

Ryot entitled to a pottah.

Right of occupancy of ryot cultivating or holding land for twelve years.

The holding of the father, or other person from whom a ryot inherits, shall be deemed to be the holding of the ryot within the meaning of this section.

7. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the cultivation of land entered into between a landholder and a ryot, when it contains any express stipulation contrary thereto.

8. Ryots having rights of occupancy are entitled to receive pottahs at fair and equitable rates. In case of dispute, the rate previously paid by the ryot shall be deemed to be fair and equitable, unless the contrary be shown in an enquiry under section 21.

9. Ryots not having rights of occupancy are entitled to pottahs only at such rates, and on such conditions, as may be agreed on between them and the persons to whom the rent is payable.

10. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kubooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah.

The tender to any ryot of a pottah, such as the ryot is entitled to receive, shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kubooliyet from such ryot.

11. Every under-tenant or ryot, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, or payable under this Act, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent, damages not exceeding double the amount so exacted or paid.

12. Receipts for rent shall specify the year or years on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

13. If any under-tenant or ryot shall, at the mal kutcherry for the receipt of rents, or other place where the rents of the land held or cultivated by him are usually payable, tender payment of what he shall consider to be the full amount of rent due from him at the date of the tender to the zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of such land; and if the amount so tendered shall not be accepted, and a receipt in full forthwith granted, the under-tenant or ryot may, whether a suit shall have been instituted against him or not, within one month from the date of such tender, deposit such amount, in the court of the Deputy Commissioner having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for such rent, to the credit of the zemindar or other person aforesaid;

and such deposit shall, so far as the under-tenant or ryot, and all persons claiming through or under him are concerned, in all respects operate as and have the full effect of a payment then made by the under-tenant or ryot, of the amount deposited to the credit of such zemindar or other person.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall receive such deposit on the written application of the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent; and on the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent, making a declaration in the form, or as nearly as circumstances will admit, in the form set forth in Schedule B hereto annexed, the Deputy Commissioner shall give a receipt for the same.

The Deputy Commissioner shall, within seven days from the date of the deposit, issue a notice to the person to whose credit it has been deposited, in the form set forth in Schedule C hereto annexed.

If the person to whom such notice is issued, or his duly authorized agent, shall appear and apply that the money in deposit be paid to him, it shall be immediately made over to him.

15. Whenever such deposit shall have been made, no suit shall be brought against the person making the same or his representatives, on account of any rent which accrued due prior to the date of the deposit, unless such suit be instituted within six months from the date of the service of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section.

16. All zemindars and other landholders are prohibited from compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose, and from adopting any means of compulsion for enforcing payment of the rent due to them other than those authorized by this Act.

17. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant or ryot by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant or ryot shall be entitled to recover such damages, not exceeding two hundred rupees, as may be deemed a reasonable compensation for the injury done him by such extortion.

An award of compensation under this section shall not bar or affect any penalty or punishment to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

18. No dependent talookdar or other person possessing a permanent transferable interest in land, intermediate between the proprietor of an estate and the ryots, who holds his talook or tenure (otherwise than under a terminable lease) at a fixed rent which has not been changed from the time of the permanent settlement, shall be liable to any enhancement of such rent, anything in section fifty-one, Regulation VIII, 1793, or in any other law, to the contrary notwithstanding.

19. No tenant of lands known as bhuinhari or khoodkatti shall be liable to any enhancement of the rent previously paid by him for such lands, unless it be shown that the tenure has been created within twenty years before the institution of the suit to enhance the rent of the said lands;

and where enhancement of the rent of such tenure is decreed, the rent assessed shall not exceed one half of the rent paid by an ordinary ryot with a right of occupancy on the same class of land with similar advantages.

20. No tenant of lands known as korkor, haccullah, khundwut, sujhwut, jalsasun, and ariat shall be liable to any enhancement of rent, except under the terms of a written contract, or in accordance with the general custom prevailing with respect to such lands in the village in which they are situated.

21. No other under-tenant or ryot having a right of occupancy shall be liable to any enhancement of the rent previously paid by him, otherwise than in the manner provided by the three next succeeding sections.

22. Any person wishing to enhance the rent previously paid to him by any such under-tenant or ryot may present a petition to the Deputy Commissioner to assess the rent on the land in respect of which such enhancement is sought, and (if necessary) to measure the same.

23. Such petition shall specify;

- the present rent of the under-tenant or ryot against whom the application is made;
- the general rate prevailing in the village for different classes of lands;
- the date (as nearly as it can be ascertained) when the rate was last adjusted in the village;
- the rate which the applicant desires to demand;
- and the grounds on which he considers that he is entitled to enhancement.

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

24. On receipt of such petition the Deputy Commissioner shall forthwith give notice of the contents thereof to the under-tenant or ryot holding the land in respect of which enhancement is sought, and may (if necessary) order the same to be measured, and may upon consideration of all the circumstances set forth in the petition, and after hearing any objection which may be advanced against the proposed enhancement by the said under-tenant or ryot, fix such enhanced rent, or may otherwise alter or vary the rent for the said land as to him may seem fair and reasonable for such period, not being less than ten nor more than twenty years, as he may think fit;

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such undertenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of such under-tenant or ryot to claim at any time an abatement of the rent previously paid by him under the provisions of section 27.

25. When lands are held subject to any conditions or services other than or besides the payment of a rent in money, the tenant of such lands, or the person who has the right to receive the rents and services issuing from such lands, may apply in writing to the Deputy Commissioner for the commutation of all such conditions or services.

26. The Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon cause a notice to be served on each of the persons who, under the last preceding section, would have a right to make such application, and shall fix a date for considering the same; and on such date, or any date thereafter to which the hearing may be postponed, shall proceed to enquire into the matter, and to determine the amount of rent which in his judgment is fairly and equitably payable in commutation of the conditions or services to which such lands may be subject.

27. Any under-tenant or ryot having a right of occupancy, and wishing to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him, may present a petition to the Deputy Commissioner to assess the rent on the land in respect of which such abatement is sought, and (if necessary) to measure the same.

Such petition shall specify the particulars mentioned in section 23, and the grounds on which such under-tenant or ryot considers that he is entitled to such abatement.

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

28. On receipt of such petition the Deputy Commissioner shall forthwith give notice of the contents thereof to the person to whom the rent of such under-tenant or ryot is payable, and may (if necessary) order the land to be measured, and may proceed as prescribed by section 24 to fix such abatement of rent, or may otherwise alter or vary the rent for the land of such under-tenant or ryot as to him may seem fair and reasonable for such period not being less than ten, nor more than twenty years, as he may think fit;

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such under-tenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of the person to whom the rent of such under-tenant or ryot is payable to claim at any time an enhancement of the rent of such under-tenant or ryot under the provisions of section 22.

29. Any ryot may relinquish the land held or cultivated by him, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the land, or his authorized agent, in or before the month of Pous of the year preceding that in which the relinquishment is to have effect.

If he fails to give such notice, and the land is not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the land.

If the person entitled to the rent of the land or his agent refuses to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, the ryot may make an application to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall thereupon cause the notice to be served on such person or his agent.

30. Any instalment of rent which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there is no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act, and in the absence of any written agreement to the contrary, shall be liable to interest at six per centum per annum.

31. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot at the end of the Bengal or Sambat year, or at the end of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayuteo year, as the case may be, such ryot shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due, but only in execution of a decree or order passed under the provisions of this Act.

32. When an arrear of rent is adjudged to be due from any farmer or other leaseholder not having a permanent or transferable interest in the land, the lease of such leaseholder shall be liable to be cancelled, and the leaseholder to be ejected.

Provided that no such lease shall be cancelled, nor the leaseholder ejected, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

33. Every proprietor of an estate or tenure, or other person in receipt of the rents of an estate or tenure, has a right to make a general survey or measurement of the lands comprised in such estate or tenure, unless restrained from doing so by express engagement with the occupants of the lands.

If any person intending to measure any land which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any under-tenant or ryot, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land, such person may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and, if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such under-tenant or ryot.

If any under-tenant or ryot, after the issue of an order enjoining his attendance, neglects to attend, it shall not be competent to him to contest the correctness of the measurement made in his absence.

34. All dependent talookdars and other persons possessing a permanent heritable interest in land intermediate between the zemindar and the cultivator are required to register, in the sherishtch of the zemindar or superior tenant to whom the rents of their talooks or tenures are payable, all transfers of such talook or tenures, or portions of them, by succession or inheritance.

Every zemindar or superior tenant is required to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to all such transfers.

Application for the registration of all such successions as may have occurred previously to the commencement of this Act shall be made within two years from the commencement thereof, and for future successions within one year from the date on which the succession occurred: and if such application be not made within the period herein specified, the zemindar or superior tenant may apply to the Deputy Commissioner to put him in possession of the talook or tenure.

On receipt of such application the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a notice to the talookdar or tenure-holder in possession, requiring him to register the transfer within three months from the receipt of the notice, and if he neglects or refuses so to register, the Deputy Commissioner may, on proof to his satisfaction being given of the service of the notice, put the zemindar or superior tenant aforesaid in possession of the talook or tenure.

35. The provisions of the last preceding section shall also be applicable to the sale of such under-tenures as are mentioned in section 123, and to the sale of the right and title of any person under section 124.

36. If any zemindar or superior tenant refuses to admit to registry or otherwise to give effect to any such transfer as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections, the transferee may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and if no sufficient grounds are shown for the refusal, shall pass an order enjoining the zemindar or superior tenant to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to such transfer.

Provided that no zemindar or superior tenant shall be required to admit to registry, or give effect to any division or distribution of the rent payable on account of any such tenures, nor shall any such division or distribution of rent be valid, without the consent in writing of the zemindar or superior tenant.

37. (1) All suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets, or for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered;

(2) all suits for damages on account of the illegal exaction of rent or of any unauthorized cess or impost, or on account of the refusal of receipts for rent paid, or on account of the extortion of rent by confinement or other duress;

(3) all complaints of excessive demand of rent, and all claims to abatement of rent;

(4) all suits for arrears of rent due on account of land either rent-paying or rent-free, or on account of any rights of pasturage, forest-rights, fisheries, or the like;

(5) all suits to eject any ryot, or to cancel any lease on account of the non-payment of arrears of rent, or on account of a breach of the conditions of any contract by which a ryot may be liable to ejectment, or a lease may be liable to be cancelled;

(6) all suits to recover the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, from which a ryot, farmer, or tenant has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same;

(7) all suits by zemindars and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or collection of rents, or the sureties of such agents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents in the course of such employment, or for papers in their possession;

shall be cognizable by the Deputy Commissioners, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other court, except in the way of appeal as provided in this Act.

38. The Deputy Commissioner may, with the consent of the parties, refer any suit under this Act to arbitration, and the provisions of sections 506 to 522 (both inclusive) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

39. In every suit under this Act, of the nature of those specified in the first, second, third, or fourth clauses of section 37, and in applications for enhancement, abatement or measurement under sections 22, 27 or 33, any number of ryots or other tenants may sue or be sued collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing the suit or refusing to hear the application that such ryots or other tenants are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided that all such ryots or other tenants hold land in the same village;

but no order shall be passed in such case, unless the officer making the same is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them;

and if at any time it shall appear to the Deputy Commissioner that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, the Deputy Commissioner may order a separate trial to be held.

40. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the first clause of the last preceding section shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots or other tenants named in the order shall be affected thereby.

41. All suits which, under this Act, may be brought by or against zemindars or other persons in the receipt of the rent of land, may be brought by or against surburakars or tulseeldars of estates held khas, and, whether such estates are the property of government or of individuals.

42. Except as otherwise herein provided, all suits instituted under this Act shall be commenced within the period of one year from the date of the accruing of the cause of action.

43. Suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets, and for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered, may be instituted at any time during the tenancy.

44. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Sambut year, or from the last day of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayutec year, in which the arrear claimed shall have become due.

Provided that, if the suit be for the recovery of rent at a higher rate than was payable in the previous year, such rent not having been enhanced by the Deputy Commissioner under this Act, the suit shall be instituted within three months from the end of the Bengal or Sambut year, or of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayutec year, on account of which such enhanced rent is claimed.

45. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent, or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent.

Provided that, if the person having the right to sue shall, by means of fraud, have been kept from the knowledge of the receipt of any such money by the agent, or if any fraudulent account shall have been rendered by the agent, the suit may be brought within one year from the time when the fraud shall have been first known to such person; but no such suit shall in any case be brought at any time exceeding three years from the termination of the agency.

46. Suits under this Act shall be instituted by presenting to the Deputy Commissioner a plaint or statement of claim which shall contain the name, description, and place of abode of the plaintiff;

the name, description, and place of abode of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained;
the substance of the claim; and the date of the cause of action.

47. If the suit is for the recovery of an arrear of rent, the statement of claim shall specify the name of the village and estate;
the name of the pergunnah or other local division in which the land is situated;
(if the arrear is alleged to be due from any ryot), the quantity of land,

the yearly rent of the land;
the amount (if any) received on account of the year for which the claim is made;

the amount in arrear; and the time in respect of which it is alleged to be due.

48. If the suit is for the ejectment of a ryot, farmer, or tenant from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement of claim shall specify (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same, and (if necessary for the identification of the land), the boundaries of such land.

49. The statement of claim shall be presented by the plaintiff, or by an authorized agent of the plaintiff who has personal knowledge of the facts of the case, or by an agent who shall be accompanied by a person who has such knowledge.

50. The statement of claim shall be subscribed and verified at the foot by the plaintiff or his agent in the manner following, or to the like effect:—

I, A. B., do declare that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

51. If the plaintiff relies in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of presenting his statement of claim.

Unless such document be delivered or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

52. If the plaintiff requires the production of any document in the possession or power of the defendant, he may, at the time of presenting his statement of claim, deliver to the Deputy Commissioner a description of the document in order that the defendant may be required to produce the same.

53. If the statement of claim does not contain the several particulars hereinbefore required to be specified therein, or is not subscribed and verified as hereinbefore required, the Deputy Commissioner may return the statement to the plaintiff, or at his discretion allow it to be amended.

54. If the statement of claim is in proper form, the Deputy Commissioner, except as otherwise hereinafter specially provided, shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff requires the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Deputy Commissioner of his own accord requires such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons; otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf, who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a person who has

shall be fixed with reference to the state of the file, and the distance that the defendant may be or be supposed to be at the time from the place where the court is held, and the summons shall order the defendant to produce any document which he may have in his possession, of which the plaintiff demands inspection, or upon which the defendant may intend to rely in support of his defence.

It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process, and shall be in the form contained in Schedule D hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

56. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or, if a warrant is issued as provided in the next succeeding section, of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Deputy Commissioner.

If the said amount be not so deposited the case shall not be brought on the file of suits: but in such case the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period prescribed by this Act for the limitation of suits.

57. If in any suit against an under-tenant or ryot for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, such defendant being resident within the district in which the suit is instituted, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant.

When such application is presented, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be prima facie ground for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that, if a summons be issued, the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim the Deputy Commissioner may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

The Deputy Commissioner shall fix a reasonable time for the return of the warrant, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule E hereto annexed, or to the like effect, and the officer entrusted with the service of the warrant shall at the time of arresting the defendant deliver to him a notice addressed to the defendant, which shall be in the form in the Schedule F hereto annexed, or to the like effect, containing the particulars of the claim, and requiring the defendant, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence.

But no such warrant shall be issued in suit for arrears of rent due in respect of a dependent talook or other transferable tenure which as hereinafter provided, is liable to sale in execution of any decree which may be passed in such case.

58. If, the defendant is arrested under the warrant of arrest, he shall be brought with all convenient speed before the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall commit him to custody, unless he deposits in court such sum as may be specified in the notice.

59. When the defendant is brought before the Deputy Commissioner under warrant, the Deputy Commissioner shall with all convenient speed proceed to try the case in the manner hereinafter provided; if the suit cannot be at once adjudicated, the Deputy Commissioner may, if he think fit, require the defendant to give security for his appearance whenever the same may be required at any time whilst the suit is pending, or until execution of the final decree which may be passed thereon, and may commit the defendant to the civil jail to be there detained until he shall furnish such security, or deposit such sum as the Deputy Commissioner shall order.

The security bond shall be in the form contained in Schedule G hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

60. If the defendant cannot be arrested under the warrant, the Deputy Commissioner, on the application of the plaintiff, shall either postpone the case, for such period as he may think proper, in order that the plaintiff may apply within the said period for another warrant to be issued for the arrest of the defendant, or shall forthwith issue a proclamation to be affixed to his own office and to the residence of the defendant appointing a day for the hearing of the case, which shall not be less than ten days from the date of the publication of the notice at the residence of the defendant.

If the defendant appears in pursuance of the proclamation, he shall be dealt with as provided in the last preceding section.

61. If it appears to the Deputy Commissioner that the arrest of the defendant was applied for without reasonable cause, the Deputy Commissioner may in his decree award to the defendant such sum, not exceeding one hundred rupees, as he may deem a reasonable compensation for any injury or loss which the defendant may have sustained by reason of such arrest, or of his detention in jail during the pendency of the suit.

62. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be postponed prior to the recording of an issue for trial as hereinafter provided, neither of the parties appears in person or by an agent, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit, unless precluded by the provisions for the limitation of suits contained in this Act.

63. If on any such day the defendant only appears, the Deputy Commissioner shall pass judgment against the plaintiff by default, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, in which case the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs; provided that such judgment, if there be more than one defendant, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

64. If on any such day the plaintiff only appears, the Deputy Commissioner, upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act, shall proceed to examine the plaintiff or his agent, and after considering the allegations of the plaintiff, and any documentary or oral evidence adduced by him, may either dismiss the case, or postpone the hearing of it to a future day for the attendance of any witness the plaintiff may wish to call, or may pass judgment ex parte against the defendant.

65. If the defendant appears on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding section, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

66. No appeal shall lie from a judgment passed ex parte against a defendant who has not appeared, or from a judgment against a plaintiff by default for non-appearance.

But in all such cases, if the party against whom judgment has been given appears, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Deputy Commissioner's order, and if a defendant within fifteen days after any process for enforcing the judgment has been executed, or at any earlier period, and shows sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that there has been a failure of justice, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case.

But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the opposite party to appear and be heard in support of it.

67. In all cases in which the Deputy Commissioner shall pass an order for setting aside a judgment, the order shall be final; but in all appealable cases in which the Deputy Commissioner shall reject the application, an appeal shall lie from the order of rejection to the tribunal to which the final decision in the suit would be appealable; provided that the appeal be preferred within the time allowed for an appeal from such final decision.

68. When both parties appear in person on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to examine them, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other.

If either of the parties is not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any person who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

At the time of examination the defendant, if he think fit, may file a written statement of his defence. Such statement shall be verified in the manner prescribed in section 50.

69. The examination of the parties or their agents, or such other persons as aforesaid, shall be conducted according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing in the vernacular language of the Deputy Commissioner and filed with the record.

Provided that all examinations of parties and witnesses may be recorded in English, if the Deputy Commissioner be sufficiently acquainted with that language.

70. If either of the parties brings forward a witness on the day aforesaid, the Deputy Commissioner may take the evidence of such witness.

71. If the defendant relies on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into court at the first hearing of the suit; and unless such document is so delivered in, or its non-production is sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner sees fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

72. If after the examination required by section 68, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall make a decree accordingly.

73. If, on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party is unable to answer any material question relating to the case, which the Deputy Commissioner is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Deputy Commissioner may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day;

and if the party so directed to attend fails to appear in person on the day appointed, the Deputy Commissioner may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper under the circumstances of the case.

74. If, on such examination as aforesaid, it appears that the parties are at issue on any question upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit; and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner.

75. The parties shall bring forward their witnesses on the day of trial, and if either party requires assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence, or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Deputy Commissioner in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial, to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

76. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents, and to the remuneration and punishment of witnesses, shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, apply to all suits under this Act.

77. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in section 62.

If on any such day one only of the parties appears, the issue may be tried and determined in the absence of the other party, upon such proof as may be then before the court.

78. When suits under this Act are instituted or defended by naibs, gomastahs, or other persons employed in the collection of rent, or management of land, in the name and on the behalf of the landholders by whom they are so employed, all the provisions of this Act, by which the personal appearance or attendance of parties to a suit is or may be required, shall be applicable to such naibs, gomastahs, or other persons; and anything which by this Act is required or permitted to be done by a party in person, may be done by any such person as aforesaid.

Processes served on any such person shall be as effectual for all purposes in relation to the suit as if the same had been served on the landholder in person, and all the provisions of this Act, relative to the service of processes on a party to the suit, shall be applicable to the service of processes on such person.

79. A plaintiff or defendant shall not be required to attend in person if of the female sex, and of a rank or class which, according to the custom and manners of the country, would render it improper for her to appear in public.

80. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent or mookhtar to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent or mookhtar shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the court.

81. The Deputy Commissioner may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence respectively of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof, or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by him, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

82. The Deputy Commissioner may at any stage of a suit cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any officer subordinate to him, or by any other officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person.

The provisions of the law for the time being in force, relative to local enquiries by magistrates or commissioners under order of the civil courts, shall apply to any local enquiry made by any officer under this section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Deputy Commissioner in person.

In the latter case, the Deputy Commissioner, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observations so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

83. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, if he has duly tendered the same to the plaintiff before the institution of the suit, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff without paying in any costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be immediately paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, the plaintiff shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit incurred by the defendant; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit.

84. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, without having made any tender before action brought, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff, together with the costs (to be fixed by the court if necessary as upon a suit originally instituted for the amount so paid into court) incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall immediately be paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, he shall be charged with all costs incurred by the defendant subsequently to such payment; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with costs as upon a suit originally instituted for the whole amount for which the plaintiff ultimately obtains a decree, but shall have credit thereout for the amount of costs paid into Court by him in the first instance.

85. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of his claim, or fall short thereof.

86. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot having a right of occupancy the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Deputy Commissioner shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper.

Provided that the term shall not in any case be longer than twenty years, and in estates not permanently settled, shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also that, if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend beyond the period of the continuance of such interest.

For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

87. When in any suit between a landholder and a ryot or under-tenant under this Act, the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure cultivated or held by the ryot or under-tenant is disputed, and such right is claimed by or on behalf of a third person, on the ground that such third person, or a person through whom he claims, has actually and in good faith received and enjoyed such rent before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit, such third person shall be made a party to the suit, and the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rent by such third person shall be enquired into, and the suit shall be decided according to the result of such inquiry.

Provided that the decision of the Deputy Commissioner shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in a civil court, if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

88. Any person desiring to eject a ryot, or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancellation and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrears in a suit for such ejectment or cancellation.

In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or the cancellation of a lease, the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear; and if such amount, together with interest and costs of suit, be paid into court within fifteen days from the date of the decree, execution shall be stayed.

89. The Deputy Commissioner shall pronounce judgment in open court.
Judgment how to be pronounced. The judgment shall be written in the vernacular language of the Deputy Commissioner, and shall contain the reasons for the same, and shall be dated and signed by the Deputy Commissioner at the time when it is pronounced.

Provided that any judgment may be written in English, if the Deputy Commissioner be sufficiently acquainted with the English language.

90. In any suit for rent under this Act, if it appears to the court that the defendant has, without reasonable or probable cause, neglected or refused to pay the amount due from him, and that he has not, before the institution of the suit, tendered such amount to the plaintiff or his duly authorized agent, or, in case of refusal of the plaintiff or such agent to receive the amount tendered, has not deposited such amount with the Deputy Commissioner before the institution of the suit in manner hereinbefore mentioned, the court may award to the plaintiff, in addition to the amount decreed for rent and costs, such damages, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the amount of rent decreed, as the court may think fit;

and such damages, if awarded, as well as the amount of rent and costs decreed in the suit shall carry interest from the date of decree until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable.

91. In any suit for rent under this Act, if it appears to the court that the plaintiff has instituted the suit against the defendant without reasonable or probable cause, or that the defendant, before the institution of the suit, duly deposited with the Deputy Commissioner in the manner hereinafter mentioned the full amount which the court shall find to have been due to the plaintiff at the date of such deposit, the court may award to the defendant by way of compensation such sum, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the whole amount claimed by the plaintiff, as the court may think fit;

and such sum, with interest until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable, shall be recoverable from the plaintiff in like manner as sums decreed to be paid by defendants under this Act.

92. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuses or delays to grant the same, the Deputy Commissioner may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

93. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet refuses to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Deputy Commissioner shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

94. If the decree is for the ejection of any ryot from land occupied by him, or for the reinstatement of any ryot in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by giving the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy.

If any opposition is made to the execution of the order for giving such possession or occupancy by the party against whom the order is made, the Deputy Commissioner, in the exercise of his powers as a Magistrate, shall give effect to the same.

95. If the decree is for the cancelment of any lease, or the ejection of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator), or for the reinstatement of any farmer or other such person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by proclaiming the substance of the decree to the cultivators or other occupants by beat of drum, or in such other manner as may be customary, and affixing the same in some conspicuous place within, or adjacent to, the farm or tenure.

96. If the decree is for arrears of rent, or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant has been committed to jail, or appears pursuant to the conditions of any security-bond given under section 59, the Deputy Commissioner may order that he be detained in, or committed to, the civil jail, unless he immediately pay into court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

97. If the judgment-debtor has given security for his appearance, and is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due from the debtor had been passed against the surety.

If the decree is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the defendant is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, execution may be taken out against the surety for the sum due under the bond in the same manner as if a decree for that sum had been passed against the surety.

98. The provisions relating to attachment before judgment, contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, are hereby extended to all suits under this Act.

99. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor, but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property.

Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form contained in Schedule H or I hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

100. Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list, he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs.

In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out to the officer entrusted with the execution of the process, by the creditor or his agent.

101. Every warrant of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Deputy Commissioner, and shall continue in force for such period as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, not being more than sixty days from such date.

102. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Deputy Commissioner on the application of the judgment-creditor, after the expiration of the period fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant.

103. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if, when application for the issue of the process is made, a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment, or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

104. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party, without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

105. No process of execution whatsoever shall be issued on a judgment under this Act, unless an application be made within three years from the date of such judgment.

106. If a warrant is issued for taking in execution the body of any person, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall bring him with all convenient speed before the Deputy Commissioner.

If such person does not then deposit in court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment-creditor, or satisfy the Deputy Commissioner that he has no present means of paying the debt, the Deputy Commissioner shall send him to the civil jail, there to remain for such time as shall be directed, by a warrant addressed to the keeper of the jail, unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount for the payment of which he is liable under the decree.

Provided that no person shall be imprisoned in execution of a decree under this Act for a longer period than six months; or for a longer period than six weeks, if the decree is for the payment of a sum of money not exceeding fifty rupees.

If the decree against any person arrested under a warrant is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the papers or accounts are not delivered by him when he is brought before the Deputy Commissioner, such person may be committed to the civil jail, there to remain for such time, not exceeding six months, as the Deputy Commissioner shall direct, unless he shall in the mean time deliver the papers or accounts according to the terms of the decree.

107. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment.

If the amount due under the decree does not exceed fifty rupees, the Deputy Commissioner may declare such discharged person absolved from liability under that decree.

In other cases the discharge shall not extinguish the liability of the discharged person under the decree, or exempt property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

108. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under section 57, or suing out process of execution against the body of any person, shall deposit in court, at the time of issue of the warrant, diet-money for thirty days at such rate as the Deputy Commissioner may direct.

109. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previously to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

110. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

111. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the officer charged with the execution of the writ shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment-creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held, together with a copy of the said list, at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor.

A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Deputy Commissioner and shall be affixed in his office.

Until the day of sale, the said property shall remain in the custody of the officer attaching the same.

112. The sale shall be held at the place where the property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, haat, or other place of public resort, if the officer holding the sale is of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage.

The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the officer holding the sale may think advisable; and if the judgment-debt with the costs of the execution and sale is satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the execution shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

113. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price, in the estimation of the officer holding the sale, is not offered for it, and the owner of the property, or some person authorized to act on his behalf, applies to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day, if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered for the property.

114. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale, or as soon after as the officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment, the property shall be put up again and sold.

When the purchase-money has been paid in full, the officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

115. From the proceeds of the sale of the property, the officer holding the sale shall make a deduction, at the rate of one anna in the rupee, on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Deputy Commissioner in order that it may be credited to Government.

The said officer shall then pay to the judgment-creditor the expenses incurred by the judgment-creditor on account of the preparation of the list, and of the publication of the proclamation of sale prescribed in section 111, to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the judgment-creditor, he thinks proper to allow.

The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the debt for which the sale was made, with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any surplus, it shall be delivered to the person whose property has been sold.

116. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by, or subordinate to such officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such officers.

117. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken.

118. If before the day fixed for the sale, a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner, and claims a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party or his agent according to the law for the time being in force relating to the examination of witnesses, and if he see sufficient reason for so doing, may stay the sale of such property.

119. The Deputy Commissioner shall adjudicate upon such claim, and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit, as shall to him seem fit.

In trying such claim the Deputy Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as they may be applicable.

120. If the claimant fails to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant, as part of the costs, such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

121. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Deputy Commissioner under the last two preceding sections.

But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall not be for the recovery of the property, but for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

122. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but nothing contained in this section shall be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

123. If the decree is for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure, which, by the title-deeds, or the custom of the country, is transferable by sale, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and, with the sanction of the Commissioner, but not otherwise, the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the provisions for the sale of under-tenures contained in Bengal Act VIII of 1865.

But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force.

If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the debtor, and any such immoveable property may be brought to sale in the manner provided in section 129.

124. No under-tenure which is held conditionally on the survival of heirs male of the grantee, and which, on failure of such heirs, reverts to the grantor free of all encumbrances made subsequent to the date of the grant, shall be sold under this Act.

Under-tenure held conditionally on survival of heirs male not transferable by sale.

and which, on failure of such heirs, reverts to the grantor free of all encumbrances made subsequent to the date of the grant, shall be sold under this Act.

Provided that the right and title of any person in such tenure may be sold with the sanction of the Commissioner.

125. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as is mentioned in section 123, or of the right and title of any person in an under-tenure of the nature described in section 124,

If third party claim to be the lawful possessor of such under-tenure, Deputy Commissioner to stay the sale and to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner and alleges that such third party, and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained, is the proprietor of such under-tenure, and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party in the manner provided in section 118; and if he sees sufficient reason for so doing, and such party deposits in court the amount of the decree, or gives sufficient security for the same, the Deputy Commissioner shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

Provided that no transfer of an under-tenure, which, by the provisions of this Act or any other law for the time being in force, is required to be registered in the sherishtah of the zemindar or superior tenant, shall be recognized, unless it has been so registered, or unless sufficient cause for non-registration is shown to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner.

126. In trying such claim the Deputy Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Deputy Commissioner on such claim shall not be subject to appeal, but the party against whom it is given may bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right, at any time within one year from the date of the judgment.

127. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer

in a joint undivided estate, dependent talook, or other similar tenure, for money due to him on account of his share of the rent of an under-tenure situate in such undivided estate, talook, or tenure, application for the sale of such under-tenure shall not be received, unless execution shall have been first taken out against any moveable property which the judgment-debtor may possess within the district in which the suit was instituted, and the sale of such property, if any, shall have proved insufficient to satisfy the judgment.

CHAPTER II.

STAMP-DUTIES.

A.—Of the Liability of Instruments to duty.

5. Subject to the exemptions contained in the second schedule, the following instruments shall be chargeable with duty of the amount indicated in the first schedule as the proper duty therefor respectively, that is to say:—

(a) every instrument mentioned in the first schedule, and which, not having been previously executed by any person, is executed in British India on or after the first day of April 1879;

(b) every bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note drawn or made out of British India on or after that day and accepted or paid, or presented for acceptance or payment, or endorsed, transferred or otherwise negotiated, in British India; and

(c) every instrument (other than a bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note) mentioned in the first schedule, which, not having been previously executed by any person, is executed out of British India on or after that day, relates to any property situate, or to any matter or thing done or to be done, in British India, and is received in British India.

6. Where, in the case of any sale, lease, mortgage or settlement, several instruments are employed for completing the transaction, the principal instrument only shall be chargeable with the duty prescribed for the conveyance, lease, mortgage or settlement in the first schedule, and each of the other instruments shall be chargeable with a duty of one rupee instead of the duty (if any) prescribed for it in that schedule.

The parties may determine for themselves which of the instruments so employed shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be the principal instrument.

7. Any instrument comprising or relating to several distinct matters shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the duties with which separate instruments, each comprising or relating to one of such matters, would be chargeable under this Act.

Subject to the provisions of the first clause of this section, an instrument so framed as to come within two or more of the descriptions in the first schedule shall, where the duties chargeable thereunder are different, be chargeable only with the highest of such duties; but nothing herein contained shall render chargeable with duty exceeding one rupee a counterpart or duplicate of any instrument chargeable with duty and in respect of which the proper duty has been paid.

8. The Governor General in Council may, by Power to reduce or order published in the Gazette of India, remit rates of duty.

(a) reduce or remit, whether prospectively or retrospectively, in the whole or any part of British India, the duties with which any instruments or any particular class of instruments, or any of the instruments belonging to such class, or any instruments when executed by or in favour of any particular class of persons, or by or in favour of any members of such class, are chargeable, and

(b) cancel or vary such order to the extent of the powers hereby given.

B.—Of Stamps and the Mode of using them.

9. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, all duties with which any instruments are chargeable shall be paid, and such payment shall be indicated on such instruments, by means of stamps—

(a) according to the provisions herein contained, or

(b) when no such provision is applicable thereto—as the Governor General in Council may by rule direct.

The rules made under this section may, among other matters, regulate—

(1) in the case of each kind of instrument—the description of stamps which may be used,

(2) in the case of instruments stamped with impressed stamps—the number of stamps which may be used,

(3) in the case of hundis—the size of the paper on which they are written.

10. The following instruments may be stamped with adhesive stamps, namely:—

(a) instruments chargeable with the duty of one anna except parts of bills of exchange payable otherwise than on demand and drawn in sets;

(b) bills of exchange, cheques and promissory notes drawn or made out of British India;

(c) entry as an advocate, vakil or attorney on the roll of a High Court;

(d) notarial acts; and

(e) transfers by endorsement of shares of public companies and associations.

11. Whoever affixes any adhesive stamp to any instrument chargeable with duty and which has been executed by any person, shall, when affixing such stamp, cancel the same so that it cannot be used again, and whoever executes any instrument on any paper bearing an adhesive stamp shall, at the time of execution, unless such stamp has been already cancelled in manner aforesaid, cancel the same so that it cannot be used again.

Any instrument bearing an adhesive stamp which has not been cancelled so that it cannot be used again shall, so far as such stamp is concerned, be deemed to be unstamped.

12. Every instrument written upon paper stamped with an impressed stamp, shall be written in such manner, that the stamp may appear on the face of the instrument and cannot be used for or applied to any other instrument.

13. No second instrument chargeable with duty shall be written upon a piece of stamped paper upon which an instrument chargeable with duty has already been written: provided that nothing in this section shall prevent any endorsement which is duly stamped or is not chargeable with duty being made upon any instrument for the purpose of transferring any right created or evidenced thereby, or of acknowledging the receipt of any money or goods the payment or delivery of which is secured thereby.

14. Every instrument written in contravention of section twelve or thirteen, shall be deemed to be unstamped.

15. Where the duty with which an instrument is chargeable, or its exemption from duty, depends in any manner upon the duty actually paid in respect of another instrument, the payment of such last-mentioned duty shall, if application be made in writing to the Collector for that purpose, and on production of both the instruments, be denoted upon such first-mentioned instrument in such manner as the Governor General in Council may by rule prescribe.

C.—Of the Time of stamping Instruments.

16. All instruments chargeable with duty and executed by any person in British India shall be stamped before or at the time of execution.

17. Every instrument chargeable with duty executed only out of British India, and not being a bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note, may be stamped within three months after it has been first received in British India; or, where such instrument cannot, with reference to the description of stamp prescribed therefor, be duly stamped by a private person, it may be taken within the said period of three months to the Collector, and he shall stamp the same, in such manner as the Governor General in Council may by rule prescribe, with a stamp of such value as the person so taking such instrument may require and pay for.

18. The first holder in British India of any bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note drawn out of British India shall, before he presents the same for acceptance or payment, or endorses, transfers or otherwise negotiates the same in British India, affix thereto the proper stamp and cancel the same:

Provided that if, at the time any such bill, cheque or note comes into the hands of any holder thereof in British India, the proper adhesive stamp is affixed thereto and cancelled in manner prescribed by section eleven, and such holder has no reason to believe that such stamp was affixed or cancelled otherwise than by the person and at the time required by this Act, such stamp shall, so far as relates to such holder, be deemed to have been duly affixed and cancelled. But nothing contained in this proviso shall relieve any person from any penalty incurred by him for omitting to affix or cancel a stamp.

D.—Of Valuations for duty.

19. Where an instrument is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of an amount expressed in certain currencies, pounds sterling, pounds currency, francs or dollars, such duty shall be calculated on the value of such money in the currency of British India according to the following scale:—

One pound sterling or pound currency is equivalent to ten rupees:

One hundred francs are equivalent to forty rupees:

One Mexican or China dollar is equivalent to two rupees four annas.

20. Where an instrument is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of any money expressed in any other foreign or colonial currency, such duty shall be calculated on the value of such money in the currency of British India according to the current rate of exchange on the day of the date of the instrument.

21. Where an instrument is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of any stock or of any marketable security, such duty shall be calculated on the value of such stock or security according to the average price thereof on the day of the date of the instrument.

22. Where an instrument contains a statement of current rate of exchange, or average price, as the case may require, and is stamped in accordance with such statement, it shall, so far as regards the subject-matter of such statement, be presumed, until the contrary is proved, to be duly stamped.

23. Where interest is expressly made payable by the terms of an instrument, such instrument shall not be chargeable with duty higher than that with which it would have been chargeable had no mention of interest been made therein.

24. Where any property is transferred to any person in consideration, wholly or in part, of any debt due to him, or subject to the payment or transfer of any money or stock, whether being or constituting a charge or incumbrance upon the property or not, such debt, money or stock is to be deemed the whole or part, as the case may be, of the consideration in respect whereof the transfer is chargeable with ad valorem duty.

25. Where an instrument is executed to secure the payment of an annuity, or other sum payable periodically, or where the consideration for a conveyance is an annuity or other sum payable periodically, the amount secured by such instrument, or the consideration for such conveyance (as the case may be), shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be—

(a) where the sum is payable for a definite period so that the total amount to be paid can be previously ascertained—such total amount;

(b) where the sum is payable in perpetuity or for an indefinite time not terminable with any life in being at the date of such instrument or conveyance—the total amount which, according to the terms of such instrument or conveyance, will or may be payable during the period of twenty years next after the date of such instrument or conveyance; and

(c) where the sum is payable for an indefinite time terminable with any life in being at the date of such instrument or conveyance—the total amount which will or may be payable as aforesaid during the period of twelve years next after the date of such instrument or conveyance.

26. Where the amount or value of the subject-matter of any instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty cannot be, or (in the case of an instrument executed before this Act comes into force) could not have been, ascertained, at the date of its execution or first execution, nothing shall be claimable under such instrument more than the highest amount or value for which, if stated in an instrument of the same description, the stamp actually used would, at the date of such execution, have been sufficient.

27. The consideration (if any) and all other facts and circumstances affecting the chargeability of any instrument with duty, or the amount of the duty with which it is chargeable, shall be fully and truly set forth therein.

28. (a.) Where any property has been contracted to be sold for one consideration for the whole, and is conveyed to the purchaser in separate parts by different instruments, the consideration shall be apportioned in such manner as the parties think fit, so that a distinct consideration for each separate part is set forth in the conveyance relating thereto, and such conveyance shall be chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of such distinct consideration.

(b.) Where property contracted to be purchased for one consideration for the whole, by two or more persons jointly, or by any person for himself and others, or wholly for others, is conveyed in parts by separate instruments to the persons by or for whom the same was purchased, for distinct parts of the consideration, the conveyance of each separate part shall be chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of the distinct part of the consideration therein specified.

(c.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance thereof, contracts to sell the same to any other person, and the property is in consequence conveyed immediately to the sub-purchaser, the conveyance shall be chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration for the sale by the original purchaser to the sub-purchaser.

(d.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance thereof, contracts to sell the whole, or any part, thereof, to any other person or persons, and the property is in consequence conveyed by the original seller to different persons in parts, the conveyance of each part sold to a sub-purchaser shall be chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect only of the consideration paid by such sub-purchaser, without regard to the amount or value of the original consideration, and the conveyance of the residue (if any) of such property to the original purchaser shall be chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect only of the excess of the original consideration over the aggregate of the considerations paid by the sub-purchasers:

Provided that the duty on such last mentioned conveyance shall in no case be less than one rupee.

(e.) Where a sub-purchaser takes an actual conveyance of the interest of the person immediately selling to him, which is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration paid by him, and is duly stamped accordingly, any conveyance to be afterwards made to him of the same property by the original seller shall be chargeable with a duty equal to that which would be chargeable on a conveyance for the consideration obtained by such original seller; or where such duty would exceed five rupees, with a duty of five rupees.

E.—Duty by whom payable.

29. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the expense of providing the proper stamp shall be borne—

(a) in the case of any instrument described in numbers 2, 11, 13, 14, 15, 24, 28, 29, 30, 41, 53, 54, 55, 57 and 60 (a) and (b) of the first schedule—by the person drawing, making or executing such instrument:

(b) in the case of a policy of insurance—by the insured:

(c) in the case of a conveyance—by the grantee: in the case of a lease or agreement to lease—by the lessee or intended lessee:

(d) in the case of a counterpart of a lease—by the lessor:

(e) in the case of an instrument of partition—by the parties thereto in proportion to their respective shares in the property comprised therein, or when the partition is made in execution of an order passed by a Revenue-authority, in such proportion as such authority directs:

(f) in the case of an instrument of exchange—by the parties in equal shares: and

(g) in the case of a certificate of sale—by the purchaser of the property to which such certificate relates.

ADJUDICATION AS TO STAMPS.

30. When any instrument, whether executed or not, and whether previously stamped or not, is brought to the Collector, and the person bringing it applies to have the opinion of that officer as to the duty (if any) with which it is chargeable, and pays a fee of such amount (not exceeding five rupees and not less than eight annas) as the Collector may in each case direct, the Collector shall determine the duty (if any) with which, in his judgment, the instrument is chargeable:

and may for that purpose require to be furnished with an abstract of the instrument, and also with such affidavit or other evidence as he may deem necessary to prove that all the facts and circumstances affecting the chargeability of the instrument with duty, or the amount of the

Provided that no evidence furnished in pursuance of this section shall be used against any person in any civil proceeding, except in an enquiry as to the duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable; and every person by whom any such evidence is furnished shall, on payment of the full duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable, be relieved from any penalty he may have incurred under this Act by reason of the omission to state truly in such instrument any of the facts or circumstances aforesaid.

31. When an instrument brought to the Collector under section thirty is in his opinion one of a description chargeable with duty and

(a) the Collector determines that it is already fully stamped, or

(b) the duty determined by the Collector under section thirty, or such a sum as, with the duty already paid in respect of the instrument, is equal to the duty so determined, has been paid, the Collector shall certify by endorsement on such instrument that the full duty (stating the amount) with which it is chargeable has been paid.

When such instrument is in his opinion not chargeable with duty, the Collector shall certify in manner aforesaid that such instrument is not so chargeable.

Any instrument upon which an endorsement has been made under this section shall be deemed to be duly stamped, or not chargeable with duty, as the case may be; and if chargeable with duty, shall be receivable in evidence or otherwise, and may be acted upon and registered as if it had been originally duly stamped:

Nothing in this section shall authorize the Collector to endorse—any instrument executed or first executed in British India and brought to him after the expiration of one month from the date of its execution or first execution (as the case may be);

any instrument executed or first executed out of British India and brought to him after the expiration of three months after it has been first received in British India; or any instrument chargeable with the duty of one anna, or any bill of exchange or promissory note, when brought to him after the drawing or execution thereof on paper not duly stamped.

32. Every payment of a fee under section thirty shall be made in stamps, or cash, as the Governor General in Council may by rule direct.

Payment of fees under section 30 how made.

INSTRUMENTS NOT DULY STAMPED.

33. Every person having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence, and every person in charge of a public office except an officer of Police, before whom any instrument chargeable in his opinion with duty is produced or comes, in the performance of his functions, shall, if it appears to him that such instrument is not duly stamped, impound the same.

For that purpose every such person shall examine every instrument so chargeable and so produced or coming before him, in order to ascertain whether it is stamped with a stamp of the value and description required by the law in force in British India when such instrument was executed or first executed.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to require any Magistrate or Judge of a criminal Court to examine or impound any instrument coming before him in the course of any proceeding other than a proceeding under chapter forty or chapter forty-one of the Code of Criminal Procedure, or chapter eighteen of the Presidency Magistrates Act:

Provided also that, in the case of a Judge of a High Court, the duty of examining and impounding any instrument under this section may be delegated to such officer as the Court appoints in this behalf.

The Local Government may from time to time, in cases of doubt, determine who shall be deemed to be, for the purpose of this section, persons in charge of public offices.

34. No instrument chargeable with duty shall be admitted in evidence for any purpose by any person having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence, or shall be acted upon, registered or authenticated by any such person or by any public officer, unless such instrument is duly stamped:

Provided that—
1st, any such instrument, not being an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only or a bill of exchange or promissory note, shall, subject to all just exceptions, be admitted in evidence on payment of the duty with which the same is chargeable or (in the case of an instrument insufficiently stamped) of the amount required to make up such duty, together with a penalty of five rupees, or when ten times the amount of the proper duty or deficient portion thereof exceeds five rupees, of a sum equal to ten times such duty or portion;

2nd, nothing herein contained shall prevent the admission of any instrument in evidence in any proceeding in a criminal Court other than a proceeding under chapter forty or chapter forty-one of the Code of Criminal Procedure, or chapter eighteen of the Presidency Magistrates Act;

3rd, when an instrument has been admitted in evidence, such admission shall not, except as provided in section fifty, be called in question at any stage of the same suit or proceeding on the ground that the instrument has not been duly stamped.

Admission of instrument in evidence, such admission shall not, except as provided in section fifty, be called in question at any stage of the same suit or proceeding on the ground that the instrument has not been duly stamped.

35. When the person impounding an instrument under section thirty-three has by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence and admits such instrument in evidence upon payment of a penalty as provided by section thirty-four, he shall send to the Collector an authenticated copy of such instrument, together with a certificate in writing, stating the amount of the duty and penalty levied in respect thereof, and shall send such amount to the Collector, or to such person as he may appoint in this behalf.

In every other case, the person so impounding an instrument shall send it in original to the Collector.

36. When a copy of an instrument is sent to a Collector under the first paragraph of section thirty-five, he may, if he thinks fit, upon application made to him in this behalf, refund any portion of the penalty in excess of five rupees which has been paid in respect of such instrument, or when such instrument has been impounded only because it has been written in contravention of section twelve, or section thirteen, he may refund the whole penalty so paid.

37. When the Collector impounds any instrument under section thirty-three, or receives any instrument sent to him under the second clause of section thirty-five, he shall adopt the following procedure :—

(a.) If he is of opinion that such instrument is duly stamped, or is not chargeable with duty, he shall certify by endorsement thereon that it is duly stamped, or that it is not so chargeable (as the case may be), and shall upon application made to him in this behalf deliver such instrument to the person from whose possession it came into the hands of the officer impounding it, or as such person may direct.

(b.) If the Collector is of opinion that such instrument is chargeable with duty and is not duly stamped, he shall require the payment of the proper duty or the amount required to make up the same, together with a penalty of five rupees ; or if ten times the amount of the proper duty or of the deficient portion thereof exceeds five rupees, then such penalty, not less than five rupees and not more than ten times the amount of such duty or portion, as he thinks fit :

Provided that, when such instrument has been impounded only because it has been written in contravention of section twelve or section thirteen, the Collector may, if he thinks fit, remit the whole penalty prescribed by this section.

Every certificate under clause (a) of this section shall, for the purposes of this Act, be conclusive evidence of the matters stated therein.

Nothing in this section applies to an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only, or to a bill of exchange or promissory note.

38. If any instrument chargeable with duty and which is not duly stamped is produced by any person of his own motion before the Collector within one year from the date of its execution or first execution, and such person brings to the notice of the Collector the fact that such instrument is not duly stamped, and offers to pay to the Collector the amount of the proper duty, or the amount required to make up the same, and the Collector is satisfied that the omission to duly stamp such instrument has been occasioned by accident, mistake or urgent necessity, he may, instead of proceeding under sections thirty-three and thirty-seven, receive such amount and proceed as next hereinafter prescribed.

Nothing in this section applies to an instrument chargeable with a duty of one anna only or to a bill of exchange or promissory note.

39. When the duty and penalty (if any) leviable in respect of any instrument have been paid under section thirty-four, section thirty-seven or section thirty-eight, the person admitting such instrument in evidence, or the Collector (as the case may be), shall certify by endorsement thereon that the proper duty or (as the case may be) the proper duty and penalty (stating the amount of each) have been levied in respect thereof, and the name and residence of the person paying them.

Every instrument so endorsed shall thereupon be admissible in evidence, and may be registered and acted upon and authenticated as if it had been duly stamped, and shall be delivered on his application in this behalf to the person from whose possession it came into the hands of the officer impounding it, or as such person may direct :

Provided that no instrument which has been admitted in evidence upon payment of duty and a penalty under section thirty-four shall be so delivered before the expiration of one month from the date of such impounding, or if the Collector has certified that its further detention is necessary and has not cancelled such certificate :

Provided also that nothing in this section shall affect the Code of Civil Procedure, section 144, clause 3.

40. The payment of a penalty under this chapter in respect of an instrument shall not bar the prosecution of any person who appears to have committed an offence against the stamp-law in respect of such instrument :

But no such prosecution shall be instituted in the case of any instrument in respect of which such a penalty has been paid, unless it appears to the Collector that the offence was committed with an intention of evading payment of the proper duty.

41. When any duty or penalty has been paid, under section thirty-four, section thirty-seven or section thirty-eight, by any person in respect of an instrument, and by agreement, or under the provisions of section twenty-nine or any other enactment in force at the time such instrument was executed, some other person was bound to bear the expense of providing the proper stamp for such instrument, the first-mentioned person shall be entitled to recover from such other person the amount of the duty or penalty so paid ; and for the purpose of such recovery any certificate granted in respect of such instrument under section thirty-nine shall be conclusive evidence of the matters therein certified.

42. When any penalty is paid under section thirty-four or thirty-seven, the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may, upon application in writing made within one year from the date of the payment, refund such penalty wholly or in part.

43. If any instrument sent to a Collector under the second paragraph of section thirty-five be lost, destroyed or damaged during transmission, the person sending the same shall not be liable for such loss, destruction or damage.

When any instrument is about to be so sent, the person from whose possession it came into the hands of the person impounding the same may require a copy thereof to be made at the expense of such first-mentioned person and authenticated by the person impounding such instrument.

44. When any bill of exchange or promissory note chargeable with the duty of one anna, or any cheque, is presented for payment unstamped, the person to whom it is so presented may affix thereto the necessary adhesive stamp, and upon cancelling the same in manner hereinbefore provided may pay the sum payable upon such bill, note or cheque, and may charge the duty against the person who ought to have paid the same, or deduct it from the sum payable as aforesaid, and such bill, note or cheque shall, so far as respects the duty, be deemed good and valid.

But nothing herein contained shall relieve any person from any penalty he may have incurred in relation to such bill, note or cheque.

CHAPTER V.

REFERENCE AND REVISION.

45. If any Collector acting under section thirty-seven or section thirty-eight feels doubt as to the amount of duty with which any instrument is chargeable, he may draw up a statement of the case, and refer it, with his own opinion thereon, for the decision of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, and such Authority shall consider the case and send a copy of its decision to the Collector, and he shall proceed to assess and charge the duty (if any) in conformity with such decision.

46. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may state any case referred to it under section forty-five or otherwise coming to its notice and refer such case with its own opinion thereon, if the case arises in the territories for the time being administered by the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council or the Governor of Bombay in Council—to the High Court of Judicature at Madras or Bombay as the case may be: if it arises in the North-Western Provinces or Oudh—to the High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces: if it arises in the territories for the time being administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb—to the Chief Court of the Panjáb: if it arises in the Central Provinces—to the High Court of Judicature at Bombay; and if it arises in any other part of British India—to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William.

Every such case shall be decided by not less than three Judges of the High Court or Chief Court to which it is referred, and in case of difference the opinion of the majority shall prevail.

47. If the High Court or Chief Court is not satisfied that the statements contained in the case are sufficient to enable it to determine the questions raised thereby, the Court may refer the case back to the Revenue-Authority by which it was stated, to make such additions thereto or alterations therein as the Court may direct in that behalf.

48. The High Court or Chief Court, upon the hearing of any such case, shall decide the questions raised thereby and shall deliver its judgment thereon containing the grounds on which such decision is founded: and it shall send to the Revenue-Authority by which the case was stated, a copy of such judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar, and the Revenue-Authority shall, on receiving such copy, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

49. If any Court other than a Court mentioned in section forty-six feels doubt as to the amount of duty to be paid in respect of any instrument under the first proviso to section thirty-four, the Judge may draw up a statement of the case and refer it with his own opinion thereon for the decision of the High Court or Chief Court to which, if he were the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, he would under section forty-six refer the same, and such Court shall deal with the case as if it had been referred under section forty-six, and send a copy of its judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar to the Judge making the reference, who shall, on receiving such copy, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

References made under this section, when made by a Court subordinate to a District Court, shall be made through the District Court, and when made by any subordinate Revenue Court shall be made through the Court immediately superior.

50. When any Court in the exercise of civil or revenue jurisdiction makes any order admitting any instrument in evidence as duly stamped or as not requiring a stamp, or upon payment of duty and a penalty under section thirty-four, the Court to which appeals lie from, or references are made by, such first-mentioned Court may, of its own motion or on the application of the Collector, take such order into consideration; and if it is of opinion that such instrument should not have been admitted in evidence without the payment of duty and penalty under section thirty-four, or without the payment of a higher duty and penalty than those paid, may record a declaration to that effect, and determine the amount of duty with which such instrument is chargeable, and may require any person in whose possession or power such instrument then is to produce the same, and may impound the same when produced.

When any declaration has been recorded under this section, the Court recording the same shall send a copy thereof to the Collector and, where the instrument to which it relates has been impounded or is otherwise in the possession of such Court, shall also send him such instrument; and thereupon the Collector may, notwithstanding anything contained in the order admitting such instrument in evidence, or in any certificate granted under section thirty-nine, or in section forty, prosecute any person for any offence against the stamp-law which the Collector considers him to have committed in respect of such instrument:

Provided that no such prosecution shall be instituted where the amount (including duty and penalty) which according to the determination of such

Court was payable in respect of the instrument under section thirty-four is paid to the Collector, unless he thinks that the offence was committed with an intention of evading payment of the proper duty :

Provided also that, except for the purposes of such prosecution, no declaration made under this section shall affect the validity of any order admitting any instrument in evidence, or of any certificate granted under section thirty-nine.

CHAPTER VI.

ALLOWANCES FOR SPOILED STAMPS AND STAMPS NO LONGER REQUIRED.

51. Subject to such rules as may be made by the Governor General in Council as to the evidence which the Collector may require, allowance shall be made by the Collector for impressed stamps spoiled in the cases hereinafter mentioned, namely :—

(a.) The stamp on any paper inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled, obliterated or by any means rendered unfit for the purpose intended, before any instrument written thereon is executed by any person :

(b.) The stamp used or intended to be used for any bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note, signed by or on behalf of the drawer or intended drawer, but not delivered out of his hands to the payee or intended payee, or any person on his behalf, or deposited with any person as a security for the payment of money, or in any way negotiated, issued or put in circulation, or made use of in any other manner, and which, being a bill of exchange or cheque, has not been accepted by the drawee, and provided that the paper on which any such stamp is impressed does not bear any signature intended as or for the acceptance of any bill of exchange or cheque to be afterwards written thereon :

(c.) The stamp used or intended to be used for any bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note signed by, or on behalf of, the drawer thereof, but which from any omission or error has been spoiled or rendered useless, although the same, being a bill of exchange or cheque, may have been presented for acceptance or accepted or endorsed, or, being a promissory note, may have been delivered to the payee, provided that another completed and duly stamped bill of exchange, cheque or promissory note is produced identical in every particular, except in the correction of such omission or error as aforesaid, with the spoiled bill, cheque or note :

(d.) The stamp used for any of the following instruments, that is to say :—

- (1) an instrument executed by any party thereto, but afterwards found by a competent Court to be absolutely void in law from the beginning :

ACT No. I OF 1879.

An Act to amend the procedure in suits between Landlords and Tenants in Chota Nagpore.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the procedure in suits between landlords and tenants in Chota Nagpore: It is enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called "The Chota Nagpore Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act;"

It extends to the territories for the time being under the administration of the Commissioner of the division of Chota Nagpore, except the district of Manbhoom and the Tributary Mehals.

And it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Civil Jail" includes the civil jail of the district, and any place appointed by the local Government for the confinement of prisoners under this Act.

"The Commissioner" and "Judicial Commissioner" mean respectively the Commissioner and Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

"Deputy Collector." "Deputy Collector" includes also an Assistant Commissioner.

"Nazir" means any officer of a Court authorized to serve or execute its process.

"Section." "Section" means a Section of this Act.

3. On and from the commencement of this Act, the enactments specified in Schedule A hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the said Schedule.

4. All suits or proceedings, of the nature provided for by this Act, which, before the commencement of this Act, shall have been instituted before any Deputy Commissioner or other officer having jurisdiction under any enactment hereby repealed, shall be heard and decided, so far as may be, under this Act.

5. Every ryot is entitled to receive, from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable, a pottah containing the following particulars :—

the quantity and boundaries of land: and where fields have been numbered in a Government survey, the number of each field; the amount of annual rent; the instalments in which the same is to be paid; any special conditions of the lease; and (if the rent is payable wholly or partially in kind), the proportion or quantity of produce to be delivered, and the time and manner of delivery.

6. Every ryot, who has cultivated or held land for a period of twelve years, has a right of occupancy in the land so cultivated or held by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to the classes of lands locally known as majhahas, man, or saika; nor to khamar, nijjote, or seer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure, and let by him on lease for a term, or year by year.

The holding of the father, or other person from whom a ryot inherits, shall be deemed to be the holding of the ryot within the meaning of this section.

7. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the cultivation of land entered into between a landholder and a ryot, when it contains any express stipulation contrary thereto.

8. Ryots having rights of occupancy are entitled to receive pottahs at fair and equitable rates.

In case of dispute, the rate previously paid by the ryot shall be deemed to be fair and equitable, unless the contrary be shown in an enquiry under section 24.

9. Ryots not having rights of occupancy are entitled to pottahs only at such rates, and on such conditions, as may be agreed on between them and the persons to whom the rent is payable.

10. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kubooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah.

The tender to any ryot of a pottah, such as the ryot is entitled to receive, shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kubooliyet from such ryot.

11. Every under-tenant or ryot, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, or payable under this Act, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent, damages not exceeding double the amount so exacted or paid.

12. Receipts for rent shall specify the year or years on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

13. If any under-tenant or ryot shall, at the mal kutcherry for the receipt of rents, or other place where the rents of the land held or cultivated by him are usually payable, tender payment of what he shall consider to be the full amount of rent due from him at the date of the tender to the zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of such land; and if the amount so tendered shall not be accepted, and a receipt in full forthwith granted, the under-tenant or ryot may, whether a suit shall have been instituted against him or not, within one month from the date of such tender, deposit

such amount, in the court of the Deputy Commissioner having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for such rent, to the credit of the zemindar or other person aforesaid;

and such deposit shall, so far as the under-tenant or ryot, and all persons claiming through or under him are concerned, in all respects operate as and have the full effect of a payment then made by the under-tenant or ryot, of the amount deposited to the credit of such zemindar or other person.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall receive such deposit on the written application of the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent; and on the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent, making a declaration in the form, or as nearly as circumstances will admit, in the form set forth in Schedule B hereto annexed, the Deputy Commissioner shall give a receipt for the same.

The Deputy Commissioner shall, within seven days from the date of the deposit, issue a notice to the person to whose credit it has been deposited, in the form set forth in Schedule C hereto annexed.

If the person to whom such notice is issued, or his duly authorized agent, shall appear and apply that the money in deposit be paid to him, it shall be immediately made over to him.

15. Whenever such deposit shall have been made, no suit shall be brought against the person making the same or his representatives, on account of any rent which accrued due prior to the date of the deposit, unless such suit be instituted within six months from the date of the service of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section.

16. All zemindars and other landholders are prohibited from compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose, and from adopting any means of compulsion for enforcing payment of the rent due to them other than those authorized by this Act.

17. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant or ryot by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant or ryot shall be entitled to recover such damages, not exceeding two hundred rupees, as may be deemed a reasonable compensation for the injury done him by such extortion.

An award of compensation under this section shall not bar or affect any penalty or punishment to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

18. No dependent talookdar or other person possessing a permanent transferable interest in land, intermediate between the proprietor of an estate and the ryots, who holds his talook or tenure (otherwise than under a terminable lease) at a fixed rent which has not been changed from the time of the permanent settlement, shall be liable to any enhancement of such rent, anything in section fifty-one, Regulation VIII, 1793, or in any other law, to the contrary notwithstanding.

19. No tenant of lands known as bhinihari or

khodkatti shall be liable to any enhancement of the rent previously paid by him for such lands, unless it be shown that the tenure has been created within twenty years before the institution of the suit to enhance the rent of the said lands;

and where enhancement of the rent of such tenure is decreed, the rent assessed shall not exceed one-half of the rent paid by an ordinary ryot with a right of occupancy on the same class of land with similar advantages.

20. No tenant of lands known as korkor, bace-

23. Such petition shall specify;

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

24. On receipt of such petition the Deputy

Procedure on receipt of petition.

Commissioner shall forthwith give notice of the contents thereof to the under-tenant or ryot holding the land in respect of which enhancement is sought, and may (if necessary) order the same to be measured, and may upon consideration of all the circumstances set forth in the petition, and after hearing any objection which may be advanced against the proposed enhancement by the said under-tenant or ryot, fix such enhanced rent, or may otherwise alter or vary the rent for the said land as to him may seem fair and reasonable for such period, not being less than ten nor more than twenty years, as he may think fit;

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such undertenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of such under-tenant or ryot

to claim at any time an abatement of the rent previously paid by him under the provisions of section 27.

25. When lands are held subject to any

Commutation of conditions or services to which lands may be subject.

conditions or services other than or besides the payment of a rent in money, the tenant of such lands, or the person who has the right to receive the rents and services issuing from such lands, may apply in writing to the Deputy Commissioner for the commutation of all such conditions or services.

Such petition shall specify the particulars mentioned in section 23, and the grounds on which such under-tenant or ryot considers that he is entitled to such abatement.

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

28. On receipt of such petition the Deputy

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such under-tenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of the person to whom the rent of such under-tenant or ryot is payable to claim at any time an enhancement of the rent of such under-tenant or ryot under the provisions of section 22.

29. Any ryot may relinquish the land held

or cultivated by him, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the land, or his authorized agent, in or before the month of Pous of the year preceding that in which the relinquishment is to have effect.

If he fails to give such notice, and the land is not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the land.

If the person entitled to the rent of the land or his agent refuses to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, the ryot may make an application to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall thereupon cause the notice to be served on such person or his agent.

30. Any instalment of rent which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there is no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act, and in the absence of any written agreement to the contrary, shall be liable to interest at six per centum per annum.

31. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot at the end of the Bengal or Sambut year, or at the end of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayutee year, as the case may be, such ryot shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due, but only in execution of a decree or order passed under the provisions of this Act.

Provided that no such lease shall be cancelled, nor the leaseholder ejected, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

33. Every proprietor of an estate or tenure, or other person in receipt of the rents of an estate or tenure, has a right to make a general survey or measurement of the lands comprised in such estate or tenure, unless restrained from doing so by express engagement with the occupants of the lands.

If any person intending to measure any land which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any under-tenant or ryot, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land,

such person may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and, if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such under-tenant or ryot.

If any under-tenant or ryot, after the issue of an order enjoining his attendance, neglects to attend, it shall not be competent to him to contest the correctness of the measurement made in his absence.

34. All dependent talookdars and other persons possessing a permanent heritable interest in land intermediate between the zemindar and the cultivator are required to register, in the sherishteh of the zemindar or superior tenant to whom the rents of their talooks or tenures are payable, all transfers of such talooks or tenures, or portions of them, by succession or inheritance.

Every zemindar or superior tenant is required to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to all such transfers.

Application for the registration of all such successions as may have occurred previously to the commencement of this Act shall be made within two years from the commencement thereof, and for future successions within one year from the date on which the succession occurred: and if such application be not made within the period herein specified, the zemindar or superior tenant may apply to the Deputy Commissioner to put him in possession of the talook or tenure.

35. The provisions of the last preceding section shall also be applicable to the sale of such under-tenures as are mentioned in section 123, and to the sale of the right and title of any person under section 124.

36. If any zemindar or superior tenant refuses to admit to registry or otherwise to give effect to any such transfer as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections, the transferee may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and if no sufficient grounds are shown for the refusal, shall pass an order enjoining the zemindar or superior tenant to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to such transfer.

Provided that no zemindar or superior tenant shall be required to admit to registry, or give effect to any division or distribution of the rent payable on account of any such tenures, nor shall any such division or distribution of rent be valid, without the consent in writing of the zemindar or superior tenant.

(4) all suits for arrears of rent due on account of land either rent-paying or rent-free, or on account of any rights of pasturage, forest-rights, fisheries, or the like;

(6) all suits to recover the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, from which a ryot, farmer, or tenant has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same;

(7) all suits by zemindars and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or collection of rents, or the sureties of such agents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents in the course of such employment, or for papers in their possession;

shall be cognizable by the Deputy Commissioners, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other court, except in the way of appeal as provided in this Act.

38. The Deputy Commissioner may, with the consent of the parties, refer any suit under this Act to arbitration, and the provisions of sections 506 to 522 (both inclusive) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

39. In every suit under this Act, of the nature of those specified in the first, second, third, or fourth clauses of section 37, and in applications for enhancement, abatement or measurement under sections 22, 27 or 33, any number of ryots or other tenants may sue or be sued collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing the suit or refusing to hear the application that such ryots or other tenants are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided that all such ryots or other tenants hold land in the same village;

but no order shall be passed in such case, unless the officer making the same is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them;

and if at any time it shall appear to the Deputy Commissioner that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, the Deputy Commissioner may order a separate trial to be held.

40. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the first clause of the last preceding section shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots or other tenants named in the order shall be affected thereby.

44. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Sambat year, or from the last day of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayutee year, in which the arrear claimed shall have become due.

Provided that, if the suit be for the recovery of rent at a higher rate than was payable in the previous year, such rent not having been enhanced by the Deputy Commissioner under this Act, the suit shall be instituted within three months from the end of the Bengal or Sambat year, or of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayutee year, on account of which such enhanced rent is claimed.

45. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent, or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent.

Provided that, if the person having the right to sue shall, by means of fraud, have been kept from the knowledge of the receipt of any such money by the agent, or if any fraudulent account shall have been rendered by the agent, the suit may be brought within one year from the time when the fraud shall have been first known to such person; but no such suit shall in any case be brought at any time exceeding three years from the termination of the agency.

46. Suits under this Act shall be instituted by presenting to the Deputy Commissioner a plaint or statement of claim which shall contain

the name, description, and place of abode of the plaintiff;
the name, description, and place of abode of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained;

the name of the village and estate;

the yearly rent of the land;
the amount (if any) received on account of the year for which the claim is made;

the amount in arrear; and the time in respect of which it is alleged to be due.

48. If the suit is for the ejectment of a ryot, farmer, or tenant from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement of claim shall specify (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same, and (if necessary for the identification of the land), the boundaries of such land.

49. The statement of claim shall be presented by the plaintiff, or by an authorized agent of the plaintiff who has personal knowledge of the facts of the case, or by an agent who shall be accompanied by a person who has such knowledge.

50. The statement of claim shall be subscribed and verified at the foot by the plaintiff or his agent in the manner following, or to the like effect:—

I, A. B., do declare that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

51. If the plaintiff relies in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of presenting his statement of claim.

Unless such document be delivered or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

52. If the plaintiff requires the production of any document in the possession or power of the defendant, he may, at the time of presenting his statement of claim, deliver to the Deputy Commissioner a description of the document in order that the defendant may be required to produce the same.

53. If the statement of claim does not contain the several particulars hereinbefore required to be specified therein, or is not subscribed and verified as hereinbefore required, the Deputy Commissioner may return the statement to the plaintiff, or at his discretion allow it to be amended.

54. If the statement of claim is in proper form, the Deputy Commissioner, except as otherwise hereinafter specially provided, shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff requires the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Deputy Commissioner of his own accord requires such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons; otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf, who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a person who has such personal knowledge.

55. The day to be specified in the summons shall be fixed with reference to the state of the file, and the distance that the defendant may be or be supposed to be at the time from the place where the court is held, and the summons shall order the defendant to produce any document which he may have in his possession, of which the plaintiff demands inspection, or upon which the defendant may intend to rely in support of his defence.

The day to be specified in the summons how to be fixed. Defendant to be ordered to produce necessary documents, and to bring witnesses willing to attend without process.

It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process, and shall be in the form contained in Schedule D hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

56. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or, if a warrant is issued as provided in the next succeeding section, of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Deputy Commissioner.

Cost of serving summons or warrant to be deposited in court.

If the said amount be not so deposited the case shall not be brought on the file of suits: but in such case the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period prescribed by this Act for the limitation of suits.

57. If in any suit against an under-tenant or ryot for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, such defendant being resident within the district in which the suit is instituted, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant.

Warrant of arrest in what cases to be issued.

When such application is presented, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be prima facie grounds for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that, if a summons be issued, the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim, the Deputy Commissioner may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

The Deputy Commissioner shall fix a reasonable time for the return of the warrant, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule E hereto annexed, or to the like effect, and the officer entrusted with the service of the warrant shall at the time of arresting the defendant deliver to him a notice addressed to the defendant, which shall be in the form in the Schedule F hereto annexed, or to the like effect, containing the particulars of the claim, and requiring the defendant, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence.

But no such warrant shall be issued in a suit for arrears of rent due in respect of a dependent talook or other transferable tenure which, as hereinafter provided, is liable to sale in execution of any decree which may be passed in the case.

58. If the defendant is arrested under the warrant of arrest, he shall be brought with all convenient speed before the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall commit him to custody, unless he deposits in court such sum as may be specified in the notice.

59. When the defendant is brought before the Deputy Commissioner under warrant, the Deputy Commissioner shall with all convenient speed proceed to try the case in the manner hereinafter provided; if the suit cannot be at once adjudicated, the Deputy Commissioner may, if he think fit, require the defendant to give security for his appearance whenever the same may be required at any time whilst the suit is pending, or until execution of the final decree which may be passed thereon, and may commit the defendant to the civil jail to be there detained until he shall furnish such security, or deposit such sum as the Deputy Commissioner shall order.

The security bond shall be in the form contained in Schedule G hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

60. If the defendant cannot be arrested under the warrant, the Deputy Commissioner, on the application of the plaintiff, shall either postpone the case, for such period as he may think proper, in order that the plaintiff may apply within the said period for another warrant to be issued for the arrest of the defendant, or shall forthwith issue a proclamation to be affixed to his own office and to the residence of the defendant appointing a day for the hearing of the case, which shall not be less than ten days from the date of the publication of the notice at the residence of the defendant.

If the defendant appears in pursuance of the proclamation, he shall be dealt with as provided in the last preceding section.

61. If it appears to the Deputy Commissioner that the arrest of the defendant was applied for without reasonable cause, the Deputy Commissioner may in his decree award to the defendant such sum, not exceeding one hundred rupees, as he may deem a reasonable compensation for any injury or loss which the defendant may have sustained by reason of such arrest, or of his detention in jail during the pendency of the suit.

62. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be postponed prior to the recording of an issue for trial as hereinafter provided, neither of the parties appears in person or by an agent, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit, unless precluded by the provisions for the limitation of suits contained in this Act.

63. If on any such day the defendant only appears, the Deputy Commissioner shall pass judgment against the plaintiff by default, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, in which case the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs; provided that such judgment, if there be more than one defendant, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

64. If on any such day the plaintiff only appears, the Deputy Commissioner, upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act, shall proceed to examine the plaintiff or his agent, and after considering the allegations of the plaintiff, and any documentary or oral evidence adduced by him, may either dismiss the case, or postpone the hearing of it to a future day for the attendance of any witness the plaintiff may wish to call, or may pass judgment ex parte against the defendant.

65. If the defendant appears on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding section, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

66. No appeal shall lie from a judgment passed ex parte against a defendant who has not appeared, or from a judgment against a plaintiff by default for non-appearance.

But in all such cases, if the party against whom judgment has been given appears, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Deputy Commissioner's order, and if a defendant within fifteen days after any process for enforcing the judgment has been executed, or at any earlier period, and shows sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that there has been a failure of justice, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case.

But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the opposite party to appear and be heard in support of it.

67. In all cases in which the Deputy Commissioner shall pass an order for setting aside a judgment, the order shall be final; but in all appealable cases in which the Deputy Commissioner shall reject the application, an appeal shall lie from the order of rejection to the tribunal to which the final decision in the suit would be appealable; provided that the appeal be preferred within the time allowed for an appeal from such final decision.

68. When both parties appear in person on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to examine them, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other.

If either of the parties is not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any person who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

At the time of examination the defendant, if he think fit, may file a written statement of his defence. Such statement shall be verified in the manner prescribed in section 50.

69. The examination of the parties or their agents, or such other persons as aforesaid, shall be conducted according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing in the vernacular language of the Deputy Commissioner and filed with the record.

Provided that all examinations of parties and witnesses may be recorded in English, if the Deputy Commissioner be sufficiently acquainted with that language.

70. If either of the parties brings forward a witness on the day aforesaid, the Deputy Commissioner may take the evidence of such witness.

71. If the defendant relies on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into court at the first hearing of the suit; and unless such document is so delivered in, or its non-production is sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner sees fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

72. If after the examination required by section 68, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall make a decree accordingly.

73. If, on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party is unable to answer any material question relating to the case, which the Deputy Commissioner is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Deputy Commissioner may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day;

and if the party so directed to attend fails to appear in person on the day appointed, the Deputy Commissioner may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper under the circumstances of the case.

74. If, on such examination as aforesaid, it appears that the parties are at issue on any question upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit:

and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner.

75. The parties shall bring forward their witnesses on the day of trial, and if either party requires assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence, or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Deputy Commissioner in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial, to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

76. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents, and to the remuneration and punishment of witnesses, shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, apply to all suits under this Act.

77. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in section 62.

78. When suits under this Act are instituted or defended by nairs, gomastahs, or other persons employed in the collection of rent, or management of land, in the name and on the behalf of the landholders by whom they are so employed, all the provisions of this Act, by which the personal appearance or attendance of parties to a suit is or may be required, shall be applicable to such nairs, gomastahs, or other persons; and anything which by this Act is required or permitted to be done by a party in person, may be done by any such person as aforesaid.

Processes served on any such person shall be as effectual for all purposes in relation to the suit as if the same had been served on the landholder in person, and all the provisions of this Act, relative to the service of processes on a party to the suit, shall be applicable to the service of processes on such person.

79. A plaintiff or defendant shall not be required to attend in person if of the female sex, and of a rank or class which, according to the custom and manners of the country, would render it improper for her to appear in public.

80. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent or mookhtar to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent or mookhtar shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the court.

81. The Deputy Commissioner may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence respectively of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof, or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by him, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

82. The Deputy Commissioner may at any stage of a suit cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any officer subordinate to him, or by any other officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person.

The provisions of the law for the time being in force, relative to local enquiries by ameen or commissioners under orders of the civil courts, shall apply to any local enquiry made by any officer under this section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Deputy Commissioner in person.

In the latter case, the Deputy Commissioner, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observations so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

83. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, if he has duly tendered the same to the plaintiff before the institution of the suit, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff without paying in any costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be immediately paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, the plaintiff shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit incurred by the defendant; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit.

84. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, without having made any tender before action brought, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff, together with the costs (to be fixed by the court if necessary as upon a suit originally instituted for the amount so paid into court) incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall immediately be paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, he shall be charged with all costs incurred by the defendant subsequently to such payment; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with costs as upon a suit originally instituted for the whole amount for which the plaintiff ultimately obtains a decree, but shall have credit thereout for the amount of costs paid into Court by him in the first instance.

85. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of his claim, or fall short thereof.

86. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot having a right of occupancy the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Deputy Commissioner shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper.

Provided that the term shall not in any case be longer than twenty years, and in estates not permanently settled, shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also that, if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend beyond the period of the continuance of such interest.

For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

87. When in any suit between a landholder and a ryot or under-tenant under this Act, the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure cultivated or held by the ryot or under-tenant is disputed, and such right is claimed by or on behalf of a third person, on the ground that such third person, or a person through whom he claims, has actually and in good faith received and enjoyed such rent before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit, such third person shall be made a party to the suit, and the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rent by such third person shall be enquired into, and the suit shall be decided according to the result of such inquiry.

Provided that the decision of the Deputy Commissioner shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in a civil court, if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

88. Any person desiring to eject a ryot, or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancellation and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrears in a suit for such ejectment or cancellation.

In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or the cancellation of a lease, the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear; and if such amount, together with interest and costs of suit, be paid into court within fifteen days from the date of the decree, execution shall be stayed.

89. The Deputy Commissioner shall pronounce judgment in open court. Judgment how to be pronounced. The judgment shall be written in the vernacular language of the Deputy Commissioner, and shall contain the reasons for the same, and shall be dated and signed by the Deputy Commissioner at the time when it is pronounced.

Provided that any judgment may be written in English, if the Deputy Commissioner be sufficiently acquainted with the English language.

90. In any suit for rent under this Act, if it appears to the court that the defendant has, without reasonable or probable cause, neglected or refused to pay the amount due from him, and that he has not, before the institution of the suit, tendered such amount to the plaintiff or his duly authorized agent; or, in case of refusal of the plaintiff or such agent to receive the amount tendered, has not deposited such amount with the Deputy Commissioner before the institution of the suit in manner hereinbefore mentioned, the court may award to the plaintiff, in addition to the amount decreed for rent and costs, such damages, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the amount of rent decreed, as the court may think fit;

and such damages, if awarded, as well as the amount of rent and costs decreed in the suit, shall carry interest from the date of decree until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable.

91. In any suit for rent under this Act, if it appears to the court that the plaintiff has instituted the suit against the defendant without reasonable or probable cause, or that the defendant, before the institution of the suit, duly deposited with the Deputy Commissioner in the manner hereinafter mentioned the full amount which the court shall find to have been due to the plaintiff at the date of such deposit, the court may award to the defendant by way of compensation such sum, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the whole amount claimed by the plaintiff, as the court may think fit;

and such sum, with interest until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable, shall be recoverable from the plaintiff in like manner as sums decreed to be paid by defendants under this Act.

92. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuses or delays to grant the same, the Deputy Commissioner may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

93. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet refuses to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Deputy Commissioner shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

94. If the decree is for the ejection of any ryot from land occupied by him, or for the reinstatement of any ryot in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by giving the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy.

If any opposition is made to the execution of the order for giving such possession or occupancy by the party against whom the order is made, the Deputy Commissioner, in the exercise of his powers as a Magistrate, shall give effect to the same.

95. If the decree is for the cancellation of any lease, or the ejection of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator), or for the reinstatement of any farmer or other such person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by proclaiming the substance of the decree to the cultivators or other occupants by beat of drum, or in such other manner as may be customary, and affixing the same in some conspicuous place within, or adjacent to, the farm or tenure.

96. If the decree is for arrears of rent, or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant has been committed to jail, or appears pursuant to the conditions of any security-bond given under section 59, the Deputy Commissioner may order that he be detained in, or committed to, the civil jail, unless he immediately pay into court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

97. If the judgment-debtor has given security for his appearance, and is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due from the debtor had been passed against the surety.

If the decree is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the defendant is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, execution may be taken out against the surety for the sum due under the bond in the same manner as if a decree for that sum had been passed against the surety.

98. The provisions relating to attachment before judgment, contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, are hereby extended to all suits under this Act.

99. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor, but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property.

Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form contained in Schedule H or I hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

100. Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list, he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs.

In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out to the officer entrusted with the execution of the process, by the creditor or his agent.

101. Every warrant of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Deputy Commissioner, and shall continue in force for such period as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, not being more than sixty days from such date.

102. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Deputy Commissioner on the application of the judgment-creditor, after the expiration of the period fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant.

103. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if, when application for the issue of the process is made, a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment, or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

104. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party, without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

105. No process of execution of any description whatsoever shall be issued on a judgment under this Act, unless an application be made within three years from the date of such judgment.

106. If a warrant is issued for taking in execution the body of any person, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall bring him with all convenient speed before the Deputy Commissioner.

If such person does not then deposit in court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment-creditor, or satisfy the Deputy Commissioner that he has no present means of paying the debt, the Deputy Commissioner shall send him to the civil jail, there to remain for such time as shall be directed, by a warrant addressed to the keeper of the jail, unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount for the payment of which he is liable under the decree.

Provided that no person shall be imprisoned in execution of a decree under this Act for a longer period than six months;

or for a longer period than six weeks, if the decree is for the payment of a sum of money not exceeding fifty rupees.

If the decree against any person arrested under a warrant is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the papers or accounts are not delivered by him when he is brought before the Deputy Commissioner, such person may be committed to the civil jail, there to remain for such time, not exceeding six months, as the Deputy Commissioner shall direct, unless he shall in the mean time deliver the papers or accounts according to the terms of the decree.

107. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment.

If the amount due under the decree does not exceed fifty rupees, the Deputy Commissioner may declare such discharged person absolved from liability under that decree.

In other cases the discharge shall not extinguish the liability of the discharged person under the decree, or exempt property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

108. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under section 57, or suing out process of execution against the body of any person, shall deposit in court, at the time of issue of the warrant, diet-money for thirty days at such rate as the Deputy Commissioner may direct.

109. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previously to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

110. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

111. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the officer charged with the execution of the writ shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment-creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held, together with a copy of the said list, at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor.

A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Deputy Commissioner and shall be affixed in his office.

Until the day of sale, the said property shall remain in the custody of the officer attaching the same.

112. The sale shall be held at the place where the property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, liaut, or other place of public resort, if the officer holding the sale is of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage.

The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the officer holding the sale may think advisable; and if the judgment-debt with the costs of the execution and sale is satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the execution shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

113. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price, in the estimation of the officer holding the sale, is not offered for it, and the owner of the property, or some person authorized to act on his behalf, applies to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day, if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered for the property.

114. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale, or as soon after as the officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment, the property shall be put up again and sold.

When the purchase-money has been paid in full, the officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

115. From the proceeds of the sale of the property, the officer holding the sale shall make a deduction, at the rate of one anna in the rupee, on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Deputy Commissioner in order that it may be credited to Government.

The said officer shall then pay to the judgment-creditor the expenses incurred by the judgment-creditor on account of the preparation of the list, and of the publication of the proclamation of sale prescribed in section 111, to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the judgment-creditor, he thinks proper to allow.

The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the debt for which the sale was made, with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any surplus, it shall be delivered to the person whose property has been sold.

116. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by, or subordinate to such officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such officers.

117. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken.

118. If before the day fixed for the sale, a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner, and claims a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party or his agent according to the law for the time being in force relating to the examination of witnesses, and if he see sufficient reason for so doing, may stay the sale of such property.

119. The Deputy Commissioner shall adjudicate upon such claim, and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit, as shall to him seem fit.

In trying such claim the Deputy Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as they may be applicable.

120. If the claimant fails to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant, as part of the costs, such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

121. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Deputy Commissioner under the last two preceding sections.

But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall not be for the recovery of the property, but for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

122. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but nothing contained in this section shall be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

123. If the decree is for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure, which, by the title-deeds, or the custom of the country, is transferable by sale, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and, with the sanction of the Commissioner, but not otherwise, the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the provisions for the sale of under-tenures contained in Bengal Act VIII of 1865.

But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force.

If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the debtor, and any such immoveable property may be brought to sale in the manner provided in section 129.

124. No under-tenure which is held condi-tionally on the survival of heirs male of the grantee, and which, on failure of such heirs, reverts to the grantor free of all encumbrances made subsequent to the date of the grant, shall be sold under this Act.

Provided that the right and title of any person in such tenure may be sold with the sanction of the Commissioner.

125. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as is mentioned in section 123, or of the right and title of any person in an under-tenure of the nature described in section 124,

a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner and alleges that such third party, and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained, is the proprietor of such under-tenure, and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party in the manner provided in section 118; and if he sees sufficient reason for so doing, and such party deposits in court the amount of the decree, or gives sufficient security for the same, the Deputy Commissioner shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

Provided that no transfer of an under-tenure, which, by the provisions of this Act or any other law for the time being in force, is required to be registered in the sherishtch of the zemindar or superior tenant, shall be recognized, unless it has been so registered, or unless sufficient cause for non-registration is shown to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner.

missioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Deputy Commissioner on such claim shall not be subject to appeal, but the party against whom it is given may bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right, at any time within one year from the date of the judgment.

127. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer

In such case the under-tenure, if of the nature described in section 123, and not of the nature described in section 124, may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, but not otherwise, be brought to sale in execution of the decree in the same manner as any other immoveable property may be sold in execution of a decree for money under the provisions of the next two succeeding sections.

not belonging to the judgment-debtor, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine the party making the objection in the manner prescribed in section 118, and, if satisfied that there is sufficient ground for so doing, shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into, and adjudicate upon, the objection, in the same manner, and subject to the same right of suit by the party against whom judgment may be given, as is provided in section 126.

and all applications and reports allowed or required by this Act to be made to the Deputy Commissioner may be made to any Deputy Collector having such local jurisdiction, or specially authorized as aforesaid.

134. In the performance of their duties under this Act, the Deputy Commissioners and Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue; and the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the direction and control of the Deputy Commissioner to whom they are subordinate.

135. but no judgment of a Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector in any suit, and no order of a Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector passed in any suit and relating to the trial thereof, or after decree and relating to the execution thereof, shall be open to revision or appeal otherwise than as expressly provided in this Act.

137. In suits under clauses two, four and seven of section 37, tried and decided by a Deputy Commissioner, if the amount sued for, or the value of the property claimed does not exceed one hundred rupees, the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner shall be final, and not open to revision or appeal except as hereinafter provided, unless in any such suit a question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in section 144.

142. If an appeal is dismissed for default of prosecution, the appellant may, within fifteen days from the date of the dismissal, apply to the Deputy Commissioner for the re-admission of the appeal; and if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that the appellant was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing, the Deputy Commissioner may re-admit the appeal.

instead of adding a fifth Act to the four Acts already in force relating to pleaders, mukhtárs and revenue-agents, to frame a consolidation measure embracing the entire law.

Bill to amend the Pleaders, Mukhtárs and Revenue Agents Act, 1865, was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

3. We have, at the instance of the Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal, restored in section 16 of the Bill now submitted, the power of the High Courts to make rules for the admission and control of mukhtárs practising on the appellate side of those Courts, which was conferred by section 44 of Act XX of 1865, but which has been held by the Calcutta High Court to have been ultra vires.

4. We have made the Bill applicable to the Courts of Small Causes in the Presidency towns, where we understand some such law is needed.

5. We have substituted, for the stamp-duties on certificates prescribed by Act XX of 1865, fees fixed according to the scale which was proposed in the Bill to amend the law relating to stamps and court-fees recently before the Council. The alterations here made are of no substantial importance.

6. We have made several amendments in arrangement and drafting, with a view to clearness and simplicity.

7. We recommend that the Bill now submitted be published.

8. The publication ordered by the Council has been made.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to legal Practitioners, in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, the Panjáb, Oudh and Assam; and to empower each of the Local Governments of the rest of British India to extend to the territories administered by it such portions of this Act as such Government may think fit; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.—Preliminary.

1. This Act may be called "The Legal Practitioners' Act, 1879;" and shall come into force on the first day of April, 1879.

This section and section two extend to the whole of British India.

The rest of this Act extends, in the first instance, only to the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governors of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and the Panjáb, and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and Assam. But any other Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend all or any of the provisions of the rest of this Act to the whole or any part of the territories under its administration.

2. On and from the first day of April, 1879, the enactments mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified therein.

All rules and appointments made, penalties prescribed, fees fixed, persons admitted, names enrolled, certificates issued, sanctions given and orders passed under any enactment hereby repealed shall be deemed to be respectively made, prescribed, fixed, admitted, enrolled, issued, given and passed under this Act.

All references made to any enactment hereby repealed, in any Act or Regulation passed, or notification published, subsequently thereto, shall be read as if made to this Act.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

“Judge” means the presiding judicial officer in every civil and criminal Court by whatever title he is designated:

“Subordinate Court” means all Courts subordinate to the High Court, including Courts of Small Causes established under Act No. IX of 1850 or Act No. XI of 1865:

“Officer subordinate to such Authority,” “Subordinate Revenue-officer” and “Revenue-officer” include all Courts (other than civil Courts) trying suits under any Act for the time being in force relating to landholders and their tenants or agents.

CHAPTER II.—Of Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

4. Every person now or hereafter entered as an Advocate or Vakil on the roll of any High Court under the Letters Patent constituting such Court shall, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be entitled as such to practise in any Court in British India other than a High Court on whose roll he is not entered, or in any such Court with the permission of the Court, and in any Revenue-office, subject nevertheless to the rules in force relating to the language in which the Court or office is to be addressed by Pleaders or Revenue-agents:

Provided that no such Vakil shall be entitled to practise under this section before a Judge of the High Court, Division Court, or High Court exercising original jurisdiction.

5. Every person now or hereafter entered as an Attorney on the roll of any High Court shall, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be entitled as such to practise in any Court of British India other than a High Court established by Royal Charter and in any Revenue-office.

CHAPTER III.—Of Pleaders and Mukhtárs.

Power to make rules as to qualification, &c., of pleaders and mukhtárs.

6. The High Court may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the qualification, admission and certificates of proper persons to be pleaders of the subordinate Courts, and of the revenue-offices situate within the local limits of its appellate jurisdiction, and, in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter, of such Court:

(b) for the qualification, admission and certificates of proper persons to be mukhtárs of the subordinate Courts, and, in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter, of such Court:

(c) for the fees to be paid for the examination and admission of such persons; and

(d) for their suspension and dismissal.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette and shall thereupon have the force of law; provided that, in the case of rules made by a High Court not established by Royal Charter, such rules have been previously approved by the Local Government.

7. On the admission, under section six, of any person as a pleader or mukhtár, the High Court shall cause a certificate, signed by such officer as the Court from time to time appoints in this behalf, to be issued to such person, authorizing him to practise for the period of one year from its date in the Courts and, in the case of a pleader, the offices, specified therein.

At the expiration of such period, the holder of the certificate, if he desires to continue to practise, shall be entitled to have his certificate renewed by the Judge of the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction he then ordinarily practises, or by such officer as the High Court from time to time appoints in this behalf.

On every such renewal, the certificate then in possession of such pleader or mukhtár shall be cancelled and retained by such Judge or officer.

Every certificate so renewed shall be signed by such Judge or officer.

Every Judge or officer so renewing a certificate shall notify such renewal to the High Court.

8. Every pleader holding a certificate issued under section seven, may apply to be enrolled in any Court or office mentioned therein and situate within the local limits of the appellate jurisdiction of the High Court by which he has been admitted, and on being so enrolled, may appear, plead and act in such Court or office.

9. Every mukhtár holding a certificate issued under section seven, may apply to be enrolled in any civil or criminal Court mentioned therein and situate within the same limits, and, on being so enrolled, may appear and act in any such civil Court, and may (subject to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, section 186) appear, plead and act in any such criminal Court.

10. Except as provided by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 37, or any other enactment for the time being in force, no person shall appear, plead or act as a pleader or mukhtár in any Court not established by Royal Charter, unless he holds a certificate issued under section seven and has been enrolled in such Court :

Revenue-agents may appear, plead and act in Munsifs' Courts in suits under Bengal Act VIII of 1869.

Provided that persons holding certificates as revenue-agents under this Act in the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may, on being enrolled in any Munsif's Court, appear, plead and act in such Court in suits under Bengal Act No. VIII of 1869 (to amend the procedure in suits between Landlord and Tenant) or under any other Act for the time being in force, regulating the procedure in suits between landholders and their tenants or agents.

11. The High Court may suspend or dismiss any pleader or mukhtár holding a certificate issued under this Act, who is convicted of any criminal offence.

12. The High Court may also, after such enquiry as it thinks fit, suspend or dismiss any pleader or mukhtár holding a certificate as aforesaid, who is guilty of fraudulent or grossly improper conduct in the discharge of his professional duty, or of giving, receiving or retaining commission on remuneration paid to any legal practitioner, or for any other reasonable cause.

13. If any such pleader or mukhtár practising in any subordinate Court or in any revenue-office, is charged in such Court or office with any such conduct as aforesaid, the presiding officer shall send him a copy of the charge and also a notice that, on a day to be therein appointed, such charge will be taken into consideration.

Such copy and notice shall be served upon the pleader or mukhtár at least ten days before the day so appointed.

On such day or on any subsequent day to which the enquiry may be adjourned, the presiding officer shall receive all evidence properly produced in support of the charge, or by the pleader or mukhtár, and shall proceed to adjudicate on the charge.

If such officer finds the charge established, and considers that the pleader or mukhtár should be suspended or dismissed in consequence, he shall record his finding and the grounds thereof, and shall report the same to the High Court, and the High Court shall proceed to acquit, suspend or dismiss the pleader or mukhtár.

Any Judge or Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority acting under this section may, and, with the previous sanction of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, any subordinate revenue-officer so acting may, pending the investigation and the orders of the High Court, suspend the pleader or mukhtár from practising as such in his Court or office.

Every report made to the High Court under this section shall—

(a) when made by any Civil Judge other than the District Judge, be made through the Judge ;

(b) when made by a Magistrate subordinate to the Magistrate of the District, be made through the Magistrate of the District and the Sessions Judge ;

(c) when made by the Magistrate of the District, be made through the Sessions Judge ;

(d) when made by any subordinate revenue-officer, be made through the Revenue-Authorities to which he is subordinate.

Every such report shall be accompanied by the opinion of each Judge, Magistrate or Revenue-Authority through whom or which it is made.

14. The High Court, in any case in which a pleader or mukhtár has been acquitted under section thirteen otherwise than by an order of the High Court, may call for the record and pass such order thereon as it thinks fit.

15. Whenever a mukhtár who has been suspended or dismissed by order of the High Court is also a revenue-agent holding a certificate under this Act, the High Court shall forward a report of the case to the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority.

Such Authority, after making any enquiry which it thinks necessary, may suspend or dismiss him as such revenue-agent.

16. Notwithstanding anything contained in any Letters Patent or in the Code of Civil Procedure, section 37, clause (a), any High Court established by Royal Charter may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the qualification, admission, suspension and dismissal of proper persons to be mukhtárs practising on the appellate side of such Court ;

(b) for the security which they may be required to give for their honesty and good conduct ; and

(c) as to their powers and duties ; and may prescribe and impose fines for the infringement of such rules not exceeding in any case five hundred rupees ; and such fines, when imposed, may be recovered as if they had been imposed in the exercise of the High Court's ordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

CHAPTER IV.—Of Revenue-Agents.

17. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the qualification, admission and certificates of proper persons to be revenue-agents ;

(b) for the fees to be paid for the examination and admission of such persons ; and

(c) for their suspension and dismissal.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

18. On the admission of any person as a Revenue-agent under section seventeen, the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority shall cause a certificate, signed by such officer as such Authority from time to time appoints in this behalf, to be issued to such person, authorizing him to practise for the period of one year from its date in such offices as may be specified therein.

At the expiration of such period, the holder of the certificate, if he desires to continue to practise, shall be entitled to have his certificate renewed by the Secretary of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, or by any other officer authorized by such Authority in that behalf.

On every such renewal, the certificate then in the possession of such revenue-agent shall be cancelled and retained by such Secretary or other officer.

Every certificate so renewed shall be signed by such Secretary or other officer.

Every officer so renewing a certificate shall notify the renewal to the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority.

19. Every revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under section eighteen, may apply to be enrolled in any revenue-office mentioned herein and situate within the limits of the territory under the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, and, on being so enrolled, may practise in such office as a revenue-agent.

20. Except as provided by any enactment for the time being in force, no person, other than a pleader duly qualified under the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall practise as a revenue-agent in any revenue-office, unless he holds a certificate issued under section eighteen, and has been enrolled in such office :

No person to act as agent in revenue-offices, unless qualified.

Provided that any person duly authorized in this behalf may, with the sanction of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, or of an officer empowered by the Local Government in this behalf, transact all or any business in which his employer may be concerned in any revenue-office :

The sanction mentioned in this section may be general or special, and may at any time be revoked or suspended by such Authority or officer.

21. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may suspend or dismiss any revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under this Act, who is convicted of any criminal offence.

22. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may also, after making such enquiry as it thinks fit, suspend or dismiss any revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under this Act who is guilty of fraudulent or grossly improper conduct in the discharge of his professional duty, or of giving, receiving or retaining commission on remuneration paid to any legal practitioner, or for any other reasonable cause.

23. If any revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under this Act is charged with any such conduct in any office subordinate to the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, or in the Court of any Munsif, the officer at the head of such office, or such Munsif, as the case may be, shall send him a copy of the charge and also a notice that, on a day to be therein appointed, such charge will be taken into consideration.

Such copy and notice shall be served upon the person charged at least ten days before the day so appointed. On such day or on any other day to which the enquiry may be adjourned, the officer or Munsif shall receive all evidence properly produced in support of the charge, or by the person

If the officer or Munsif finds the charge established and considers that the person charged should be suspended or dismissed in consequence, he shall record his finding, and the grounds thereof, and report the same to the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority; and such Authority shall proceed to acquit, suspend or dismiss him.

Where any officer acting under this section is subordinate to the Commissioner of a Division, he shall forward the report through such Commissioner, who shall accompany the same with an expression of his own opinion on the case.

24. The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, in any case in which a revenue-agent has been acquitted under section twenty-three, otherwise than by an order of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, may call for the record and pass such order thereon as seems fit.

25. Whenever a revenue-agent who has been dismissed or suspended by order of the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority is also a mukhtár holding a certificate under this Act, the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority shall forward a report of the case to the High Court by which he was admitted.

Such Court, after making any enquiry which it thinks necessary, may suspend or dismiss him as such mukhtár.

CHAPTER V.—Of Certificates.

26. For every certificate, whether original or renewed, issued under this Act, a fee of the amount prescribed therefor in the second schedule hereto annexed, shall be paid by the person entitled to such certificate.

27. When any pleader, mukhtár or revenue-agent is suspended or dismissed under this Act, he shall forthwith deliver up his certificate to the Court, or officer at the head of the office, before or in which he was practising at the time he was so suspended or dismissed, or to any Court or officer to which the High Court or Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority (as the case may be) orders him to deliver the same.

CHAPTER VI.—Of the Remuneration of Pleaders, Mukhtárs and Revenue-Agents.

28. The High Court shall from time to time fix and regulate the fees payable by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader or vakíl upon all proceedings (a) on the appellate side of such Court, (b) in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter, on its original side, and (c) in the subordinate Courts.

The Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority shall from time to time fix and regulate the fees payable upon all proceedings in the revenue-offices by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader or revenue-agent.

Tables of the fees so fixed shall be published in the local official Gazette.

Nothing in this section applies to the agents mentioned in the proviso to section twenty.

29. All persons employing pleaders, mukhtárs or revenue-agents shall be at liberty to settle with them muneration to be paid for their professional services; and it shall not be necessary to specify such agreement in the power under which such pleaders, mukhtárs or revenue-agents for the time being act. Such agreements shall not be enforced otherwise than by suit.

CHAPTER VII.—Penalties.

30. Any person who appears, pleads, acts or practises in any Court or office in contravention of the provisions of section ten or section twenty, shall be liable, by order of such Court, or the officer at the head of such office, to a fine not exceeding ten times the amount of the fee required by this Act to be paid for a certificate authorizing him to appear, plead, act or practise in such Court or office, and, in default of payment, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to six months.

He shall also be incapable of maintaining any suit for, or enforcing any lien in respect of, any fee or reward for, or in respect of, anything done, or any disbursement made, by him as pleader or mukhtár or revenue-agent whilst he has been contravening the provisions of either of such sections.

31. Any pleader, mukhtár or revenue-agent failing to deliver up his certificate as required by section twenty-seven, shall be liable, by order of the Court, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees and, in default of payment, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to three months.

Authority or officer to which or to whom, or according to whose orders, the delivery should be made, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees and, in default of payment, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to three months.

32. Any pleader, mukhtár or revenue-agent who, under the provisions of this Act, has been suspended or dismissed, and who, during such suspension or after such dismissal, practises as a pleader or mukhtár or revenue-agent in any Court or office, shall be liable, by order of such Court, or the officer at the head of such office, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees and, in default of payment, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to six months.

33. Every order under section thirty, thirty-one or thirty-two shall be subject to revision, by the High Court, where the order has been passed by a subordinate Court, and by the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, where the order has been passed by an officer subordinate to such Authority.

CHAPTER VIII.—Miscellaneous.

34. To facilitate the ascertainment of the qualifications respectively mentioned in sections six and seventeen, the Local Government shall from time to time appoint persons to be examiners for the purposes aforesaid, and make regulations for conducting such examinations.

35. Except as provided by sections four, five, sixteen and twenty-eight, nothing in this Act applies to advocates, vakíls and attorneys admitted and enrolled by any High Court under the Letters Patent by which such Court is

26	Gya, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. The highest reading of the thermometer in the shade was 86° 4°. The prospects of rubbee continue the same, but a good fall of rain is wanted. A good many cases of small-pox have been reported. The health of the plough-cattle is good.
27	Shahabad, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—cool in the morning. Getting warm daily. The rubbee crops are suffering for want of rain. Small-pox is prevalent in the Sasseram sub-division.
28	Durbhanga „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Rain is much wanted throughout the district. Prices are stationary. Health of the people is generally good.
29	Mozufferpore, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—mild, with west wind. The prospects of the rubbee crops on good lands are fair, but the crops are very thin and poor elsewhere.
30	Saran, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—less cold than last week. West wind (favourable to the rubbee crops) is prevailing. The continued drought is doing much harm to the cold-weather crops. Rahur , masur , and peas have suffered considerable injury from the effect of the frost. Poppy is in flower. Prices are stationary. Public health is good.
31	Bhamparan, „ 8 „	Nil	High east and west winds. Weather warmer. No change to report in the state and prospects of the crops. The rubbee crops are urgently in need of rain.
32	Monghyr, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—growing warmer; dry west winds prevail. The crops are in excellent condition.
33	Bhagulpore, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—getting warm. Mustard is being gathered. Other rubbee crops are thriving well, but would improve by rain. Prices are high for the season. General health is good. A few cases of small-pox are reported from the interior.
34	Purneah „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—fine. The rubbee crops are good, but rain is wanted.
35	Maldah, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—fair. The reaping of the paddy crop is nearly over. The wheat, barely, and rubbee plants are thriving well. The public health is improving with the blowing of the western breeze.
36	Sonthal Pergah, „ 9 „	Nil	Weather—dry, hot, and hazy till the morning of the 9th, when clouds came up and a few drops of rain fell. The rubbee crops want rain.

No	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.

	38 Pooree, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Sultry at Khoorda. The harvesting of the sarad rice continues. The dama rice is progressing fairly. Common rice sells at 15½ to 21 seers for the rupee. Public health is good.

CHOTA NAGPORE.
South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, Feb. 7 '79	Nil	Weather—fine and in the day time warm. The nights are still cool. The state of the rubbee crops is generally fair, though in parts of the district damage has been done by frost.
41	Lohardugga, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—becoming warm during the day with occasional high winds. The rahur crop has partially suffered from frosts, but other rubbee crops promise well. Fever is still very prevalent in the Palamow sub-division.
42	Singbhoom, „ 7 „	Nil	Weather—warm for the time of the year. No change to report. Rain is much required generally, and particularly for the mango, which is now coming into blossom.
43	Manbhoom, „ 8 „	Nil	Weather—very warm and most unseasonable. The crops continue good, but the large exportation is sending the price of rice up. 16 or 17 seers per rupee is the current price of common rice. General health continues good.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; f, fog; w, dew.

results of the observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with those of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet above Alipore, and, the other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1° or 1½° lower; but, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0.6° higher than the Kew thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

At a Half-yearly General Meeting of Subscribers to the Bengal Civil Fund, held at the Town Hall, Calcutta, on Wednesday, the 29th January 1879.

PRESENT :—The Hon'ble W. F. McDonell, v.c. ; W. Waterfield, Esq. ; the Hon'ble H. T. Prinsep ; C. E. Bernard, Esq., c.s.i. ; H. L. Harrison, Esq., the Hon'ble J. O'Kinealy ; R. H. Pawsey, Esq. ; J. Westland, Esq. ; T. W. Gribble, Esq. ; W. H. Grimley, Esq. ; J. G. Charles, Esq. ; J. Scobell Armstrong, Esq. ; Colman Macaulay, Esq., C. E. Buckland, Esq.

R. H. Pawsey, Esq., in the Chair.

The following report was submitted by the Managers :—

REPORT.

1. The Managers submit their proceedings for the past half-year for the consideration and sanction of the Meeting.

2. Subject to the approval of the subscribers, they have admitted to the benefits of the Fund the following families :—

Widow	300
4 Children	230
Total	530
Widow	300
2 Daughters	200
Total	500
Widow	300
2 Sons	60
Less one-sixth under Rule 7	00
Total	300

The widow and four children (two sons and two daughters) of the late Mr. V. T. Taylor, who died at Hazareebagh on the 9th March last.

The widow and two daughters of the late Mr. A. R. Young (annuitant of 1862), who died in England on the 23rd October last.

The widow of the late Mr. E. H. C. Monekton (annuitant of 1857), who died in England on the 24th July last.

The widow and two sons of the late Mr. E. S. Moseley, who died at Pubna on the 12th December last.

3. Mr. A. C. Tute has applied for remission of the fine of Rs. 50 incurred under article V of the rules for not reporting the birth of a son within one month of its occurrence. He explains that the cause of the delay of six weeks in reporting the birth was the severe illness of his wife, whose life was despaired of during that time. The Managers have informed Mr. Tute that they will submit his case for the decision of the Meeting.

4. Mr. J. Power, who retired on the 24th March last, has objected to pay the subscription due from the date of resignation up to 1st November 1878, the date on which the composition of £119 was paid. He asks for consideration of this matter on the following grounds :—

1st.—That he had not left India on the 17th April, the date of the Fund letter, and he could then have compounded had the letter been forwarded to Shajehanpore instead of to Messrs. Coutts & Co.

2nd.—That when he received the letter he referred to Messrs. Coutts & Co. to know what sum he ought to pay, but they could give no information.

The Managers have informed him that they had no means of knowing that he proposed to remain in India after his retirement, and that the payment of composition is a matter left open to the subscriber, whereas that of subscription at half rates is imperative. It is for retiring subscribers who desire to compound to ascertain the amount of composition payable in each case. This is not a fixed sum, but has to be calculated in the Fund office from actuarial tables, and varies according to the age of the subscriber, and, if he is married and has a family, according to the ages of the different members of his family. Mr. Power, however, did not communicate in any way with the Fund office regarding his subscription. Under these circumstances the subscription, £7-11-2, is clearly due, and should be paid to the agents of the Fund.

5. Lord William Hay, who retired on an invalid annuity on the 27th September 1865, wishes to make up his balance to Rs. 12,500, and thus secure for his family the half benefits of the Fund. He says—

"I continued my subscriptions to the Fund under the impression that the deductions made up to my retirement with the accumulations of interest would entitle me to the scale of half benefits, with which scale I was satisfied. In the present year I have married and have given due notice and made the required payments on this event. But I have been informed that the amount standing to my credit with the Fund at the date of my retirement was £38 (more or less) short of the amount entitling me to the half scale of benefits. I have now to request permission to pay this amount with such back interest as the Managers may determine. I need scarcely assure the Managers that the omission to make this payment earlier has arisen from ignorance and inadvertence only; and I trust that they will not on account of an inadvertent delay in the payment of so small a sum hold me deprived of the half benefits to which the deductions made from my pay and allowances during my service would otherwise entitle me."

As Lord William Hay had been informed at the time of retirement of the sum payable, the Managers have told him that by article VIII of the rules, which permits retiring subscribers to make up their balances to the prescribed minima, that option can be exercised at the time of retirement only, and that they have no authority to carry the privilege further.

6. The facts of the case of Miss Amy Augusta Lawford, eldest daughter of the late Mr. H. B. Lawford, were submitted at the last general meeting. The managers have recently received intimation that the decree annulling Miss Lawford's marriage with Captain Davies has been made absolute. They will therefore recommend to the subscribers Miss Lawford's admission to the benefits of the Fund, with effect from the date of her father's death, on payment of all arrears of subscription on her account then due, with interest. As the case is not distinctly provided for under the rules, two months' notice of this proposal must be given under article XVII, and this will accordingly be done.

7. Mr. H. F. Bartlett has reported that he has been divorced from his wife, and applied to subscribe at reduced rates as a widower subscriber from July last. He has intimated that the decree nisi has been made absolute, and the Managers have informed him that he may subscribe at widower rates from that date.

8. As requested at the last Meeting, the Managers have taken into consideration the effect on the revenue of the Fund of the despatch of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State, dated 17th January 1878, amending supplement A of the Civil Pension Code rules, whereby a Civil Servant resigning the service vacates any office under the Government which he may then hold, and excepting from the rule the office of Viceroy and Governor-General of India, Governor of Madras, Governor of Bombay, and Ordinary Members of the Council of the Governor-General. The Managers have thought it unnecessary to take any action on the despatch.

9. In accordance with articles XLII and XLIII of the Rules the Managers lay on the table the result of the quinquennial valuation of the assets and liabilities of the Fund for the period ending 1st March 1878. They have heard from Mr. E. F. Harrison that the actuary is actively engaged in the valuation, and will shortly submit his report.

10. The accounts of the year 1877-78 are submitted.

Proposed by Mr. J. Scobell Armstrong, seconded by Mr. C. E. Buckland, and carried—

"That the Managers' proceedings in admitting the families of the late Messrs. V. T. Taylor, A. R. Young, E. H. C. Monckton, and E. S. Moseley, to the benefits of the Fund be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. Westland, second by Mr. O'Kinealy, and carried—

"That Mr. Tute be informed that the rule as to fine for failure to report birth being absolute, the meeting regret that the fine imposed upon him cannot be remitted."

Proposed by Mr. H. L. Harrison, seconded by Mr. C. E. Buckland, and carried—

"That the reply of the Managers to Mr. J. Power be approved."

Proposed by Mr. C. E. Buckland, seconded by Mr. H. L. Harrison, and carried—

"That the reply of the Managers to Lord William Hay be approved."

Proposed by Mr. Grimley, seconded by Mr. Prinsep, and carried—

"That the accounts of the past year 1877-78, be approved."

Proposed by Mr. Gribble, seconded by Mr. Charles, and carried—

"That the following gentlemen be elected Managers for the ensuing year:—The Hon'ble L. S. Jackson, C.I.F.; the Hon'ble C. T. Buckland; the Hon'ble W. F. McDonell, v.c.; the Hon'ble C. O'Kinealy; and W. M. Souttar, Esq."

A vote of thanks to the Chairman was proposed by Mr. J. G. Charles, seconded by Mr. J. Scobell Armstrong, and carried.

PART III.

Acts of the Bengal Council.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

THE following Act, passed by the Lieutenant-governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 14th March 1878; and having been assented to by the Governor-general on the 22nd January 1879, is hereby published for general information:—

ACT No. I OF 1879.

An Act to amend the procedure in suits between Landlords and Tenants in Chota Nagpore.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the procedure in suits between landlords and tenants in Chota Nagpore: It is enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called "The Chota Nagpore Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act;"

It extends to the territories for the time being under the administration of the Commissioner of the division of Chota Nagpore, except the district of Manbhoom and the Tributary Mehals.

And it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Civil Jail" includes the civil jail of the district, and any place appointed by the local Government for the confinement of prisoners under this Act.

"The Commissioner" and "Judicial Commissioner" mean respectively the Commissioner and Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

"Deputy Collector."

"Nazir" means any officer of a Court authorized to serve or execute its process.

"Section."

"Section" means a Section of this Act.

3. On and from the commencement of this Act, the enactments specified in Schedule A hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the said Schedule.

4. All suits or proceedings, of the nature provided for by this Act, which, before the commencement of this Act, shall have been instituted before any Deputy Commissioner or other officer having jurisdiction under any enactment hereby repealed, shall be heard and decided, so far as may be, under this Act.

5. Every ryot is entitled to receive, from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable, a pottah containing the following particulars:—

the quantity and boundaries of land; and where fields have been numbered in a Government survey, the number of each field;

the amount of annual rent;

the instalments in which the same is to be paid; any special conditions of the lease; and (if the rent is payable wholly or partially in kind), the proportion or quantity of produce to be delivered, and the time and manner of delivery.

6. Every ryot, who has cultivated or held land for a period of twelve years, has a right of occupancy in the land so cultivated or held by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to the classes of lands locally known as majhahas, man, or saika; nor to khamar, nijjote, or scer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure, and let by him on lease for a term, or year by year.

The holding of the father, or other person from whom a ryot inherits, shall be deemed to be the holding of the ryot within the meaning of this section.

7. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the cultivation of land entered into between a landholder and a ryot, when it contains any express stipulation contrary thereto.

8. Ryots having rights of occupancy are entitled to receive pottahs at fair and equitable rates. In case of dispute, the rate previously paid by the ryot shall be deemed to be fair and equitable, unless the contrary be shown in an enquiry under section 24.

9. Ryots not having rights of occupancy are entitled to pottahs only at such rates, and on such conditions, as may be agreed on between them and the persons to whom the rent is payable.

10. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kuboooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah.

The tender to any ryot of a pottah, such as the ryot is entitled to receive, shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kuboooliyet from such ryot.

11. Every under-tenant or ryot, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, or payable under this Act, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent, damages not exceeding double the amount so exacted or paid.

12. Receipts for rent shall specify the year or years on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

13. If any under-tenant or ryot shall, at the mal kutcherry for the receipt of rents, or other place where the rents of the land held or cultivated by him are usually payable, tender payment of what he shall consider to be the full amount of rent due from him at the date of the tender to the zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of such land; and if the amount so tendered shall not be accepted, and a receipt in full forthwith granted, the under-tenant or ryot may, whether a suit shall have been instituted against him or not, within one month from the date of such tender, deposit

such amount, in the court of the Deputy Commissioner having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for such rent, to the credit of the zemindar or other person aforesaid;

and such deposit shall, so far as the under-tenant or ryot, and all persons claiming through or under him are concerned, in all respects operate as and have the full effect of a payment then made by the under-tenant or ryot, of the amount deposited to the credit of such zemindar or other person.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall receive such deposit on the written application of the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent; and on the under-tenant, or ryot, or his agent, making a declaration in the form, or as nearly as circumstances will admit, in the form set forth in Schedule B hereto annexed, the Deputy Commissioner shall give a receipt for the same.

The Deputy Commissioner shall, within seven days from the date of the deposit, issue a notice to the person to whose credit it has been deposited, in the form set forth in Schedule C hereto annexed.

If the person to whom such notice is issued, or his duly authorized agent, shall appear and apply that the money in deposit be paid to him, it shall be immediately made over to him.

15. Whenever such deposit shall have been made, no suit shall be brought against the person making the same or his representatives, on account of any rent which accrued due prior to the date of the deposit, unless such suit be instituted within six months from the date of the service of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section.

16. All zemindars and other landholders are prohibited from compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose, and from adopting any means of compulsion for enforcing payment of the rent due to them other than those authorized by this Act.

17. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant or ryot by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant or ryot shall be entitled to recover such damages, not exceeding two hundred rupees, as may be deemed a reasonable compensation for the injury done him by such extortion.

An award of compensation under this section shall not bar or affect any penalty or punishment to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

18. No dependent talookdar or other person possessing a permanent transferable interest in land, intermediate between the proprietor of an estate and the ryots, who holds his talook or tenure (otherwise than under a terminable lease) at a fixed rent which has not been changed from the time of the permanent settlement, shall be liable to any enhancement of such rent, anything in section fifty-one, Regulation VIII, 1793, or in any other law, to the contrary notwithstanding.

19. No tenant of lands known as bhuinhari or

khodkatti shall be liable to any enhancement of the rent previously paid by him for such lands, unless it be shown that the tenure has been treated within twenty years before the institution of the suit to enhance the rent of the said lands;

and where enhancement of the rent of such tenure is decreed, the rent assessed shall not exceed one-half of the rent paid by an ordinary ryot with a right of occupancy on the same class of land with similar advantages.

20. No tenant of lands known as korkor, baebullah, khundwut, sujhut, jalsasun, and ariat shall be liable to any enhancement of rent, except under the terms of a written contract, or in accordance with the general custom prevailing with respect to such lands in the village in which they are situated.

21. No other under-tenant or ryot having a right of occupancy shall be liable to any enhancement of the rent previously paid by him, otherwise than in the manner provided by the three next succeeding sections.

22. Any person wishing to enhance the rent

Petition to be made to Deputy Commissioner.

previously paid to him by any such under-tenant or ryot may present a petition to the Deputy Commissioner to assess the rent on the land in respect of which such enhancement is sought, and (if necessary) to measure the same.

23. Such petition shall specify;

Particulars to be specified.

the present rent of the under-tenant or ryot against whom the application is made; the general rate prevailing in the village for different classes of lands; the date (as nearly as it can be ascertained) when the rate was last adjusted in the village; the rate which the applicant desires to demand; and the grounds on which he considers that he is entitled to enhancement.

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

24. On receipt of such petition the Deputy

Procedure on receipt of petition.

Commissioner shall forthwith give notice of the contents thereof to the under-tenant or ryot holding the land in respect of which enhancement is sought, and may (if necessary) order the same to be measured, and may upon consideration of all the circumstances set forth in the petition, and after hearing any objection which may be advanced against the proposed enhancement by the said under-tenant or ryot, fix such enhanced rent, or may otherwise alter or vary the rent for the said land as to him may seem fair and reasonable for such period, not being less than ten nor more than twenty years, as he may think fit;

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such undertenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of such under-tenant or ryot

to claim at any time an abatement of the rent previously paid by him under the provisions of section 27.

25. When lands are held subject to any

Commutation of conditions or services to which lands may be subject.

conditions or services other than or besides the payment of a rent in money, the tenant of such lands, or the person who has the right to receive the rents and services issuing from such lands, may apply in writing to the Deputy Commissioner for the commutation of all such conditions or services.

of occupancy, and wishing to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him, may present a petition to the Deputy Commissioner to assess the rent on the land in respect of which such abatement is sought, and (if necessary) to measure the same.

Such petition shall specify the particulars mentioned in section 23, and the grounds on which such under-tenant or ryot considers that he is entitled to such abatement.

The provisions of sections 49 and 50 shall apply to all such applications.

28. On receipt of such petition the Deputy

and the rent so fixed or varied shall be payable by such under-tenant or ryot from the commencement of the local year following the year in which the order is passed, and may be recovered in any suit preferred against him for arrears of the same.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to bar the right of the person to whom the rent of such under-tenant or ryot is payable to claim at any time an enhancement of the rent of such under-tenant or ryot under the provisions of section 22.

29. Any ryot may relinquish the land held

or cultivated by him, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the land, or his authorized agent, in or before the month of Pous of the year preceding that in which the relinquishment is to have effect.

If he fails to give such notice, and the land is not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the land.

If the person entitled to the rent of the land or his agent refuses to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, the ryot may make an application to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall thereupon cause the notice to be served on such person or his agent.

30. Any instalment of rent which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there is no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act, and in the absence of any written agreement to the contrary, shall be liable to interest at six per centum per annum.

31. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot at the end of the Bengal or Sambut year, or at the end of the month of Jeth of the Fusly or Willayuttee year, as the case may be, such ryot shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due, but only in execution of a decree or order passed under the provisions of this Act.

32. When an arrear of rent is adjudged to be due from any farmer or other leaseholder not having a permanent or transferable interest in the land, the lease of such leaseholder shall be liable to be cancelled, and the leaseholder to be ejected.

Provided that no such lease shall be cancelled, nor the leaseholder ejected, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

33. Every proprietor of an estate or tenure, or other person in receipt of the rents of an estate or tenure, has a right to make a general survey or measurement of the lands comprised in such estate or tenure, unless restrained from doing so by express engagement with the occupants of the lands.

If any person intending to measure any land which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any under-tenant or ryot, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land,

such person may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and, if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such under-tenant or ryot.

If any under-tenant or ryot, after the issue of an order enjoining his attendance, neglects to attend, it shall not be competent to him to contest the correctness of the measurement made in his absence.

34. Every zemindar or superior tenant is required to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to all such transfers.

Application for the registration of all such successions as may have occurred previously to the commencement of this Act shall be made within two years from the commencement thereof, and for future successions within one year from the date on which the succession occurred; and if such application be not made within the period herein specified, the zemindar or superior tenant may apply to the Deputy Commissioner to put him in possession of the talook or tenure.

On receipt of such application the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a notice to the talookdar or tenure-holder in possession, requiring him to register the transfer within three months from the receipt of the notice, and if he neglects or refuses so to register, the Deputy Commissioner may, on proof to his satisfaction being given of the service of the notice, put the zemindar or superior tenant aforesaid in possession of the talook or tenure.

35. The provisions of the last preceding section shall also be applicable to the sale of such under-tenures as are mentioned in section 123, and to the sale of the right and title of any person under section 124.

36. If any zemindar or superior tenant refuses to admit to registry or otherwise to give effect to any such transfer as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections, the transferee may make application to the Deputy Commissioner, and the Deputy Commissioner shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and if no sufficient grounds are shown for the refusal, shall pass an order enjoining the zemindar or superior tenant to admit to registry and otherwise give effect to such transfer.

Provided that no zemindar or superior tenant shall be required to admit to registry, or give effect to any division or distribution of the rent payable on account of any such tenures, nor shall any such division or distribution of rent be valid, without the consent in writing of the zemindar or superior tenant.

38. The Deputy Commissioner may, with the consent of the parties, refer any suit under this Act to arbitration, and the provisions of sections 506 to 522 (both inclusive) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

39. In every suit under this Act, of the nature of those specified in the first, second, third, or fourth clauses of section 37, and in applications for enhancement, abatement or measurement under sections 22, 27 or 33, any number of ryots or other tenants may sue or be sued collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing the suit or refusing to hear the application that such ryots or other tenants are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided that all such ryots or other tenants hold land in the same village;

but no order shall be passed in such case, unless the officer making the same is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them;

and if at any time it shall appear to the Deputy Commissioner that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, the Deputy Commissioner may order a separate trial to be held.

40. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the first clause of the last preceding section shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots or other tenants named in the order shall be affected thereby.

44. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Sambut year, or from the last day of the Jeth of the Fusly or Willayuttee year, in which the arrear claimed shall have become due.

45. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent, or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent.

Provided that, if the person having the right to sue shall, by means of fraud, have been kept from the knowledge of the receipt of any such money by the agent, or if any fraudulent account shall have been rendered by the agent, the suit may be brought within one year from the time when the fraud shall have been first known to such person; but no such suit shall in any case be brought at any time exceeding three years from the termination of the agency.

48. If the suit is for the ejectment of a ryot, farmer, or tenant from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement of claim shall specify (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same, and (if necessary for the identification of the land), the boundaries of such land.

49. The statement of claim shall be presented by the plaintiff, or by an authorized agent of the plaintiff who has personal knowledge of the facts of the case, or by an agent who shall be accompanied by a person who has such knowledge.

50. The statement of claim shall be subscribed and verified at the foot by the plaintiff or his agent in the manner following, or to the like effect:—

I, A. B., do declare that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

51. If the plaintiff relies in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of presenting his statement of claim.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff.

Unless such document be delivered or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

52. If the plaintiff requires the production of any document in the possession or power of the defendant, he may, at the time of presenting his statement of claim, deliver to the Deputy Commissioner a description of the document in order that the defendant may be required to produce the same.

Plaintiff may require production of document from defendant.

53. If the statement of claim does not contain the several particulars hereinbefore required to be specified therein, or is not subscribed and verified as hereinbefore required, the Deputy Commissioner may return the statement to the plaintiff, or at his discretion allow it to be amended.

Statement may be returned or allowed to be amended.

54. If the statement of claim is in proper form, the Deputy Commissioner, except as otherwise hereinafter specially provided, shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff requires the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Deputy Commissioner of his own accord requires such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons; otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf, who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a person who has such personal knowledge.

It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process, and shall be in the form contained in Schedule D hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

56. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or, if a warrant is issued as provided in the next succeeding section, of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Deputy Commissioner.

Cost of serving summons or warrant to be deposited in court.

If the said amount be not so deposited the case shall not be brought on the file of suits: but in such case the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period prescribed by this Act for the limitation of suits.

57. If in any suit against an under-tenant or ryot for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, such defendant being resident within the district in which the suit is instituted, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant.

Warrant of arrest in what cases to be issued.

When such application is presented, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be prima facie grounds for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that, if a summons be issued, the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim, the Deputy Commissioner may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

The Deputy Commissioner shall fix a reasonable time for the return of the warrant, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule E hereto annexed, or to the like effect, and the officer entrusted with the service of the warrant shall at the time of arresting the defendant deliver to him a notice addressed to the defendant, which shall be in the form in the Schedule F hereto annexed, or to the like effect, containing the particulars of the claim, and requiring the defendant, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence.

62. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be postponed prior to the recording of an issue for trial as hereinafter provided, neither of the parties appears in person or by an agent, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit, unless precluded by the provisions for the limitation of suits contained in this Act.

63. If on any such day the defendant only

If defendant only appears to dispute the demand, Deputy Commissioner shall pass judgment by default; but if defendant admit the claim, Deputy Commissioner shall decree upon such admission.

appears, the Deputy Commissioner shall pass judgment against the plaintiff by default, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, in which case the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs; provided that such judgment, if there be more than one defendant, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

64. If on any such day the plaintiff only

If plaintiff only appear, Deputy Commissioner may proceed ex parte.

65. If the defendant appears on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding section, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

66. No appeal shall lie from a judgment passed ex parte against a defendant who has not appeared, or from a judgment against a plaintiff by default for non-appearance.

But in all such cases, if the party against whom judgment has been given appears, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Deputy Commissioner's order, and if a defendant within fifteen days after any process for enforcing the judgment has been executed, or at any earlier period, and shows sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and satisfies the Deputy Commissioner that there has been a failure of justice, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case.

But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the opposite party to appear and be heard in support of it.

67. In all cases in which the Deputy Commis-

Order to set aside judgment shall be final, but rejection of application to set it aside shall be appealable.

sioner shall pass an order for setting aside a judgment, the order shall be final; but in all appealable cases in which the Deputy Commissioner shall reject the application, an appeal shall lie from the order of rejection to the tribunal to which the final decision in the suit would be appealable; provided that the appeal be preferred within the time allowed for an appeal from such final decision.

68. When both parties appear in person

On appearance of parties, the parties to be examined by the Deputy Commissioner and may cross-examine each other.

on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner shall proceed to examine them, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other.

If either of the parties is not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any person who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

At the time of examination the defendant, if he think fit, may file a written statement of his defence. Such statement shall be verified in the manner prescribed in section 50.

69. The examination of the parties or their agents, or such other persons as aforesaid, shall be conducted according to the law for the time being in force for the examination of witnesses. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing in the vernacular language of the Deputy Commissioner and filed with the record.

Provided that all examinations of parties and witnesses may be recorded in English, if the Deputy Commissioner be sufficiently acquainted with that language.

70. If either of the parties brings forward a witness on the day aforesaid, the Deputy Commissioner may take the evidence of such witness.

71. If the defendant relies on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into court at the first hearing of the suit; and unless such document is so delivered in, or its non-production is sufficiently excused, or unless the Deputy Commissioner sees fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

72. If after the examination required by section 68, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall make a decree accordingly.

73. If, on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party is unable to answer any material question relating to the case, which the Deputy Commissioner is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Deputy Commissioner may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day;

and if the party so directed to attend fails to appear in person on the day appointed, the Deputy Commissioner may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper under the circumstances of the case.

74. If, on such examination as aforesaid, it appears that the parties are at issue on any question upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Deputy Commissioner shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit;

and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Deputy Commissioner.

75. The parties shall bring forward their witnesses on the day of trial and if either party requires assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence, or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Deputy Commissioner in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Deputy Commissioner shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

76. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents, and to the remuneration and punishment of witnesses, shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, apply to all suits under this Act.

77. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in section 62.

If on any such day one only of the parties appears, the issue may be tried and determined in the absence of the other party, upon such proof as may be then before the court.

78. When suits under this Act are instituted or defended by naibs, gomastahs, or other persons employed in the collection of rent, or management of land, in the name and on the behalf of the landholders by whom they are so employed, all the provisions of this Act, by which the personal appearance or attendance of parties to a suit is or may be required, shall be applicable to such naibs, gomastahs, or other persons; and anything which by this Act is required or permitted to be done by a party in person, may be done by any such person as aforesaid.

Processes served on any such person shall be as effectual for all purposes in relation to the suit as if the same had been served on the landholder in person, and all the provisions of this Act, relative to the service of processes on a party to the suit, shall be applicable to the service of processes on such person.

79. A plaintiff or defendant shall not be required to attend in person if of the female sex, and of a rank or class which, according to the custom and manners of the country, would render it improper for her to appear in public.

80. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent or mookhtar to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent or mookhtar shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the court.

81. The Deputy Commissioner may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence respectively of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof, or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by him, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

82. The Deputy Commissioner may at any stage of a suit cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any officer subordinate to him, or by any other officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person.

The provisions of the law for the time being in force, relative to local enquiries by ameen or commissioners under orders of the civil courts, shall apply to any local enquiry made by any officer under this section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Deputy Commissioner in person.

In the latter case, the Deputy Commissioner, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observations so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

83. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, if he has duly tendered the same to the plaintiff before the institution of the suit, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff without paying in any costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be immediately paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, the plaintiff shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit incurred by the defendant; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with the whole costs of the suit.

84. The defendant in any suit under this Act may, without having made any tender before action brought, pay into court such sum of money as he may consider due to the plaintiff, together with the costs (to be fixed by the court if necessary as upon a suit originally instituted for the amount so paid into court) incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall immediately be paid out of court to the plaintiff.

If after such payment the plaintiff elects to proceed in the suit, and ultimately recovers no further sum than shall have been paid into court, he shall be charged with all costs incurred by the defendant subsequently to such payment; but if the plaintiff ultimately recovers a further sum than shall have been paid into court, the defendant shall be charged with costs as upon a suit originally instituted for the whole amount for which the plaintiff ultimately obtains a decree, but shall have credit thereout for the amount of costs paid into Court by him in the first instance.

85. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of his claim, or fall short thereof.

86. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot having a right of occupancy the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Deputy Commissioner shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper.

Provided that the term shall not in any case be longer than twenty years, and in estates not permanently settled, shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also that, if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend beyond the period of the continuance of such interest.

For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

87. When in any suit between a landholder and a ryot or under-tenant under this Act, the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure cultivated or held by the ryot or under-tenant is disputed, and such right is claimed by or on behalf of a third person, on the ground that such third person, or a person through whom he claims, has actually and in good faith received and enjoyed such rent before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit, such third person shall be made a party to the suit, and the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rent by such third person shall be enquired into, and the suit shall be decided according to the result of such inquiry.

Provided that the decision of the Deputy Commissioner shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in a civil court, if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

88. Any person desiring to eject a ryot, or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancelment and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrears in a suit for such ejectment or cancelment.

In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or the cancelment of a lease, the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear; and if such amount, together with interest and costs of suit, be paid into court within fifteen days from the date of the decree, execution shall be stayed.

89. The Deputy Commissioner shall pronounce judgment in open court. Judgment how to be pronounced. The judgment shall be written in the vernacular and that he has not, before the institution of the suit, tendered such amount to the plaintiff or his duly authorized agent, or, in case of refusal of the plaintiff or such agent to receive the amount tendered, has not deposited such amount with the Deputy Commissioner before the institution of the suit in manner hereinbefore mentioned, the court may award to the plaintiff, in addition to the amount decreed for rent and costs, such damages, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the amount of rent decreed, as the court may think fit;

and such damages, if awarded, as well as the amount of rent and costs decreed in the suit, shall carry interest from the date of decree until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable.

91. In any suit for rent under this Act, if it appears to the court that the plaintiff has instituted the suit against the defendant without reasonable or probable cause, or that the defendant, before the institution of the suit, duly deposited with the Deputy Commissioner in the manner hereinafter mentioned the full amount which the court shall find to have been due to the plaintiff at the date of such deposit, the court may award to the defendant by way of compensation such sum, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the whole amount claimed by the plaintiff, as the court may think fit;

and such sum, with interest until payment thereof at such rate per centum as the Deputy Commissioner deems reasonable, shall be recoverable from the plaintiff in like manner as sums decreed to be paid by defendants under this Act.

92. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuses or delays to grant the same, the Deputy Commissioner may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

93. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet refuses to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Deputy Commissioner shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

94. If the decree is for the ejection of any ryot from land occupied by him, or for the reinstatement of any ryot in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by giving the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy.

If any opposition is made to the execution of the order for giving such possession or occupancy by the party against whom the order is made, the Deputy Commissioner, in the exercise of his powers as a Magistrate, shall give effect to the same.

Procedure in case of opposition to execution.

95. If the decree is for the cancelment of any lease, or the ejection of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator), or for the reinstatement of any farmer or other such person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by proclaiming the substance of the decree to the cultivators or other occupants by beat of drum, or in such other manner as may be customary, and affixing the same in some conspicuous place within, or adjacent to, the farm or tenure.

96. If the decree is for arrears of rent, or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant has been committed to jail, or appears pursuant to the conditions of any security-bond given under section 59, the Deputy Commissioner may order that he be detained in, or committed to, the civil jail, unless he immediately pay into court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

97. If the judgment-debtor has given security for his appearance, and is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due from the debtor had been passed against the surety.

If the decree is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the defendant is not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety fails to deliver him into custody when required so to do, execution may be taken out against the surety for the sum due under the bond in the same manner as if a decree for that sum had been passed against the surety.

98. The provisions relating to attachment before judgment, contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, are hereby extended to all suits under this Act.

99. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor, but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property.

Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form contained in Schedule H or I hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

100. Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list, he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs.

In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out to the officer entrusted with the execution of the process, by the creditor or his agent.

101. Every warrant of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Deputy Commissioner, and shall continue in force for such period as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, not being more than sixty days from such date.

102. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Deputy Commissioner on the application of the judgment-creditor, after the expiration of the period fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant.

103. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if, when application for the issue of the process is made, a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment, or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

104. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party, without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

105. No process of execution of any description whatsoever shall be issued on a judgment under this Act, unless an application be made within three years from the date of such judgment.

106. If a warrant is issued for taking in execution the body of any person, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall bring him with all convenient speed before the Deputy Commissioner.

If such person does not then deposit in court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment-creditor, or satisfy the Deputy Commissioner that he has no present means of paying the debt, the Deputy Commissioner shall send him to the civil jail, there to remain for such time as shall be directed, by a warrant addressed to the keeper of the jail, unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount for the payment of which he is liable under the decree.

Provided that no person shall be imprisoned in execution of a decree under this Act for a longer period than six months;

or for a longer period than six weeks, if the decree is for the payment of a sum of money not exceeding fifty rupees.

If the decree against any person arrested under a warrant is for the delivery of papers or accounts, and the papers or accounts are not delivered by him when he is brought before the Deputy Commissioner, such person may be committed to the civil jail, there to remain for such time, not exceeding six months, as the Deputy Commissioner shall direct, unless he shall in the mean time deliver the papers or accounts according to the terms of the decree.

107. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment.

If the amount due under the decree does not exceed fifty rupees, the Deputy Commissioner may declare such discharged person absolved from liability under that decree.

In other cases the discharge shall not extinguish the liability of the discharged person under the decree, or exempt property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

108. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under section 57, or suing out process of execution against the body of any person, shall deposit in court, at the time of issue of the warrant, diet-money for thirty days at such rate as the Deputy Commissioner may direct.

109. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previously to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

110. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

111. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the officer charged with the execution of the writ shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment-creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held, together with a copy of the said list, at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor.

A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Deputy Commissioner and shall be affixed in his office.

Until the day of sale, the said property shall remain in the custody of the officer attaching the same.

112. The sale shall be held at the place where the property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, haut, or other place of public resort, if the officer holding the sale is of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage.

The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the officer holding the sale may think advisable; and if the judgment-debt with the costs of the execution and sale is satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the execution shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

113. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price, in the estimation of the officer holding the sale, is not offered for it, and the owner of the property, or some person authorized to act on his behalf, applies to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day, if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered for the property.

114. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale, or as soon after as the officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment, the property shall be put up again and sold.

When the purchase-money has been paid in full, the officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

115. From the proceeds of the sale of the property, the officer holding the sale shall make a deduction, at the rate of one anna in the rupee, on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Deputy Commissioner in order that it may be credited to Government.

The said officer shall then pay to the judgment-creditor the expenses incurred by the judgment-creditor on account of the preparation of the list, and of the publication of the proclamation of sale prescribed in section 111, to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the judgment-creditor, he thinks proper to allow.

The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the debt for which the sale was made, with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any surplus, it shall be delivered to the person whose property has been sold.

116. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by, or subordinate to such officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such officers.

117. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken.

118. If before the day fixed for the sale, a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner, and claims a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party or his agent according to the law for the time being in force relating to the examination of witnesses, and if he see sufficient reason for so doing, may stay the sale of such property.

119. The Deputy Commissioner shall adjudicate upon such claim, and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit, as shall to him seem fit.

In trying such claim the Deputy Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as they may be applicable.

120. If the claimant fails to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Deputy Commissioner at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant, as part of the costs, such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

121. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Deputy Commissioner under the last two preceding sections. But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall not be for the recovery of the property, but for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

122. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but nothing contained in this section shall be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

123. If the decree is for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure, which, by the title deeds, or the custom of the country, is transferable, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and, with the sanction of the Commissioner, but not otherwise, the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the provision for the sale of under-tenures contained in Bengal Act VIII of 1865.

But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force.

If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immovable, belonging to the debtor, and a such immovable property may be brought to sale in the manner provided in section 129.

124. No under-tenure which is held conditionally on the survival of heirs male of the grantee, and which, on failure of such heirs, reverts to the grantor free of all encumbrances made subsequent to the date of the grant, shall be sold under this Act.

Provided that the right and title of any person in such tenure may be sold with the sanction of the Commissioner.

125. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as is mentioned in section 123, or of the right and title of any person in an under-tenure of the nature described in section 124,

a third party appears before the Deputy Commissioner and alleges that such third party, and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained, is the proprietor of such under-tenure, and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine such party in the manner provided in section 118; and if he sees sufficient reason for so doing, and such party deposits in court the amount of the decree, or gives sufficient security for the same, the Deputy Commissioner shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

Provided that no transfer of an under-tenure, which, by the provisions of this Act or any other law for the time being in force, is required to be registered in the sherishtch of the zemindar or superior tenant, shall be recognized, unless it has been so registered, or unless sufficient cause for non-registration is shown to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner.

126. In trying such claim the Deputy Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Deputy Commissioner on such claim shall not be subject to appeal, but the party against whom it is given may bring a suit in the civil court to establish his right, at any time within one year from the date of the judgment.

127. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer in a joint undivided estate, dependent talook, or other similar tenure, for money due to him on account of his share of the rent of an under-tenure situate in such undivided estate, talook, or tenure, application for the sale of such under-tenure shall not be received, unless execution shall have been first taken out against any moveable property which the judgment-debtor may possess within the district in which the suit was instituted, and the sale of such property, if any, shall have proved insufficient to satisfy the judgment.

In such case the under-tenure, if of the nature described in section 123, and not of the nature described in section 124, may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, but not otherwise, be brought to sale in execution of the decree in the same manner as any other immoveable property may be sold in execution of a decree for money under the provisions of the next two succeeding sections.

any immoveable property as aforesaid, objection is offered to the sale on the ground of such property not belonging to the judgment-debtor, the Deputy Commissioner shall examine the party making the objection in the manner prescribed in section 118, and, if satisfied that there is sufficient ground for so doing, shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into, and adjudicate upon, the objection, in the same manner, and subject to the same right of suit by the party against whom judgment may be given, as is provided in section 126.

133. All the powers conferred on the Deputy Commissioner by this Act may be exercised by any Deputy Collector in cases referred to him by a Deputy Commissioner; and in all cases without such reference, by any Deputy Collector placed in charge of any subdivision of a district, or specially authorized by the local Government to receive such cases:

and all applications and reports allowed or required by this Act to be made to the Deputy Commissioner may be made to any Deputy Collector having such local jurisdiction, or specially authorized as aforesaid.

134. In the performance of their duties under this Act, the Deputy Commissioners and Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue; and the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the direction and control of the Deputy Commissioner to whom they are subordinate.

135. All orders passed by a Deputy Commissioner under this Act, not being judgments in suits or orders passed in the course of suits and relating to the trial thereof, or orders passed after decree and relating to the execution thereof, shall be appealable to the Commissioner, and all such orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Deputy Commissioner;

but no judgment of a Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector in any suit, and no order of a Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector passed in any suit and relating to the trial thereof, or after decree and relating to the execution thereof, shall be open to revision or appeal otherwise than as expressly provided in this Act.

136. Every appeal against the order of a Deputy Commissioner shall be presented to the Commissioner within thirty days, and every appeal against the order of a Deputy Collector shall be presented to the Deputy Commissioner within fifteen days, from the date of the order.

Orders passed in appeal by a Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner shall not be open to any further appeal; but the Board of Revenue or the Commissioner may call for any case and pass such orders thereon as they may think proper.

137. In suits under clauses two, four and seven of section 37, tried and decided by a Deputy Commissioner, if the amount sued for, or the value of the property claimed does not exceed one hundred rupees, the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner shall be final, and not open to revision or appeal except as hereinafter provided, unless in any such suit a question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in section 144.

138. In suits in which the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner is final, as provided in the last preceding section, the Deputy Commissioner may, upon the application of either party, if made within thirty days from the date of the decision, order the rehearing of a suit upon the ground of the discovery of new evidence, or matter material to the issue of the case, which the applicant had no knowledge of, or could not produce, at the time of trial.

139. When any such suit as aforesaid, in which, if tried and decided by a Deputy Commissioner, the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner would be final, is tried and decided by a Deputy Collector, an appeal from the judgment of the Deputy Collector shall lie to the Deputy Commissioner.

140. The petition of appeal shall be presented to the Deputy Commissioner within fifteen days from the date of decree provided that such time as may be requisite for procuring a copy of the decree appealed against shall not be reckoned as part of the fifteen days.

141. The Deputy Commissioner shall fix a day for hearing the appeal, and shall cause notice of the same to be served on the respondent. If on the day fixed for hearing the appeal, or any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the appellant does not appear in person or by an agent, the appeal shall be dismissed for default. If the appellant appears, and the respondent does not appear in person or by an agent, the appeal shall be heard ex parte.

142. If an appeal is dismissed for default of prosecution, the appellant may, within fifteen days from the date of the dismissal, apply to the Deputy Commissioner for the re-admission of the appeal; and if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that the appellant was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing, the Deputy Commissioner may re-admit the appeal.

143. After hearing the appeal, the Deputy Commissioner shall give judgment in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for giving judgment in original suits, and the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner shall be final.

144. In all suits other than those in which, when tried and decided by a Deputy Commissioner, the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner is declared to be final, or which tried and decided by a Deputy Collector an appeal is allowed to the Deputy Commissioner, an appeal from the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector shall lie to the Judicial Commissioner of the Division, unless the amount or value in dispute exceed five thousand rupees, in which case the appeal shall lie to the High Court.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground
o, overcast; g, gloomy; w, dew f, fog; tr, lightning reflection.

PRESENT:

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by an Act passed in the 37th year of Her Majesty's reign, chapter 88, intituled "The Slave Trade Act, 1873," it was, amongst other things, provided that, where any Treaty in relation to the slave trade is made after the passing of that Act, by or on behalf of Her Majesty with any Foreign State, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that as from such date, not being earlier than the date of the Treaty as may be specified in the Order, such Treaty shall be deemed to be an existing Slave Trade Treaty within the meaning of the Act, and it was further provided that thereupon (as from the said date, or, if no date should be specified, as from the date of such Order) all the provisions of the Act should apply and be construed accordingly.

And whereas on the 4th day of August in the year 1877 a Treaty or Convention for the suppression of the Slave Trade was concluded between Her Majesty's Government and the Government of His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, in the following terms, that is to say:—

"The Government of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Government of His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, being mutually animated by a sincere desire to co-operate for the extinction of the traffic in slaves, and having resolved to conclude a Convention for the purpose of attaining this object, the undersigned, duly authorized for this purpose, have agreed upon the following Articles:—

"ARTICLE I.

"The Government of His Highness the Khedive

trade in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) within the countries under His Highness' authority, engages to prohibit absolutely from henceforward the importation of any slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) into any part of the territory of Egypt or her dependencies, or their transit through her territories whether by land or sea; and to punish severely, in the manner provided by existing Egyptian law, or in such manner as may hereafter be determined, any person who may be found engaged, directly or indirectly, in the traffic in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians). The Government of His Highness the Khedive further engages to prohibit absolutely any negroes or Abyssinians from leaving the territory of Egypt or her dependencies, unless it be proved indubitably that such negroes or Abyssinians are free or manumitted.

"It shall be stated in the certificates of manumission or passports which shall be delivered to them by the Egyptian Authorities before their departure that they may dispose of themselves without restriction or reserve.

"ARTICLE II.

"Any person who, either in Egypt or on the confines of Egypt and her dependencies towards the centre of Africa, may be found engaged in the traffic in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) either directly or indirectly, shall, together with his accomplices, be considered by the Government of the Khedive as guilty of 'stealing with murder' ('vol avec meurtre'); if subject to Egyptian jurisdiction he shall be handed over for trial to a court-martial, if not he shall immediately be handed over for trial according to the laws of his country to the competent tribunals, with the depositions (procès verbaux) drawn up by the Egyptian superior authority of the place where the traffic has been proved, and all other documents or evidence ('éléments de conviction') handed over by the said authority and destined to serve as proofs at the trial of the traders so far as those laws may admit of such proof.

"All slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) found in the possession of a dealer in slaves shall be liberated and dealt with in conformity with the provisions of Article III, and of Annex (A) to the present Convention.

"ARTICLE III.

"Taking into consideration the impossibility of sending back to their homes slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) who may be captured from slave dealers and liberated, without exposing them to the risk of perishing from fatigue or want, or of falling again into slavery, the Egyptian Government will continue to take and apply in their favour such measures as they have already adopted, and which are hereinafter enumerated in Annex (A) to the present Convention.

"ARTICLE IV.

"The Egyptian Government will exert all the influence it may possess among the tribes of Central Africa, with the view of preventing the wars which are carried on for the purpose of procuring and selling slaves.

"It engages to pursue as murderers all persons who may be found engaged in the mutilation of or traffic in children, if such persons are amenable to Egyptian jurisdiction they will be brought before a court-martial; if not they will be handed over to the competent tribunals to be dealt with according as the law of their country directs, together with the depositions (procès verbaux) and other documents or evidence ('éléments de conviction') as laid down in Article II.

"ARTICLE V.

"The Egyptian Government engages to publish a special Ordinance, the text of which shall be annexed to the present Convention, prohibiting altogether all traffic in slaves within Egyptian territories after a date to be specified in the Ordinance, and providing also for the punishment of persons guilty of violating the provisions of the Ordinance.

"ARTICLE VI.

"With the view to the more effectual suppression of the traffic in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) in the Red Sea, the Egyptian Government agrees that British cruisers may visit, search, and, if necessary, detain, in order to hand over to the nearest or most convenient Egyptian authority for trial, any Egyptian vessel which may be found engaged in the traffic in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) as well as any Egyptian vessel which may fairly be suspected of being intended for that traffic, or which may have been engaged in it on the voyage during which she has been met with.

"This right of visit and detention may be exercised in the Red Sea, in the Gulf of Aden, on the coast of Arabia, and on the East Coast of Africa, and in the maritime waters of Egypt and her dependencies.

"All slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) captured by a British cruiser on board an Egyptian vessel shall be at the disposal of the British Government, who undertakes to adopt efficient measures for securing to them their freedom.

"The vessel and her cargo as well as the crew shall be handed over for trial to the nearest or most convenient Egyptian authority.

"Nevertheless, in all cases where it may not be possible for the commander of the cruiser making the capture to forward the captured slaves to a British depot, or where from any other circumstances it may appear desirable and in the interest of the captured slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) that they should be handed over to the Egyptian authorities, the Egyptian Government engages, on an application being made to them by the commander of the British cruiser, or by an officer deputed by him for that purpose, to take over charge of the captured negroes or Abyssinians, and to secure to them their freedom with all the other privileges stipulated for on behalf of negroes or Abyssinians captured by the Egyptian authorities.

"The British Government, on its part, agrees that all vessels navigating under the British flag in the Red Sea, in the Gulf of Aden, along the coast of Arabia, and the East Coast of Africa, or in the inland waters of Egypt and her dependencies, which may be found engaged in the traffic in slaves (negroes or Abyssinians), may be visited, seized, and detained by the Egyptian authorities, but it is agreed that the vessel and its cargo shall, together with its crew, be handed over to the nearest British authority for trial.

"The captured slaves (negroes or Abyssinians) shall be released by the Egyptian Government, and shall remain at their disposal.

"If the competent tribunal should decide that the seizure, detention, or prosecution was unfounded, the Government of the cruiser will be liable to pay to the Government of the prize a compensation appropriate to the circumstances of the case.

"ARTICLE VII.

"The present Convention shall come into operation from the date of the signature hereof for Egypt proper as far as Assouan, and within three months from the date of signature for the Egyptian possessions in Upper Africa and on the shores of the Red Sea.

"In witness whereof the undersigned have signed the present Convention, and have affixed thereto their seals.

(L.S.) "CHERIEF.

"And whereas it is expedient that the said Treaty or Convention should be brought within the operation of 'The Slave Trade Act, 1873.' "

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf as aforesaid is pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council to order and it is hereby ordered as follows:

The said Treaty or Convention hereinbefore recited shall from the said 4th day of August 1877, being the day of the date thereof, be deemed to have been and to be an existing Slave Trade Treaty within the meaning of "The Slave Trade Act, 1873."

And the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, the Right Honourable the Marquis of Salisbury, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following preliminary report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

1. THE members of the Select Committee appointed to report upon the Bill to provide for the more speedy realization of arrears of rent, and to amend the law relating to rent, submit the following preliminary report.

2. The Committee have considered the provisions of the Bill. They have taken it up without waiting for the criticisms and suggestions of the officers of Government and others who have been consulted, because they thought that it would eventually save time to clear the ground as far as possible, and endeavour to come to some understanding among themselves as to the principles and details of the measure. It might also, they held, save the time of mofussil officers to have before them at an early date an amended draft of the Bill for consideration.

3. The individual members of the Select Committee, in making this preliminary report, reserve to themselves the right to modify, change, or reject each and any portion of the draft Bill as now amended. There is still considerable difference of opinion in respect of many of its provisions, and one of the main objects of this report is to invite attention to the points of doubt, a final settlement as to which is not likely to be arrived at until all the mofussil reports have been received and duly considered.

4. Part II of the Bill, relating to the "summary procedure for realisation of arrears of rent," has been entirely re-cast, so as to provide clearly for the various steps to be taken under the special procedure contemplated. The plaintiff has been required to make out a prima facie case before the issue of summons in the form contemplated by the Bill, and the provisions of Act X of 1859, requiring that he should either appear in person or cause the attendance on his behalf of some one acquainted with the facts of the case, have been revived. The simple mode of verifying the plaint laid down in Act X has also been introduced. An amended form of summons to the defendant has been given in the schedule. By section 9 of the amended Bill, if the Court refuses to give the defendant leave to defend it must nevertheless take down his statement and record the reason for its refusal. By section 11 a defendant against whom a decree is given under section 10 may appeal on depositing the amount of the decree in the Appellate Court, or giving security, as the Court may direct. The decree-holder is not to be allowed to draw the amount of any deposit made, pending appeal. The majority of the Committee hold that it is sufficient for the landlord to have his rent practically secured to him without making over to him moneys he may have to refund. The Committee have provided that a landlord claiming arrears at enhanced rates may sue under this Bill for so much of his claim as represents the rent at the old rates, and get a decree for that portion of his demand at once, without prejudice to the continuation of his suit under the ordinary procedure in respect of the enhanced rates. On the whole, the summary procedure provided by this part has now been put upon a reasonable basis for detailed discussion, fair to both parties and suited, it may be hoped, to the class of suits that will have to be dealt with under it.

5. Some of the members of the Committee feel however, with reference to this whole question of a summary procedure for recovery of arrears of rent, that its practical success or failure will depend entirely upon the intelligence and impartiality with which it may be eventually worked by the Civil Courts. If they could feel sure that the aim of the Legislature would always be borne in view, and be worked up to by the Courts, Part II of the Bill would, they believe, do much to remedy the difficulties of which landlords now complain without pressing unduly upon tenants. At the same time it may, they think, be worked in such a way as to be unfair to either party.

6. The Committee as a body do not see their way at present to providing a summary procedure that shall be free of this danger. The only absolutely safe way of settling disputes about rent is to try out the issues between the parties in a regular suit. It is of course possible by legislation to raise a presumption of law in favour of either landlord or tenant as the case may be, and either party would probably be glad to secure such a weapon against the other. The Legislature can, however, hardly be expected to satisfy such a one-sided demand.

7. Part III.—The Committee have had much discussion with reference to the limitations under which occupancy tenures might be declared transferable so as to avoid the risk of money-lenders or hostile zemindars buying up such tenures in an estate either for purposes of speculation or annoyance. It is perhaps impossible absolutely to guard against such occurrences, which may indeed take place even under the present law, though it is believed they are by no means common in Bengal. In section 15, however, a definition is given of what should constitute a right of occupancy under this Bill, calculated, it is thought, to reduce the chances of this evil to a minimum, and the question of sub-letting has also been considered with reference to the same difficulty. So far as tenures are concerned, which owe their recognition only to Act X of 1859, it is suggested that there is no reason why the practice of sub-letting without the consent of the zemindar should not be absolutely forbidden, and why sub-letting without such consent should not involve forfeiture of occupancy rights. This, read with the definition of an occupancy ryot, should perhaps effectually prevent the sale of this class of tenures to persons who do not intend to cultivate them bona fide. Some of the members of the Committee would have preferred to see the same disability to sub-let extended to all transferable occupancy tenures. The practical effect of such an extension would however, in the opinion of others, have been to confiscate the rights of numerous cultivating tenure-holders of old standing, who now by the custom of the district both transfer and sub-let their lands without any reference to their zemindars. Section 20 has, therein tenures of old standing the right of sub-letting has always been exercised. It has been suggested that a holding for twelve years before the commencement of Act X of 1859 should raise a presumption of the existence of this right. But the Committee feel that they cannot deal effectively with this question of subletting until they have received and considered the reports of mofussil officers.

8. The provisions of section 7 of Bengal Act VIII of 1869 have not been re-enacted in the amended draft, as they refer to matter belonging more strictly to the law of contract. Some of the Committee also hold that the local law of rent should not specifically recognise the possibility of landlords and tenants contracting themselves out of their statutory rights.

9. The procedure for the registration of transfers has been made more complete and precise.

10. A section has been inserted declaring that all transferable under-tenures are hypothecated for the rent due thereupon, following the principles laid down in the Full Bench decision in XXI, Weekly Reporter, page 94.

11. In Part IV some members of the Committee wished to repeal sections 29 and 30, and some to make the award of damages compulsory in every case contemplated by the section. As a compromise the sections have been left as they are, except that under section 29, damages may be awarded whether claimed in the plaint or not. Sections 31 and 32 have received slight verbal amendments, and a clause has been added enabling a landlord to draw rent deposited in his name by a tenant without prejudice to the rights of either party in respect of the nature of the tenure or holding.

12. In Part V, section 33 has been amended so as to make the rent instalments quadrato better with the harvests of the Bengali year and the instalments of Government revenue, and at the same time the payments of interest have been equated, the proviso of the section as originally drafted being left out. It is proposed to apply the provisions of this section to all under-tenures.

13. Section 34 has been amended so as to provide for the grant of a mere counterfoil receipt for each payment made on account, while the specification of the yearly rental of the holding or tenure is reserved for an annual statement of account.

14. Generally, the Committee are inclined to the conclusion that in view of the great importance of the matters treated in this Bill, and of the amount of discussion that is likely to be raised in respect of them, the Government should not attempt to pass it through the Council too rapidly, or until full opportunity has been given for considering the detailed criticism of mofussil officers, and of non-official persons interested in land. The majority of the Committee would indeed prefer to see the measure postponed absolutely until next session, steps being taken meantime to prepare and circulate a complete draft of a revised Rent Law for Bengal, in which the provisions of the present Bill, and of the Bill for the settlement of lands on the application of landholders and ryots, might be incorporated, with such further amendments of Act X of 1859 and Bengal Act VIII of 1869 as experience and the decisions of the Courts have shown to be really necessary. It is feared that many of the provisions of the Bill will be found eventually so intimately connected with other portions of the existing law, not ostensibly affected by it, that the majority of the Committee would prefer to see the whole subject of a revision of the rent law once for all fairly faced.

A Bill to provide for the more speedy realization of arrears of rent and to amend the law relating to rent.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the more speedy realization of arrears of rent and to amend in other respects the law relating to rent in Bengal: It is enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act is divided into five Parts. It may be extended by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by notification in the Calcutta Gazette to any districts within the provinces for the time being subject to the said Lieutenant-Governor in which Act X of 1859 or the Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act, 1869, are, or may be, in force, and it shall take effect accordingly from the date which may be specified in such notification.

2. Sections 6, 7, 20, and 21 of Act X of 1859; sections 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Bengal Act VI of 1862; and sections 6, 7, 21, 22, 44, 45, 46, and 47 of the Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act, 1869, are hereby repealed.

This repeal shall not affect any right of occupancy which has accrued before the commencement of this Act.

References in any Act to sections hereby repealed shall be read as if made to the corresponding section or sections of this Act.

Nothing contained in this Act applies to suits which have been instituted before the commencement thereof.

SUMMARY PROCEDURE FOR REALIZATION OF ARREARS OF RENT.

3. From and after the commencement of this Act, all suits for arrears of rent brought within twelve months after such arrears become due may be instituted under the provisions of this Part.

4. The plaint shall be presented by the plaintiff, or by an authorized agent of the plaintiff who has personal knowledge of the facts of the case, or by an agent who shall be accompanied by a person who has such knowledge.

It shall be subscribed and verified at the foot by the plaintiff or his agent in the manner following or to the like effect:—

"I, A.B., do declare that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief."

5. The plaint may, at the discretion of the Court, and at or before the first hearing, be rejected, returned for amendment within a time to be fixed by the Court, or amended then and there, upon such terms as to the payment of costs occasioned by the amendment as the Court thinks fit—

(a) if it is not presented in the manner hereinbefore required; or

(b) if it does not contain the particulars specified in section 43 of the Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act, 1869.

6. The Court, after registering the plaint Prima facie evidence and before issuing summons thereupon, shall require the plaintiff, or his authorized agent, to produce such evidence, oral or documentary, as shall satisfy the Court—

(1) that rent at the same rate as that alleged to be due has been paid in respect of the tenure or holding for which it is claimed some time within the three years immediately preceding the period for which it is claimed, or that the defendant has agreed by a written engagement which is still in force to pay rent at the rate claimed, or that the plaintiff has obtained a decree from a competent Court declaring him entitled to rent at the rate claimed for the period in respect of which he sues; and

(2) that the plaintiff has a prima facie case.

If the plaintiff or his authorized agent fail so to satisfy the Court, the Court shall refuse to issue a summons to the defendant.

In case of such refusal the plaint shall not be returned to the plaintiff, but he shall have the same right of suing under the ordinary procedure in rent suits for the amount claimed in the plaint as he would have had if he had not instituted a suit under this Act.

7. If the Court, after hearing such evidence, is satisfied as aforesaid, it shall forthwith issue a summons to the defendant, which shall be in the form contained in Schedule A of this Act, and the defendant shall not be permitted to defend the suit unless he obtains leave from the Court as hereinafter mentioned so to defend.

8. The Court shall, upon application within the period of fourteen days from the service of such summons, give leave to the defendant to defend the suit upon his paying into Court the sum mentioned in the summons, or upon his satisfying the Court that he has a defence; and the Court may, before granting such leave, prescribe such terms as to the framing and recording of issues, or otherwise as to it may seem fit, and may, in its discretion, where the sum mentioned in the summons is not paid into Court, require the defendant to give security for the said sum.

9. If the Court refuses to give the defendant leave on his application to defend the suit, it shall receive and file the defendant's written statement of his case, or if there be no such written statement, shall record the nature of the defendant's oral statement, and the Court shall also distinctly record the grounds upon which it refuses to allow the defendant so to defend.

10. If the defendant fail to appear within fourteen days from the service of the summons, and the Court is satisfied that such service has been duly made; or if having appeared, the defendant fail to pay into Court the sum mentioned in the summons, or to satisfy the Court that he has a defence; or if, after having obtained leave to defend the suit, the defendant fail to defend the same in pursuance of such leave:

the Court shall give the plaintiff a decree for any sum not exceeding the sum mentioned in the summons, together with interest on the same at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum to the date of decree and costs.

The decree shall carry interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum to the date of satisfaction.

11. No appeal shall lie from any decree given under section 10 on the part of any judgment-debtor, unless he deposit in the Appellate Court the amount specified in the decree, either in cash or in promissory notes of the Government of India, or give security for its payment, as the said Court may direct.

12. When a decree has been given under section 10, the Court may, under special circumstances, set aside the decree, and, if necessary, stay or set aside execution, and may give leave to the defendant to defend the suit if it shall seem reasonable to the Court so to do, and on such terms as the Court may think fit: provided that no application to set aside the decree shall be entertained unless presented within thirty days from the date of the execution of any process for enforcing the decree.

13. In suits for arrears of rent at enhanced rates the plaintiff may proceed under this Part for so much of his claim as relates to rent at the rate previously in force; and as to the remainder of his claim he may, if he obtain a decree under this Part, continue the same suit under the ordinary procedure in suits for arrears of rent at enhanced rates.

14. Except as provided in the preceding sections, the procedure in suits instituted under this Part shall be the same as the procedure in suits instituted under Act X of 1859, or the Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act, 1869, as the case may be.

PART III.

RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY AND SUB-LEASES.

15. Every ryot who shall have held land and cultivated the same for a period of twelve years shall have a right of occupancy in the land so held and cultivated by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same.

Explanations.—1. A ryot shall not be held to cultivate within the meaning of this section unless he cultivates with his own hands, or unless he cultivates through members of his family or by means of hired labour, and at the same time personally, or by the aid of some member of his family, supervises and directs such cultivation.

2. A ryot may pay his rent in kind, and may also remunerate his hired labourers by making over to them a portion of the gross produce. As doubts may therefore arise whether some of those who enjoy a portion of the gross produce are ryots or hired labourers, it is hereby declared that the person to whom the zemindar or lowest intermediate tenure-holder looks directly for payment, either in cash or in kind, on account of the use of the land, is the ryot within the meaning of this section.

16. The holding of the father or other person from whom the ryot inherits shall be deemed to be the holding of the ryot within the meaning of the last preceding section, and the tenure of a ryot who has acquired a right of occupancy shall be heritable and transferable, provided that no transfer shall be valid unless the whole tenure is transferred, and that the transferee shall have the right of occupancy only so long as he continues to cultivate the lands in the manner described in the last preceding section.

17. After the commencement of this Act no ryot having a right of occupancy shall, without the consent in writing of the zemindar or other superior tenure-holder to whom his rent is payable, sublet his holding or any portion thereof; and any such ryot subletting without such consent shall be deemed to have forfeited his right of occupancy in his entire holding.

18. If, after the commencement of this Act the zemindar or other superior tenure-holder to whom the rent is payable consents to the subletting of a portion or the whole of the holding of a ryot having a right of occupancy, the sub-tenant, if he cultivates the lands in the manner described in section 15 of this Act, shall begin to acquire a right of occupancy in the lands sublet from the date of such subletting. The ryot who sublets the lands shall be deemed to have become the holder of an intermediate tenure, and shall cease to have a right of occupancy in the lands sublet, but he shall not be liable to be ejected by the zemindar or superior tenure-holder as aforesaid otherwise than for non-payment of arrears of rent, and in execution of a decree or order of Court; and the rent which he pays for the lands sublet shall not be liable to be enhanced above a sum which shall, in default of specific agreement to the contrary, in no case be less than ten per cent. below the fair and equitable rates payable for the same land by a ryot having a right of occupancy.

19. Sub-leases for a year or for a term of years given before the commencement of this Act by any ryot having a right of occupancy shall hold good for such year or term but no longer.

20. Nothing contained in the three last preceding sections shall be held to affect the rights of, or impose any disabilities upon, the holders of any cultivating tenures who were before the commencement of Act X of 1859 entitled to sublet their lands without the consent of the zemindar or other superior tenure-holder to whom their rent is payable.

21. No right of occupancy shall be acquired by any ryot in khamar, nijjote, or seer lands belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure which are held by him as such at the date of the commencement of this Act and let by him on lease for a term or year by year.

22. place in which such offence shall have been committed, or shall be taken to the nearest police station within the said jurisdiction in order that such person may be detained until he can be brought before a Magistrate, or until he shall enter into recognizance with or without sureties for his appearance before a Magistrate.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It has been found desirable to reduce the fees which are now leviable on licenses for jute warehouses. But as the law prescribes a minimum fee, it is necessary to resort to further legislation to effect this object. The present Bill empowers the Local Government to fix a scale of fees for jute warehouses after consultation with the municipal authorities. It has also been decided to repeal the clauses in the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act which authorize the levy of contributions from Insurance Companies for the expenses of the fire-brigade in Calcutta and the Suburbs, as those sums, although paid in the first place by the companies, are afterwards recovered by them from the insurers, on whom the taxation really falls. These clauses are accordingly omitted from the Bill. It is also intended to bring places used for the storing of mineral oils under the operation of the Act. As these amendments will considerably alter the existing law, it has been found convenient to consolidate it into one Act.

Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

15. The Court may take charge of any minor member of a ward's family who has an immediate or reversionary interest in the ward's estate, and who has no guardian appointed by will or by the Civil Court.

16. Sections 12, 14, and 15 of Act XL of 1858 are hereby repealed; and in case of any application to a Civil Court under the said Act, if the estate of the minor consists, in whole or in part, of land or any interest in land, the Civil Court may apply to the Court of Wards to take charge of the estate; and if the Court of Wards consents to take charge of the estate, it shall be managed according to the provisions of this Act.

17. Whenever one or more of the proprietors of an estate, which has come under the superintendence of the Court on account of the disqualification of all the proprietors, ceases to be disqualified, and the estate, in consequence, ceases to be subject to the superintendence of the Court notwithstanding the continued disqualification of one or more of the proprietors, the Civil Court which would have jurisdiction under Act XL of 1858 may, on the application of the Court of Wards, direct the Court of Wards to take charge of the persons and property of the still disqualified proprietors during the continuance of their disqualification, or for so long as such Civil Court may order. In such case the Court of Wards shall deal with the persons and property of such disqualified proprietors in accordance with the provisions of this Act. And in case any of the proprietors who have ceased to be disqualified so consent, the management of the shares of such proprietors may be assumed by the Court of Wards, and carried out under the provisions of this Act so long as the share of any of the disqualified proprietors remains under the charge of the Court of Wards.

18. All estates shall, whilst they are under the superintendence of the Court, be exempt from sale for arrears of revenue:

Provided that all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of such estates sold, for any other cause while under such superintendence.

19. If a share in any joint undivided estate or tenure comes under the superintendence of the Court, it shall not be liable to sale for recovery of arrears of revenue or for other demands similarly recoverable, until after the end of the year in which such arrears accrued.

If the share has been separated under section 10 or 11 of Act XI of 1859, the protection given to estates under section 18 of this Act will be extended to such share, subject to the provisions of sections 13 and 14 of the said Act XI of 1859, and of section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876.

20. No estate, the sole property of a person under the age of twenty-one, or of two or more such persons, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance, or by virtue of the will of, or some settlement made by, some deceased owner thereof, shall, until such person or some one or more of such persons shall have completed his age of twenty-one years, be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same; and all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of such estate if the estate is sold for any other cause while such proprietor is disqualified.

The Collector may on an arrear so accruing attach the estate and collect the rents and all arrears of rent due to the estate, managing it either directly or by farming it for a period not exceeding ten years, nor extending beyond the time when such person or one of such persons shall have completed his age of twenty-one years.

21. The exemption from sale for arrears of revenue given by section 20 shall only apply to cases where due notice has been given to the Collector, and acknowledged by him before the sale, of the fact that the estate is the sole property of a person under the age of twenty-one years, or the property of two or more such persons.

22. When an estate has been farmed under the provisions of section 20, the proceeds of such farm shall be paid to the Collector; and the Collector, after the deduction of the amount of the claims of the Government for revenue, shall, with the sanction of the Court, either pay the proceeds to the person authorized to receive them for the proprietor, or shall dispose of it in any of the modes mentioned in section 44.

23. Proprietors whose property is under the charge of the Court shall not be competent to create, without the sanction of the Court, any charge upon, or interest in, such property or any part thereof.

PART IV.

ASCERTAINMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION.

24. The Collector of the district shall ascertain and report to the Court from time to time what proprietors may come within the description of disqualified proprietors under section 14; and the Court shall, on receipt of the report of the Collector, make such order consistent with this Act as may seem to it expedient.

25. Nothing in section 24 shall prevent the Court or the Local Government from putting the provisions of this Act in force without any report from the Collector.

26. Whenever any collector receives information that any proprietor of an estate within his district has died, and that the heirs of such proprietor are disqualified, such Collector may take such steps and make such orders for the safety and preservation of the moveable property of such deceased proprietor, and of the deeds, documents, or papers relating to any portion of the property of such proprietor as to the Collector may seem fit.

The Collector may also by proclamation order that no rents due to the estate shall be paid until it is decided whether the Court is to take charge of the estate.

If the estate is not afterwards brought under the charge of the Court, all expenses incurred by the Collector under this section shall be recoverable from the estate as a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any similar law for the time being in force.

27. The Collector may direct that any person whom he has reason to believe has the unlawful custody, or is unlawfully in possession, of the person of any minor heir of such deceased proprietor shall produce him before the Collector on a day fixed by him, and may make such order for the temporary custody and protection of such minors as to him may seem fit.

If the minor is a female, she shall not be brought into the presence of the Collector, but the Collector may take such steps for her identification as he may think fit.

28. If a proprietor who does not reside within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court is reported by the Collector to be disqualified on the ground of idiocy or lunacy, the Court shall order the Collector making such report to apply, in pursuance of the provisions of Act XXXV of 1858, to the Civil Court of the district within the jurisdiction of which such proprietor may reside.

29. If a proprietor is found by any High Court of Judicature, under the provisions of Act XXXIV of 1858, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, the Court may (subject to the powers of the High Court under the said Act XXXIV of 1858) take charge of the estate and lands of such proprietor situated beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of such High Court, and deal with the same, subject to the provisions of this Act.

30. If a proprietor resident beyond the provinces for the time being subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is declared by a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction, under the provisions of Act XXXV of 1858, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his own affairs, the Court of Wards may take charge of the estate and lands of such proprietor situated within the said provinces, and deal with the same, subject to the provisions of this Act.

31. In any such case as is mentioned in sections 29 and 30, no further proceedings shall be taken under section 28, nor shall the Court appoint a guardian of the person of the said proprietor; and the surplus income of the property so taken charge of by the Court, after providing for the discharge of the Government revenue and the expenses of management, shall be disposed of from time to time in such manner as the said High Court or Civil Court shall direct, and not otherwise.

32. If a proprietor who does not reside within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court is reported by the Collector to be disqualified on the ground of some physical defect or infirmity other than unsoundness of mind, the Court shall order the Collector making such report to apply to the Civil Court within whose jurisdiction such person may be residing; and upon such Collector so applying, such Civil Court shall institute an inquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not subject to such defect or infirmity.

33. If a proprietor resident within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, or resident beyond the provinces for the time being subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, shall be reported by the Collector to be disqualified by reason of some physical defect or infirmity other than unsoundness of mind, the Court shall order the Collector making such report to apply to the Civil Court of the 24-Pergunnahs, or to such other Civil Court as the Lieutenant-Governor, on application made to him by the Collector in that behalf, may determine.

Such Civil Court shall thereupon inquire into and determine the question as to the alleged disqualification.

34. When any inquiry is instituted by a Civil Court under section 32 or section 33, such Court shall, for the purposes of making such inquiry, have the powers conferred, and proceed in the manner prescribed, by Act XXXV of 1858 with respect to the inquiries directed to be made by the said Act.

The Civil Court shall transmit to the Court of Wards a copy of the order made on each such inquiry, and the Court of Wards shall thereupon, in case the proprietor has been found by the Civil Court to be disqualified, treat such proprietor as subject to its superintendence.

PART V.

PROCEDURE AFTER ASCERTAINMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION.

35. Whenever it has been determined to take an estate under the charge of the Court, the Court shall make an order declaring the fact and directing the Collector to take charge of the proprietor and of his property, and such proprietor shall be held to be a ward of the Court from the date of such order; and the Collector of every district within which there may be any property of the ward shall, as soon as conveniently may be, take possession of such property, and the Court shall be held to be in charge of such property from the time when possession shall have been so taken.

36. Immediately on an order being made under the provisions of section 35, the Collector, or some person authorized by him in that behalf, shall take possession of all accounts, papers, and moveable property of the ward, and place under proper custody such portion thereof as he may think necessary.

And the Collector, or some person authorized by him in that behalf, may, in case he has reason to believe that any such account, paper, or property is in any room, box, or receptacle, within any house or any land in the actual possession of the ward, break open the same for the purpose of searching for such account, paper, or property.

37. The Collector may also order all persons who were in the employ of the deceased proprietor at the time of his death, or all persons in the employ of the proprietor who has been declared a ward of Court, to attend before him, and may order any person to deliver up any accounts, papers, or moveable property belonging to the ward or to the estate which the Collector has reason to believe are in such person's possession, and may order all holders of tenures and undertenures in the estate to produce their titles to such tenures and undertenures.

PART VI.

MANAGERS AND GUARDIANS.

38. The manager appointed by the Court shall have power to collect the rents of the land entrusted to him, as well as all other money due to the disqualified proprietor, and to grant receipts therefor; and he may, subject to the control of the Court, grant or renew such leases and farms, not being for a longer period than five years, as may be necessary for the good management of the property.

39. The manager shall manage the property committed to him diligently and faithfully for the benefit of the proprietor, and shall in every respect act to the best of his judgment for the proprietor's interest as if the property were his own.

40. Every manager appointed by the Court shall—

(a) have the care of so much of the property of the ward as the Court may direct;

(b) give such security as the Court thinks fit, duly to account for what he shall receive in respect of the rents and profits of the property for which he is appointed;

(c) continue liable to account to the Court, after he has ceased to be manager, for his receipts and disbursements during the period of his management;

(d) pass his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs;

(e) pay the balance due from him thereon;

(f) apply for the sanction of the Court to any act which may involve the property in expense not previously sanctioned by such Court;

(g) be entitled to such allowance, to be paid out of the estate, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties;

(h) be responsible for any loss occasioned to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence.

41. When a manager or guardian gives a bond for the due performance of his duties under this Act, the sum mentioned in the bond shall, in case of breach of the condition of the bond, be recoverable as a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any similar law for the time being in force.

42. The Court may order any past or present manager or guardian, or past or present officer subordinate to a manager or guardian, to deliver up his accounts or any property of the ward which may be in his possession within such time as may be fixed by the Court.

43. All moneys received by the manager shall be applied as the Court may direct according to the circumstances of the estate—in payment of the allowance fixed for the support and education of the ward and his family, and of all charges of management and supervision;

in or towards the discharge of the instalments of Government revenue and of all cesses and other public demands from time to time due in respect of such estate.

44. Whenever upon the accounts there is a bona fide surplus shewn after making the payments mentioned in section 43, such surplus shall be applied as the Court may direct according to the circumstances of the estate—in liquidation of the debts affecting the estate;

in payment of such religious, charitable, and other allowances as were paid out of the proceeds of the estate before it came under the superintendence of the Court, and such allowances and donations befitting the position of the ward's family as the Court may authorize to be paid;

in the improvement of the lands of the ward, or otherwise for the benefit of the ward or his property;

Provided that the amount expended on such improvement shall not exceed ten per centum of the said surplus, unless, in the opinion of the Court and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, it is desirable, for the protection of the estate, or in the interest of the ward or his estate, to expend an amount exceeding such percentage.

45. Whenever the Court shall think it unnecessary or inadvisable to appropriate any surplus receipts to the improvement of the lands of the ward, or for the benefit of the ward or his property, the same shall be applied in the purchase of other landed property, or invested at interest in—the security of promissory notes, debentures, stock, and other securities of the Government of India, or of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland;

bonds, debentures, and annuities charged by the Imperial Parliament on the revenues of India; stock or debentures of or shares in railway or other companies, the interest whereon shall have been guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council;

debentures or other securities for money paid by or on behalf of any municipal body under the authority of any Act of a legislature established in British India; or such other securities, stocks, or shares, guaranteed by the Government of India or the Government of Bengal as to the Court shall seem fit.

46. A guardian is charged with the custody of the ward, and must look to his support, health, and education.

General duty of guardian.

Specific duties of guardian.

47. Every guardian appointed by the Court shall—

- (a) give such security as the Court thinks fit for the due performance of his duty;
- (b) pass his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs;
- (c) pay the balance due from him thereon;
- (d) continue liable to account to the Court, after he has ceased to be guardian, for his receipts and disbursements during the period of his guardianship;
- (e) apply for the sanction of the Court to any act which may involve expense not previously sanctioned by the Court;
- (f) be entitled to such allowance to be paid out of the estate as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties.

48. No person who would be the next legal heir of a ward, or would otherwise be immediately interested in outliving such ward, shall be appointed to be his guardian; but nothing in this section shall apply to the mother of a ward, or to a testamentary guardian.

49. If the ward is a female, a female of the same religion shall, except in the case of a testamentary guardian, be appointed guardian, preference being given to female relatives if any such be eligible.

But no guardian shall ordinarily be appointed or continued for a female ward if she has an adult husband, or if the Court empowers her to receive and disburse the allowance fixed for her maintenance.

PART VII.

SUITS.

50. In every suit brought by or against any ward in any Court other than the High Court, he shall be therein described as a ward of Court; and if he has a manager of his estate or estates as hereinbefore provided, such manager shall in such suit be named as next friend or guardian for the suit, and shall in such suit represent such ward, and no other person shall be ordered to sue as next friend or be named as guardian for the suit by any Civil Court in which such suit may be pending.

51. The Court may by an order nominate or substitute any other person to be next friend or guardian for any such suit; and upon receiving a copy of any such order of substitution, the Civil Court in which such suit is pending shall substitute the name of the next friend or guardian for the suit so appointed for the name of the manager of the ward's property.

If the ward has no manager, the Collector of the district in which the greater portion of the ward's property is situated shall be named as next friend or guardian for the suit of such ward.

52. If in any suit instituted by or against a ward, any Civil Court other than a High Court, shall decree any costs against the next friend or guardian of the ward, the Court of Wards shall cause such costs to be paid out of any property of the ward which for the time being may be in its hands.

53. Every process which may be issued out of any Civil Court other than the High Court against any ward, shall be served, through the Collector, upon the next friend or guardian for the suit of such ward.

54. No suit shall be brought on behalf of any ward unless the same be authorized by some order of the Court:

provided that a manager may authorize a plaintiff to be filed in order to prevent a suit from being barred by the law of limitation, but such suit shall not be afterwards proceeded with except under the sanction of the Court.

provided also that suits for arrears of rent may be brought on behalf of a ward if authorized by an order of the manager in whose charge the estate may be.

Nothing contained in this section shall apply to any suit instituted or pending in the High Court.

55. The Court may submit to arbitration, or otherwise compromise, any claim which may be made by, or on behalf of, or against any ward, and every such submission to arbitration or compromise shall have the same force and effect as if the ward were not subject to any disqualification, and had personally entered into such submission or compromise.

PART VIII.

PENALTIES.

56. Any person who refuses to comply with an order of the Collector under the first clause of section 26, under section 27, or under section 37, shall be liable, by order of the Collector, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

57. Any person who refuses to comply with an order made under section 42 may be punished, by order of the Court, with simple imprisonment and attachment of his property until the order is complied with.

58. Any person who disobeys any other lawful order of the Court shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and if he is a manager or guardian appointed by the Court, to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

On guardian removing residence without the leave of the Court shall be liable, by order of the Court, to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment, simple or rigorous, for a term which may extend to six months, or to both.

PART IX.

MISCELLANEOUS.

60. No adoption by any ward, and no written or verbal permission to adopt given by any ward, shall be valid without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, obtained either previously or subsequently to such adoption, or to the giving of such permission, on application made to him through the Court.

61. Farmers and others holding tenures in estates in charge of the Collector (whether such tenures were created before the estate came under the charge of the Court or by the Collector after the estate came under such charge) shall be subject to the same rules, regulations, and Acts as are applicable to other persons holding similar tenures and interests under Collectors of the land revenue; but when the farm is held from the manager, these rules, regulations, and Acts, shall not apply.

62. All arrears of rent due to the Collector from farmers and others holding tenures in estates subject to the superintendence of the Court, which accrued before the estate became subject to such superintendence, shall be recoverable as demands under Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any similar law for the time being in force.

The last preceding clause does not apply to arrears of rent enhanced after issue of notice under section 13 of Act X of 1859, or under section 14 of Bengal Act VIII of 1869, but of which the enhancement has not been confirmed by any competent Court.

63. If a proprietor is declared disqualified and is afterwards restored, or if the estate of any disqualified proprietor legally devolves on, or comes into the possession of, any person not disqualified for the management of it, such proprietor or his heir or successor may sue any persons professing to have acted under the authority of the Court, for any acts done by them respectively whilst the estate was under the charge of the Court in contravention of this or any other Act that may be hereafter enacted estates, or in contravention of any order issued by the Court, or for any breach of trust.

64. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may order that the cost of superintendence and of the audit of accounts of all estates under the charge of the Court shall be defrayed from a general contribution to be levied from such estates in such proportion as the Court may from time to time direct.

65. An appeal shall lie from every order of a Collector under this Act to the Commissioner of the Division, and from every order of a Commissioner under this Act to the Court.

Every appeal to a Commissioner shall be presented within thirty days of the date of the order appealed against.

Every appeal to the Court shall be presented within sixty days of the date of the order appealed against.

66. The Court may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, make rules consistent with this Act for—

- (a) defining the powers of Collectors and Commissioners respectively when the estate of a ward is situated in two or more districts or in two or more divisions;
- (b) prescribing what reports shall be made from time to time by Collectors and Commissioners on the condition of the ward and his property;
- (c) prescribing the periods at which and the mode in which accounts shall be submitted by managers and guardians respectively;
- (d) regulating the custody of securities and title deeds belonging to the estate or property of a ward;
- (e) regulating the procedure in appeals from orders of Collectors and Commissioners respectively under this Act.
- (f) prescribing the procedure to be observed when an estate ceases to be under the superintendence of the Court;
- (g) and generally for the better fulfilment of the purposes of this Act.

The Court may, from time to time, with the like sanction, alter, add to, or repeal, such rules.

amend the law relating to Promissory Notes, Bills of Exchange and Cheques was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to present this further Report.

2. We have carefully considered the arguments urged on the one side by the learned Chief Justice of Bengal and the Bank of Bengal for the immediate application of the measure in its entirety to hundis, and, on the other side, by the Government of the Panjab for the total exclusion of hundis from any part of the measure. We have come to the conclusion that the Bill should in this respect be left substantially as it stands. Admitting with the Chief Justice that one main principle of Indian codification is to reconcile and assimilate, as far as possible, the Native and European law on each subject, we would point out that this principle must be applied so as to produce as little friction as possible, and we feel assured that any sudden abolition of the numerous local usages (there is no general custom) as to hundis, uncertain and undefined as they often are, would cause much and justifiable dissatisfaction among Native bankers and merchants in certain parts of the country. But we believe that the effect of the Bill, if passed with a saving of the local usages in question, will be, not as the Chief Justice fears, to stereotype and perpetuate these usages, but to induce the Native mercantile community gradually to discard them for the corresponding rules contained in the Bill. The desirable uniformity of mercantile usage will thus be brought about without any risk of causing hardship to Native bankers and merchants. How long this change will take, it is of course impossible to prophesy. But the Bank of Bengal has supplied evidence that the Native usages as to negotiable paper have of recent years been greatly changing, and that the tendency is to assimilate them more and more to the European custom.

3. We do not share the apprehension of the Bank of Bengal that the recognition of Native usages would result in large withdrawal of European capital from operations in Native bills. For in this respect the Bill simply states the law as it stands. Such usages are now and have always been recognized by our Courts in all parts of India: * but the Bank itself admits that, for upwards of seventy years, its business in hundis has invariably been conducted according to the same laws and usages as apply to European bills, and that, with one exception (the alleged duty of the holder of a dishonoured hundi to exhaust the acceptor before having recourse to the drawer or endorser) Natives have made no difficulty about conforming to the Bank's requirements. It is, we understand, the practice of the Bank and, probably, of other large European purchasers of hundis to notify that they will not be bound by any local usage which contravenes the English law as to bills of exchange. Though the Bill should pass in its present form, this practice will remain legal and unaffected. It operates of course to bind only the seller to waive a defence which he might otherwise have made. But the other parties to the hundi are practically precluded from setting up any such usage by the knowledge that if they did so their credit would be destroyed by refusal of the Bank to buy hundis on which their names appear.

* See, for example, 1 Suth. W. R. 75; 2 ibid. 214; 6 ibid. 301; 2 Hyde 259; 3 Beng. A. C. 198; 7 Beng. 275, 289, 431, 687; 9 Beng. Appendix I; 2 Serestro 621, u.; N. W. P. 1868, p. 268; Perry 296; 6 Bomb. O. C. J. 24; 7 Bomb. O. C. J. 137, 140; 12 Bomb. 113.

4. To exclude totally (as the Panjáb Government propose) hundis from any part of the Bill would be to render the proposed legislation to a great extent inoperative, and would probably result in withdrawal of the Bill. Considering the fact that the carrying on of the internal trade of India is becoming more and more dependent on English capital, and that the use in the Mufassal of bills in the English form is therefore largely increasing, we think that such withdrawal would be highly inexpedient. We are supported in this opinion by the fact that the Local Governments of Bengal, Bombay, the North-Western Provinces and Ajmer have all reported in favour of the Bill; that the Chambers of Commerce at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, the Bank of Bombay, and the Calcutta Trades Association, have done the same; and that the Directors of the Bank of Bengal bear testimony as to the ability with which it was framed by Mr. Phillips.

5. Turning now to the details of the Bill, we have, in the first place, expressly saved the provisions of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1871, section 21, which prohibits the issue of private bills or notes payable to bearer on demand.

6. We have struck out from section 16 the words "the whole or any part of," as they might have been taken to imply that there may be a special indorsement expressly directing payment of part of the amount mentioned in the instrument.

7. Section 21 was taken from the Law Commissioners' draft, and deals with a promissory note signed by two persons, and shewing that one of them subscribes only to an alternative liability. We think it very doubtful whether such an informal instrument is a promissory note at all, and for this and other reasons we have omitted the section.

8. We have also omitted section 33, as the matter appears to us to be sufficiently provided for by the Indian Contract Act; for the same reason we have omitted the first half of section 43.

9. We have omitted, as unlikely to be practically useful, sections 55 and 56, which provide for the delivery without indorsement, but with intent to transfer title, of bills payable to the order of a specified person or to a specified person or order.

10. We have omitted section 59, as the matter is sufficiently covered by the preceding section.

11. We do not think that the Bill should deal with collateral agreements, and have therefore struck out section 66.

12. We have amended the section (73, now 67) as to the drawee's term for deliberation. It now provides that the holder may allow the drawee twenty-four hours (exclusive of public holidays) to consider whether he will accept the Bill.

13. We think that, in order to charge the drawer of a cheque, the holder should only be bound to present it at the bank on which it is drawn before the relation between the drawer and the banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer. We have altered section 82 accordingly.

14. We have omitted from section 97 the explanation relating to material alterations.

15. We have made some changes in wording and arrangement.

16. The Bill No. III and the second report of the Select Committee have been published in English in all the local Gazettes except those for Assam and Rájputána. Publication of the Bill and report in the vernacular has been reported only by the Governments of Madras, Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

17. With the exception of our Hon'ble Colleague Mr. Morgan, we think that the Bill might now be passed as amended. Mr. Morgan would omit the clause saving local usages as to hundis. In other respects he approves of the Bill. We recommend that its further consideration be stayed until the new Law Commission has reported thereon. Meanwhile, we think the Bill, as now amended, should be published with this report in the Gazette of India.

CALCUTTA, }
The 19th February, 1879. }

Although I think that this Bill is, on the whole, a very good one, I cannot approve the recognition which it accords to local usages relating to hundis. From a careful consideration of the papers which have been received with reference to the Bill, and from my own experience as regards the existing practice regarding hundis, I do not believe that there are any usages which call for special recognition at the hands of the legislature, and I think that the proposed recognition may put an arm into the hands of those who are dishonestly disposed which they do not at present possess.

CHAPTER II.

OF NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

4. A promissory note is an instrument in writing (not being a bank note or a currency note) containing an unconditional undertaking, signed by the maker, to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person, or to the bearer of the instrument.

Illustrations.

A signs instruments in the following terms:—

- (a) "I promise to pay B or order Rs. 500."
- (b) "I acknowledge myself to be indebted to B in Rs. 1,000 to be paid on demand, for value received."
- (c) "Mr. B, I O U Rs. 1,000."
- (d) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and all other sums which shall be due to him."
- (e) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500, first deducting thereout any money which he may owe me."
- (f) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 seven days after my marriage with C."
- (g) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 on D's death, provided D leaves me enough to pay that sum."
- (h) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and to deliver to him my black horse on 1st January next."

The instruments respectively marked (a), and (b) are promissory notes. The instruments respectively marked (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) and (h) are not promissory notes.

5. A bill of exchange is an instrument in writing containing an unconditional order, signed by the maker, directing a certain person to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person or to the bearer of the instrument.

6. A cheque is a bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand.

7. The maker of a bill of exchange or cheque is called the "drawer;" the person thereby directed to pay is called the "drawee."

When the bill gives the name of any person in addition to the drawee to be resorted to in case of need, such person is called a "drawee in case of need."

After the drawee of a bill has signed his assent upon the bill, or if there are more parts thereof than one, upon one of such parts, and delivered the same, or given notice of such signing to the holder or to some person on his behalf, he is called the "acceptor."

When acceptance is refused and the bill is protested for non-acceptance, and any person accepts it supra protest for honour of the drawer or of any one of the indorsers, such person is called an "acceptor for honour."

The person named in the instrument, to whom or to whose order the money is by the instrument directed to be paid, is called the "payee."

8. The "holder" of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque means any person entitled in his own name to the possession thereof and to receive or recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto.

Where the note, bill or cheque is lost or destroyed, its holder is the person so entitled at the time of such loss or destruction.

9. "Holder in due course" means any person who became the possessor of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque if payable to bearer, or the payee or indorsee thereof, if payable to, or to the order of, a payee, for consideration before the amount mentioned in it became payable, and without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title.

10. "Payment in due course" means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount therein mentioned.

11. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque drawn or made in British India, and made payable in, or drawn upon any person resident in, British India shall be deemed to be an inland instrument.

12. Any such instrument not so drawn, made or made payable shall be deemed to be a foreign instrument.

13. A "negotiable instrument" means a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque expressed to be payable to a specified person or his order, or to the order of a specified person, or to the bearer thereof, or to a specified person or the bearer thereof.

14. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is transferred to any person, so as to constitute that person the holder thereof, the instrument is said to be negotiated.

15. When the maker or holder of a negotiable instrument signs the same, otherwise than as such maker, for the purpose of negotiation, on the back or face thereof or on a slip of paper annexed thereto, or so signs for the same purpose a stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, he is said to indorse the same, and is called the "indorser."

16. If the indorser signs his name only, the indorsement is said to be "in blank," and if he adds a direction to pay the amount mentioned in the instrument to, or to the order of, a specified person, the indorsement is said to be "in full;" and the person so specified is called the "indorsee" of the instrument.

17. Where an instrument may be construed either as a promissory note or bill of exchange, the holder may at his election treat it as either, and the instrument shall be thenceforward treated accordingly.

18. If the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid is stated differently in figures and in words, the amount stated in words shall be the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid.

19. A promissory note or bill of exchange, in which no time for payment is specified, and a cheque are payable on demand.

20. Where a stamped paper, which is intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, is signed and delivered by a competent person as maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser, the holder thereof may complete the same by filling up any blanks therein, and the person so signing shall be liable upon such instrument, in the capacity in which he signed the same, for any amount which may be specified therein not exceeding the amount covered by the stamp thereon: provided that as between the person delivering and the person receiving the instrument nothing in excess of the amount intended by them to be paid shall be recovered.

Illustration.

A stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument is made payable to "or order:" the holder of such instrument may fill up the blank with his own name, or that of any other person.

21. In a promissory note or bill of exchange the expressions "at sight" and "on presentment" mean on demand. The expression "after sight" means, in a promissory note, after presentment for sight, and in a bill of exchange, after acceptance or protest for non-acceptance.

22. The maturity of a promissory note or bill of exchange is the date at which it falls due.

Every promissory note or bill of exchange which is not expressed to be payable on demand, at sight, or on presentment, is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable.

23. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a stated number of months after date or after sight, or after a certain event, is at maturity, the period stated shall be held to terminate on the day of the month which corresponds with the day on which the instrument is dated, or presented for acceptance or sight or protested for non-acceptance, or the event happens, or, where the instrument is a bill of exchange made payable a stated number of months after sight and has been accepted for honour, with the day on which it was so accepted. If the month in which the period would terminate has no corresponding day, the period shall be held to terminate on the last day of such month.

Illustrations.

(a) A negotiable instrument dated 20th January 1878 is made payable at one month after date. The instrument is at maturity on the third day after the 28th February 1878.

(b) A negotiable instrument dated 30th August 1878 is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

(c) A promissory note or bill of exchange, dated 31st August 1878, is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

24. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a certain number of days after date or after sight or after a certain event, is at maturity, the day of the date, or of presentment for acceptance or sight, or of protest for non-acceptance, or on which the event happens, shall be excluded.

25. When the day on which a promissory note or bill of exchange is at maturity is a public holiday, the instrument shall be deemed to be due on the next preceding business day.

Explanation.—The expression "public holiday" includes Sundays: New-Year's day, Christmas day: if either of such days falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday: Good-Friday; and any other day declared by the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, to be a public holiday.

26. Until the contrary is proved, the following presumptions as to negotiable instruments; made:—

(a) that every negotiable instrument was made or drawn for consideration; and that every such instrument, when it has been accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred, was accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred for consideration:

(b) that every negotiable instrument bearing a date was made or drawn on such date:

(c) that every accepted bill of exchange was accepted within a reasonable time after its date and before its maturity:

(d) that every transfer of a negotiable instrument was made before its maturity:

(e) that the endorsements appearing upon a negotiable instrument were made in the order in which they appear thereon:

(f) that a lost promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque was duly stamped:

(g) that the holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course: provided that where the instrument has been obtained from its lawful owner, or from any person in lawful custody thereof, by means of an offence or fraud, or has been obtained from the maker or acceptor thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for unlawful consideration, the burthen of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon him.

CHAPTER III.

PARTIES TO NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

27. Every person capable of contracting, according to the law to which he is subject, may bind himself and be bound by the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, delivery and negotiation of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque.

A minor may draw, indorse, deliver and negotiate such instruments so as to bind all parties except himself.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to empower a corporation to make, indorse or accept such instruments except in cases in which, under the law for the time being in force, they are so empowered.

28. Every person capable of binding himself or of being bound, as mentioned in section 27, may so bind himself or be bound by a duly authorized agent acting in his name.

A general authority to transact business and to receive and discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of accepting or indorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal.

An authority to draw bills of exchange does not of itself import an authority to indorse.

29. An agent who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, without indicating thereon that he signs as agent, or that he does not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility, is liable personally on the instrument, except to those who induced him to sign upon the belief that the principal only would be held liable.

30. A legal representative of a deceased person who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, is liable personally thereon unless he expressly limits his liability to the extent of the assets received by him as such.

31. Where there are several drawees of a bill of exchange who are not partners, each of them can accept it for himself, but none of them can accept it for another without his authority.

32. The drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque is bound, in case of dishonour by the drawee or acceptor thereof, to compensate the holder for any loss or damage caused thereby, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, the drawer as hereinafter provided.

33. The drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the drawer in his hands properly applicable to the payment of such cheque, must pay the cheque when duly required so to do, and, in default of such payment, must compensate the drawer for any loss or damage caused by such default.

34. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the maker of a promissory note and the acceptor of a bill of exchange, are bound to pay the amount thereof at maturity according to the apparent tenor of the note or acceptance respectively, and the acceptor of a bill of exchange at or after maturity is bound to pay the amount thereof to the holder on demand.

In default of such payment as aforesaid, such maker or acceptor is bound to compensate any party to the note or bill for any loss or damage sustained by him, and caused by such default.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 29, 48, 49, 50, 62, 68, 72, 73 and 86.

35. No person except the drawee of a bill of exchange, or all or some of several joint drawees, or a person named therein as a drawee in case of need, or an acceptor for honour, can bind himself by an acceptance.

36. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, whoever indorses and delivers a negotiable instrument before maturity, without, in such indorsement, expressly excluding or making conditional his own liability, is bound thereby to every subsequent holder, in case of dishonour by the drawee, acceptor or maker, to compensate such holder for any loss or damage caused to him by such dishonour, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, such indorser as hereinafter provided.

Every indorser after dishonour is liable as upon an instrument payable on demand.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 29, 48, 49, 50, 59, 60, 62, 65, 66, 68, 72, 76, 86, 87, 88, 90, 91 and 101, clause (a).

37. Every prior party to a negotiable instrument is liable thereon to a holder in due course until the instrument is duly satisfied.

38. The maker of a promissory note or cheque, the drawer of a bill of exchange until acceptance, and the acceptor are, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, respectively liable thereon as principal debtors, and the other parties thereto are liable thereon as sureties for the maker, drawer or acceptor, as the case may be.

39. As between the parties so liable as sureties, each prior party is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, also liable thereon as a principal debtor in respect of each subsequent party.

Illustration.

A draws a bill payable to his own order on B, who accepts. A afterwards indorses the bill to C, C to D, and D to E. As between E and B, B is the principal debtor, and A, C and D are his sureties. As between E and A, A is the principal debtor, and C and D are his sureties. As between E and C, C is the principal debtor and D is his surety.

40. When the holder of an accepted bill of exchange enters into any contract with the acceptor which under section 134 or 135 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, would discharge the other parties, the holder may expressly reserve his right to charge the other parties, and in such case they are not discharged.

41. Where the holder of a negotiable instrument, without the consent of the indorser, destroys or impairs the indorser's remedy against a prior party, the indorser is discharged from liability to the holder to the same extent as if the instrument had been paid at maturity.

Illustration.

A is the holder of a bill of exchange made payable to the order of B, which contains the following indorsements in blank:—

First indorsement, "B."

Second indorsement, "Peter Williams."

Third indorsement, "Wright and Co."

Fourth indorsement, "John Rozario."

This bill A puts in suit against John Rozario and strikes out, without John Rozario's consent, the indorsements by Peter Williams and Wright and Co. A is not entitled to recover anything from John Rozario.

42. No maker of a promissory note, and no drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque, and no acceptor of a bill of exchange for the honour of the drawer shall, in a suit thereon by a holder in due course, be permitted to deny the validity of the instrument as originally made or drawn.

43. No maker of a promissory note and no acceptor of a bill of exchange payable to, or to the order of, a specified person shall, in a suit thereon by a holder in due course, be permitted to deny the payee's capacity, at the date of the note or bill, to indorse the same.

44. No indorser of a negotiable instrument shall, in a suit thereon by a subsequent holder, be permitted to deny the signature or capacity to contract of any prior party to the instrument.

45. An acceptor of a bill of exchange already indorsed is not relieved from liability by reason that such indorsement is forged, if he knew or had reason to believe the indorsement to be forged when he accepted the bill.

46. An acceptor of a bill of exchange drawn in a fictitious name and payable to the drawer's order is not, by reason that such name is fictitious, relieved from liability to any holder in due course claiming under an indorsement by the same hand as the drawer's signature, and purporting to be made by the drawer.

47. If at any time there has been consideration between any parties to a negotiable instrument for the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, negotiation or transfer thereof, the party receiving such consideration is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, liable upon the instrument to all subsequent parties thereto, and every subsequent holder is, as against him, a holder for consideration.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 49, 50, 59, 65, 66, 68, 72, 73, 76, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90 and 91.

Illustrations.

(a) A indorses a bill of exchange to B, at the request of C, for C's account with B. B is a holder of the bill for consideration, and if he indorses it as a present to D, D is a holder for consideration as against A.

(b) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument, indorses it in full to B, in the belief that B has done something which he has not done. B, for consideration proceeding from C, indorses the instrument in blank to C, and C indorses it to D. D strikes out C's indorsement. D is a holder of the instrument for consideration as against B.

48. When there was no consideration for the making, drawing, acceptance or indorsement of a negotiable instrument, or when the consideration has wholly failed, the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is not liable thereon to the party in whose favour the instrument was so made, drawn, accepted or indorsed, or to any party claiming through him, unless consideration was given by the claimant or by some party through whom he derives title. But the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is liable to compensate any subsequent party who, being liable on such instrument, pays the amount due thereon.

Party not liable to one from whom no consideration moved.

49. When the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque consisted of money, and was originally absent in part or has subsequently failed in part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Partial absence or failure of money-consideration.

Explanation.—The drawer of a bill of exchange stands in immediate relation with the acceptor. The maker of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, stands in immediate relation with the payee, and the indorser with his indorsee. Other signers may by agreement stand in immediate relation with a holder.

Illustration.

A draws a bill on B for Rs. 500 payable to the order of A. B accepts the bill, but subsequently dishonours it by non-payment. A sues B on the bill. B proves that it was accepted for value as to Rs. 400, and as an accommodation to the plaintiff as to the residue. A can only recover Rs. 400.

50. Where a part of the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, though not consisting of money, is ascertainable in money without collateral enquiry, and there has been a failure of that part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Partial failure of consideration not consisting of money.

OF NEGOTIATION.

51. Subject to the provisions of section 62, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to bearer is negotiable by delivery thereof.

Negotiation by delivery.

Exception.—A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque delivered on condition that it is not to take effect except in a certain event is not negotiable (except in the hands of a holder for value without notice of the condition) unless such event happens.

Illustrations.

(a) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, delivers it to B's agent to keep for B. The instrument has been negotiated.

(b) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer which is in the hands of A's banker, who is at the time the banker of B, directs the banker to transfer the instrument to B's credit in the banker's account with B. The banker does so and accordingly now possesses the instrument as B's agent. The instrument has been negotiated, and B has become the holder of it.

52. Subject to the provisions of section 62, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to the order of a specified person, or to a specified person or order, is negotiable by the holder by indorsement and delivery thereof.

Negotiation by indorsement.

53. The holder of a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank may, without signing his own name, by writing above the indorser's signature a direction to pay to any other person as indorsee, convert the indorsement in blank into an indorsement in full; and the holder does not thereby incur the responsibility of an indorser.

Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

54. The indorsement of a negotiable instrument
Effect of indorsement. followed by delivery transfers to the indorsee the property therein with the right of further negotiation; but the indorsement may, by express words, restrict or exclude such right, or may merely constitute the indorsee an agent to indorse the instrument, or to receive its contents for the indorser, or for some other specified person.

Illustrations.

B signs the following indorsements on different negotiable instruments payable to bearer:—

- (a) "Pay the contents to C only."
- (b) "Pay C for my use."
- (c) "Pay C or order for the account of B."
- (d) "The within must be credited to C."

These indorsements exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

(e) "Pay C."

(f) "Pay C value in account with the Oriental Bank."

(g) "Pay the contents to C, being part of the consideration in a certain deed of assignment executed by C to the indorser and others."

These indorsements do not exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

55. Every sole maker, drawer, payee or indorsee, or all of several joint makers, drawers, payees or indorsees, of a negotiable instrument may, if the negotiability of such instrument has not been restricted or excluded, as mentioned in section 54, indorse and negotiate the same.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section enables a maker or drawer to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is in lawful possession or is holder thereof; or enables a payee or indorsee to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is holder thereof.

Illustration.

A bill is drawn payable to A or order. A indorses it to B, the indorsement not containing the words "or order" or any equivalent words. B may negotiate the instrument.

56. The indorser of a negotiable instrument may, by express words in the indorsement, exclude his own liability or make it conditional. liability thereon, or make such liability or the right of the indorsee to receive the amount due thereon, depend upon the happening of a specified event, although such event may never happen.

Where an indorser so excludes his liability and afterwards becomes the holder of the instrument, all intermediate indorsers are liable to him.

Illustrations.

(a.) The indorser of a negotiable instrument signs his name, adding the words—

"Without recourse."

Upon this indorsement he incurs no liability.

(b.) A is the payee and holder of a negotiable instrument. Excluding personal liability by an indorsement "without recourse," he transfers the instrument to B, and B indorses it to C, who indorses it to A. A is not only reinstated in his former rights, but has the rights of an indorsee against B and C.

57. A holder of a negotiable instrument who derives title from a holder in due course has the rights thereon of that holder in due course.

Holder deriving title from holder in due course.

58. Subject to the provisions of sections 121 and 122, a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank is payable to the bearer thereof even although originally payable to order.

59. If a negotiable instrument after having been indorsed in blank is indorsed in full, the amount of it cannot be claimed from the indorser in full, except by the person to whom it has been indorsed in full, or by one who derives title through such person.

Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

Indorsement for part of sum due.

61. The legal representative of a deceased person cannot negotiate by delivery only a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to order and indorsed by the deceased but not delivered.

Legal representative cannot by delivery only negotiate instrument indorsed by deceased.

62. When a negotiable instrument has been lost, or has been obtained by unlawful means or for unlawful consideration, holder thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for an unlawful consideration, no possessor or indorsee who claims through the person who found or so obtained the instrument is entitled to receive the amount due thereon from such maker, acceptor or holder, or from any party prior to such holder, unless such possessor or indorsee is, or some person through whom he claims was, a holder thereof in due course.

63. The holder of a negotiable instrument, who has acquired it after dishonour, whether by non-acceptance or non-payment, with notice thereof, or after maturity, has only, as against the other parties, the rights thereon of his transferor:

Instrument acquired after dishonour or when overdue.

Provided that any person who, in good faith and for consideration, becomes the holder, after maturity, of a promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted without consideration for the purpose of enabling some party thereto to raise money thereon, may recover the amount of the note or bill from any prior party.

Accommodation note or bill.

Illustration.

The acceptor of a bill of exchange, when he accepted it deposited with the drawer certain goods as a collateral security for the payment of the bill, with power to the drawer to sell the goods and apply the proceeds in discharge of the bill if it were not paid at maturity. The bill not having been paid at maturity, the drawer sold the goods and retained the proceeds, but indorsed the bill to A. A's title is subject to the same objection as the drawer's title.

64. A negotiable instrument may be negotiated (except by the maker, drawee or acceptor after maturity) until payment or satisfaction thereof by the maker, drawee or acceptor at or after maturity, but not after such payment or satisfaction.

Instrument negotiable till payment or satisfaction.

CHAPTER V.

OF PRESENTMENT.

65. A bill of exchange payable after sight must, if no time or place is specified therein for presentment, be presented to the drawee thereof for acceptance, if he can, after reasonable search, be found, by a person entitled to demand acceptance, within a reasonable time after it is drawn, and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment, no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

If the drawee cannot, after reasonable search be found, the bill is dishonoured.

If the bill is directed to the drawee at a particular place, it must be presented at that place; and if at the due date for presentment he cannot, after reasonable search, be found there, the bill is dishonoured.

66. A promissory note, payable at a certain period after sight, must be presented to the maker thereof for sight, by a person entitled to demand payment, within a reasonable time after it is made and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

67. The holder may allow the drawee of a bill of exchange presented to him for acceptance twenty-four hours (exclusive of public holidays) to consider whether he will accept it.

68. Promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques must be presented for payment to the maker, acceptor or drawee thereof respectively, by or on behalf of the holder as hereinafter provided. In default of such presentment, the other parties thereto are not liable thereon to such holder.

Exception.—Where a promissory note is payable on demand and is not payable at a specified place, no presentment is necessary in order to charge the maker thereof.

69. Presentment for payment must be made during the usual hours of business, and, if at a banker's, within banking hours.

70. A promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable at a specified period after date or sight thereof, must be presented for payment at maturity.

71. A promissory note payable by instalments must be presented for payment on the third day after the date fixed for payment of each instalment; and non-payment on such presentment has the same effect as non-payment of a note at maturity.

72. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place and not elsewhere, must be presented for payment at that place.

73. A promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place must, in order to charge the maker or drawer thereof, be presented for payment at that place.

74. A promissory note or bill of exchange, not made payable as mentioned in sections 72 and 73, must be presented for payment at one of the places specified (if any), or at the place of business (if any), or at the usual residence, of the maker, drawee or acceptor thereof, as the case may be.

75. If the maker, drawee or acceptor of a negotiable instrument has no known place of business or fixed residence, and no place is specified in the instrument for presentment for acceptance or payment, such presentment may be made to him in person wherever he can be found.

76. A cheque must, in order to charge the drawer, be presented at the bank upon which it is drawn before the relation between the drawer and his banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer.

77. A cheque must, in order to charge any person except the drawer, be presented within a reasonable time after delivery thereof by such person.

78. Subject to the provisions of section 33, a negotiable instrument payable on demand must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after it is received by the holder.

79. Presentment for acceptance or payment may be made to the duly authorized agent of the drawee, maker or acceptor, as the case may be, or where the drawee, maker or acceptor has died, to his legal representative, or where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee.

80. No presentment for payment is necessary, and the instrument is dishonoured at the due date for presentment, in any of the following cases:—

(a) if the maker, drawee or acceptor intentionally prevents the presentment of the instrument, or, if the instrument being payable at his place of business, he closes such place on a business day during the usual business-hours, or if the instrument being payable at some other specified place, neither he nor any person authorized to pay it attends at such place during the usual business hours, or if the instrument not being payable at any specified place, he cannot after due search be found;

(b) as against any party if, after maturity, with knowledge that the instrument has not been presented—he makes a part payment on account of the amount due on the instrument, or promises to pay the amount due thereon in whole or in part, •

Or otherwise waives his right to take advantage of any default in presentment for payment;

(c) as against the drawer, if the drawer could not suffer damage from the want of such presentment.

81. When a bill of exchange, accepted payable properly keeps, deals with or delivers back such bill as to cause loss to the holder, he must compensate the holder for such loss.

Liability of banker at a specified bank, has been for negligently dealing with bill presented for payment.

CHAPTER VI.

OF PAYMENT AND INTEREST.

82. Subject to the provisions of section 86,

To whom payment should be made. clause (c), payment of the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque must, in order to discharge the maker or acceptor, be made to the holder of the instrument.

83. When interest at a specified rate is ex-

Interest when rate specified. pressly made payable on a promissory note or bill of exchange, interest shall be calculated at the rate specified, on the amount and from the date of the instrument, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon, or until such date after the institution of a suit to recover such amount as the Court directs.

84. When no rate of interest is specified in the Interest when no rate specified. instrument, interest on the amount thereof shall, except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532, be calculated at the rate of six per centum per annum, from the date at which the same ought to have been paid by the party charged, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon or until such date after the institution of a suit to recover such amount as the Court directs.

Explanation.—When the party charged is the indorser of an instrument dishonoured by non-payment, he is liable to pay interest only from the time that he receives notice of the dishonour.

85. Any person liable to pay, and called upon

Delivery of instrument on payment, or indemnity in case of loss. by the holder thereof to pay, the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is before payment entitled to have it shown, and is on payment entitled to have it delivered up, to him, or, if the instrument is lost or cannot be produced, to be indemnified against any further claim thereon against him.

CHAPTER VII.

OF DISCHARGE FROM LIABILITY ON NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

86. The maker, acceptor or indorser respect-

Discharge from liability. ively of a negotiable instrument is discharged from liability thereon—

(a) to a holder thereof who cancels such acceptor's or indorser's name with intent by cancellation, to discharge him, and to all parties claiming under such holder.

(b) to a holder thereof who otherwise discharges by release, such maker, acceptor or indorser, and to all parties deriving title under such holder after notice of such discharge;

(c) to all parties thereto, if the instrument is by payment. payable to bearer, or has been indorsed in blank, and such maker, acceptor or indorser makes payment in due course of the amount due thereon.

87. If the holder of a bill of exchange allows the drawee more than twenty-four hours to consider whether he will accept the same, all previous parties not consenting to such allowance are thereby discharged from liability to such holder.

88. When the holder of a cheque fails to present it for payment, and the drawer thereof sustains loss or damage from such failure, he is discharged from liability to the holder.

89. Where a cheque payable to order, purports to be indorsed by or on behalf of the payee, the drawee is discharged by payment in due course.

90. If the holder of a bill of exchange acquiesces in a conditional acceptance, or one limited to part of the sum mentioned in the bill, or which substitutes a different place or time for payment, or which, where the drawers are not partners is not signed by all the drawees, all previous parties whose consent is not obtained to such acceptance are discharged as against the holder and those claiming under him.

91. Save as provided in sections 20, 53, 90 and 120, any material alteration of a negotiable instrument renders the same void as against any one who is a party thereto at the time of making such alteration and does not consent thereto, unless it was made in order to carry out the common intention of the original parties; and any such alteration if made by an indorsee, discharges his indorser from all liability to him in respect of the consideration thereof.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 20, 53, 90 and 120.

92. An acceptor or indorser of a negotiable instrument is bound by his acceptance or indorsement notwithstanding any previous alteration of the instrument.

93. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque has been materially altered, but does not appear to have been so altered, or where a cheque is presented for payment which does not at the time of presentation appear to be crossed or to have had a crossing which has been obliterated, payment thereof by a person or banker liable to pay and paying the same according to the apparent tenor thereof at the time of payment and otherwise in due course, shall discharge such person or banker from all liability thereon, and such payment shall not be questioned by reason of the instrument having been altered, or the cheque crossed.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF NOTICE OF DISHONOUR.

94. A bill of exchange is said to be dishonoured by non-acceptance when the drawee, or one of several drawees not being partners, makes default in acceptance upon being duly required to accept the bill.

Where the drawee is incompetent to contract the bill may be treated as dishonoured.

95. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is said to be dishonoured by non-payment when the maker of the note, acceptor of the bill, or drawee of the cheque makes default in payment upon being duly required to pay the same.

96. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder thereof, or some party thereto who remains liable thereon, must give notice that the instrument has been so dishonoured to all other parties whom the holder seeks to make severally liable thereon, and to some one of several parties whom he seeks to make jointly liable thereon.

Nothing in this section renders it necessary to give notice to the maker of the dishonoured promissory note, or the drawee or acceptor of the dishonoured bill of exchange or cheque.

97. Notice of dishonour may be given to a duly authorised agent of the person to whom it is required to be given, or, where he has died, to his legal representative, or, where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee; may be oral or written; may, if written, be sent by post; and may be in any form; but it must inform the party to whom it is given, either in express terms or by reasonable intendment, that the instrument has been dishonoured, and in what way, and that he will be held liable thereon; and it must be given within a reasonable time after dishonour, at the place of business, or (in case such party has no place of business) at the residence of the party for whom it is intended.

If the notice is sent by post and miscarries, such miscarriage does not render the notice invalid.

98. Any party receiving notice of dishonour must, in order to render any prior party liable to himself, transmit it to such party within a reasonable time, unless such party otherwise receives due notice as provided by section 96.

99. When the instrument is deposited with an agent for presentment, the agent is entitled to the same time to give notice to his principal as if he were the holder giving notice of dishonour, and the principal is entitled to a further like period to give notice of dishonour.

100. When the party to whom notice of dishonour is despatched is dead, but the party despatching the notice is ignorant of his death, the notice is sufficient.

When notice of dishonour is unnecessary. 101. No notice of dishonour is necessary—

(a) when it is dispensed with by the party entitled thereto;

(b) in order to charge the drawer, when he has countermanded payment;

(c) when the party charged could not suffer damage for want of notice;

(d) when the party entitled to notice cannot after due search be found; or the party bound to give notice is, for any other reason, unable without any fault of his own to give it;

(e) to charge the drawers, when the acceptor is also a drawer;

(f) in the case of a promissory note which is not negotiable;

(g) when the party entitled to notice, knowing the facts, promises unconditionally to pay the amount due on the instrument.

CHAPTER IX.

OF NOTING AND PROTEST.

102. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may cause such dishonour to be noted by a notary public upon the instrument, or upon a paper attached thereto, or partly upon each.

Such note must be made within a reasonable time after dishonour, and must specify the date of dishonour, the reason, if any, assigned for such dishonour, or, if the instrument has not been expressly dishonoured, the reason why the holder treats it as dishonoured, and the notary's charges.

103. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause such dishonour to be noted and certified by a notary public. Such certificate is called a protest, and in a suit upon the instrument, on proof of the protest, the Court shall presume the fact of dishonour, unless and until such fact is disproved.

When the acceptor of a bill of exchange has become insolvent, or his credit has been publicly impeached, before the maturity of the bill, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause a notary public to demand better security of the acceptor, and on its being refused may, within a reasonable time, cause such facts to be noted and certified as aforesaid. Such certificate is called a protest for better security.

104. A protest under section 103 must contain—

(a) either the instrument itself, or a literal transcript of the instrument and of everything written or printed thereupon;

(b) the name of the person for whom and against whom the instrument has been protested;

(c) a statement, that payment or acceptance, or better security, as the case may be, has been demanded of such person by the notary public; the terms of his answer, if any, or a statement that he gave no answer, or that he could not be found;

(d) when the note or bill has been dishonoured, the place and time of dishonour, and when better security has been refused, the place and time of refusal;

(e) the subscription of the notary public making the protest;

(f) in the event of an acceptance for honour or of a payment for honour, the name of the person by whom, of the person for whom, and the manner in which, such acceptance or payment was offered and effected.

105. When a promissory note or bill of exchange is required by law to be protested, notice of such protest must be given instead of notice of dishonour, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions; but the notice may be given by the notary public who makes the protest.

106. All bills of exchange drawn payable at some other place than the place mentioned as the residence of the drawee, and which are dishonoured by non-acceptance, may, without further presentment to the drawee, be protested for non-payment, in the place specified for payment, unless paid before or at maturity.

CHAPTER X.

OF REASONABLE TIME.

107. In determining what is a reasonable time for presentment for acceptance or payment, for giving notice of dishonour and for noting, regard shall be had to the nature of the instrument and the usual course of dealing with respect to similar instruments; and in calculating such time, public holidays shall be excluded.

108. Presentment is made within a reasonable time, within the meaning of sections 65, 77 and 78, if it is made on the business day next after that on which the holder received the instrument referred to, or when there is no more delay than is occasioned by the residence of the parties to the instrument in different places.

Illustration.

A draws on B, resident at Calcutta, a bill of exchange in favour of C payable at sight, and sends it to C at Benares. C, the day after he receives it, indorses it to D, and despatches it to D at Calcutta. D, the day after he receives the bill, presents it for payment. The delay which has taken place in presenting the bill is not unreasonable.

109. If the holder and the party to whom notice of dishonour is given carry on business or live (as the case may be) in different places, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched by the next post or on the day next after the day of dishonour.

If the said parties carry on business or live in the same place, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched in time to reach its destination on the day next after the day of dishonour.

110. A party receiving notice of dishonour, who seeks to enforce his right against a prior party, transmits the notice within a reasonable time if he transmits it within the same time after its receipt as he would have had to give notice if he had been the holder.

CHAPTER XI.

OF ACCEPTANCE AND PAYMENT FOR HONOUR.

111. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-acceptance or for better security, any person may, with the consent of the holder, by writing on the bill, accept the same for the honour of any party thereto.

112. Where the acceptance does not express for whose honour it is made, it shall be deemed to be made for the honour of the drawer.

113. An acceptor for honour binds himself to all parties subsequent to the party for whose honour he accepts to pay the amount of the bill if the drawee do not; and such party and all prior parties are liable in their respective capacities to compensate the acceptor for honour for all loss or damage sustained by him in consequence of such acceptance.

But an acceptor for honour is not liable to the holder of the bill unless it is presented, or (in case the address given by such acceptor on the bill is a place other than the place where the bill is made payable) forwarded for presentment, not later than the day next after the day of its maturity.

114. An acceptor for honour cannot be charged unless the bill has at its maturity been presented to the drawee for payment and has been dishonoured by him, and noted or protested for such dishonour.

115. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-payment, any person may pay the same for the honour of any party liable to pay the same, provided that the person so paying has previously declared before a notary public the party for whose honour he pays, and that such declaration has been recorded by such notary public.

116. Any person so paying is entitled to all the rights, in respect of the bill, of the holder at the time of such payment, and may recover from the party for whose honour he pays all sums so paid, with interest thereon and with all expenses properly incurred in making such payment.

CHAPTER XII.

OF COMPENSATION.

117. The compensation payable in case of dishonour of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, by any party liable to the holder or any indorsee, shall (except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532) be determined by the following rules:—

(a) The holder is entitled to the amount due upon the instrument, together with the expenses properly incurred in presenting, noting and protesting it;

(b) When the person charged resides at a place different from that at which the instrument was payable, the holder is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;

(c) An indorser who, being liable, has paid the amount due on the same is entitled to the amount so paid with interest at six per centum per annum from the date of payment until tender or realization thereof, together with all expenses caused by the dishonour and payment;

(d) When the person charged and such indorser reside at different places, the indorser is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;

(e) The party entitled to compensation may draw a bill upon the party liable to compensate him, payable at sight or on demand, for the amount due to him together with all expenses properly incurred by him. Such bill must be accompanied by the instrument dishonoured and the protest thereof (if any). If such bill is dishonoured, the party dishonouring the same is liable to make compensation thereof in the same manner as in the case of the original bill.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF CROSSED CHEQUES.

118. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the words "and company" or any abbreviation thereof, between two parallel transverse lines, or of two parallel transverse lines simply, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed generally.

119. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the name of a banker, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed specially, and to be crossed to that banker.

120. Where a cheque is uncrossed, the holder may cross it generally or specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally, the holder may cross it specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally or specially the holder may add the words "not negotiable."

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker to whom it is crossed may again cross it specially to another banker, his agent, for collection.

121. Where a cheque is crossed generally, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to a banker.

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to the banker to whom it is crossed, or his agent for collection.

122. Where a cheque is crossed specially to more than one banker, except when crossed to an agent for the purpose of collection, the banker on whom it is drawn shall refuse payment thereof.

123. Where the banker on whom a crossed cheque is drawn has paid the same in due course, the banker paying the cheque, and (in case such cheque has come to the hands of the payee) the drawer thereof, shall respectively be entitled to the same rights, and be placed in the same position in all respects, as they would respectively be entitled to and placed in if the amount of the cheque had been paid to and received by the true owner thereof.

124. Any banker paying a cheque crossed generally otherwise than to a banker, or a cheque crossed specially otherwise than to the banker to whom the same is crossed, or his agent for collection, being a banker, shall be liable to the true owner of the cheque for any loss he may sustain owing to the cheque having been so paid.

125. A person taking a cheque crossed generally or specially, bearing in either case the words "not negotiable," shall not have, and shall not be capable of giving, a better title to the cheque than that which the person from whom he took it had.

But a banker who has in good faith and without negligence received payment from a customer of a cheque crossed generally or specially to himself shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF FOREIGN BILLS.

126. Foreign bills of exchange may be drawn in parts, each part being numbered and containing a provision that it shall continue payable only so long as the others remain unpaid. All the parts together make a set; but the whole set constitutes only one bill, and is extinguished when one of the parts, if a separate bill, would be extinguished.

Exception.—When a person accepts or indorses different parts of the bill in favour of different persons, he is liable on each part as if it were a separate bill.

127. As between holders in due course of different parts of the same set, he who first acquired title to his part is entitled to the other parts and the money represented by the bill.

128. Where a drawee in case of need is named in a foreign bill of exchange, the bill is not dishonoured until dishonoured by such drawee.

129. Foreign bills of exchange must be protested for dishonour when such protest is required by the law of the place where they are drawn.

CHAPTER XV.

OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

130. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the liability of the maker or drawer of a foreign promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is regulated in all essential matters by the law of the place where he made the instrument, and the respective liabilities of the acceptor and indorser by the law of the place where the instrument is made payable.

Illustrations.

A bill of exchange was drawn by A in California, where the rate of interest is 25 per cent., and accepted by B, payable in Washington, where the rate of interest is 6 per cent. The bill is endorsed in British India, and is dishonoured. An action on the bill is brought against B in British India. He is liable to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent. only; but if A is charged as drawer, A is liable to pay interest at the rate of 25 per cent.

131. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is made payable in a different place from that in which it is made or indorsed, the law of the place where it is made payable determines what constitutes dishonour and what notice of dishonour is sufficient.

notice thereof in accordance with the law of France, though not in accordance with the rules herein contained in respect of bills which are not foreign. The notice is sufficient.

Abstract of opinions received from District Officers, with remarks thereon by the Member in charge.
Memorial of the Rajshahye Association, dated 25th November 1878.

We have considered the communications noted in the margin.

The principal alteration which we have made in the Bill is that the Board of Revenue, and not the Commissioner of the Division, is to be the Court of Wards. Up to the year 1870, when the present Court of Wards' Act passed into law, the Board of Revenue discharged the functions of the Court of Wards, but the Court of Wards' Act, 1870, constituted each Commissioner a Court of Wards for his division, leaving a controlling power to the Board of Revenue. This example was not followed when the revenue laws of the North-Western Provinces were consolidated in 1873. There the Board of Revenue is still the Court of Wards, exercising its powers through the Commissioners and Collectors. We have decided, after mature consideration, to revert to the old system as maintained in the North-Western Provinces Land Revenue Act of 1873. The experience of the last nine years has shown that the innovation of 1870 has been a change more in form than in substance. The Board of Revenue still remains the central controlling authority for the superintendence of wards' estates, the body which really performs the duties of a general Court of Wards for Bengal. We do not, however, wish to give the Board a larger control than it has hitherto possessed, or to weaken the proper responsibility and influence of the local authorities by over centralization. To obviate any such result we have provided that the Court of Wards may exercise all powers conferred on it through the Commissioners and Collectors, and that it may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, delegate any of its powers to the same authorities.

The Bill as referred to us contained 104 sections. Many of its provisions were unnecessarily prolix, not a few were couched in involved and ambiguous language, while others dealt with executive matters which are obviously better provided for by rules. The new constitution of the Court of Wards has also rendered superfluous the distinctions between the authority of the Commissioners and Collectors, which were a constant source of confusion in the old law. We have been able, without omitting any material provision, to compress the Bill into 66 sections. The arrangement of subjects remains much the same, but the Bill has been recast into a more simple and intelligible form.

We now proceed to notice the changes in detail serialim.

PART I.—PRELIMINARY.

We have altered the definition of "estate" and have added definitions of "minor" and "ward."

PART II.—CONSTITUTION AND GENERAL POWERS OF THE COURT OF WARDS.

We have given to the Court a power to lease lands in putnee, the need of which has been often felt, but we have limited this power by making it necessary to obtain the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in each instance.

We have added to this Part, which deals with the constitution and general powers of the Court, several provisions which naturally belong to it, but which were scattered through the Bill. Parts VIII and IX of that Bill, which provide for the education of minor wards and the debts of estates, fall within this category.

PART III.—DISQUALIFIED PROPRIETORS AND THEIR ESTATES.

We have deemed it advisable to omit from the list of disqualified proprietors those who are "declared by the Court on their own application to be disqualified from managing their estates."

We have provided that the Court may take charge of any minor member of a ward's family who has an immediate or reversionary interest in the ward's estate, and who has no guardian appointed by will or by the Civil Court.

We have repealed sections 12, 14, and 15 of Act XL of 1858, which contained rules for the guidance of the Civil Courts when dealing with minors whose estates are subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, and we have substituted a new procedure, under which the Civil Court may direct the Court of Wards (not the Collector) to take charge of an estate; if the Court of Wards consents to take charge, the estate is to be managed according to the provisions of the Court of Wards' Act. In the case of an estate which has ceased to be under the Court of Wards although some of the proprietors are still disqualified, we have empowered the Civil Court to direct the Court of Wards (not the Collector) to take charge of the estate. We think it convenient that the law on these points should be embodied in the Court of Wards' Act, and the new procedure seems to us better adapted to meet the objects of the repealed sections.

Section 10 of the Bill as referred to us provided that a person who acquired an estate while subject to disqualification was not necessarily to become a ward of Court unless certain conditions were fulfilled, but gave the Board of Revenue a discretionary power to take charge of the estate although the conditions were not fulfilled. We have omitted this section, as it is covered by the general power conferred on the Court of assuming or declining the management of the estate of any disqualified proprietor.

We have provided that when an arrear of revenue accrues in the estate of a minor who is not under the superintendence of the Court, the Collector may attach the estate and collect the rents and arrears of rent.

PART IV.—ASCERTAINMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION.

We have omitted Part IV of the old Bill which defined the powers of Collectors when an estate is in different districts or different divisions. This is clearly a subject for rules.

We have altered the sections which dealt with the powers of Collectors when ascertaining whether a proprietor is disqualified. Instead of the detailed provisions prescribing an inquiry by the Collector into the competency of females and the age of minors, we provide that the Collector is to report from time to time to the Court what proprietors are disqualified, whereupon the Court will decide whether the estate is to be taken charge of. But the Court or the local Government may put the provisions of the Act in force without any report from the Collector. We have empowered the Collector to order by proclamation that no rents due to the estate shall be paid until it is decided whether the Court is to take charge. If the estate is not eventually brought under the superintendence of the Court, all provisional expenses incurred by the Collector for the security of the estate and the moveable property of the owner are to be recovered from the estate.

PART V.—PROCEDURE AFTER ASCERTAINMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION.

We have increased the powers of Collectors when taking charge of an estate on behalf of the Court by allowing them to compel the attendance of all persons in the employ of the late proprietor or of the ward, to enforce the delivery of accounts, papers, and moveable property, and to require holders of tenures to produce their titles.

PART VI.—MANAGERS AND GUARDIANS.

We have inserted two sections taken from the North-Western Provinces Land Revenue Act of 1873, which describe the general powers and general duties of a manager.

We have provided that when a manager gives a bond for the due performance of his duties under the Act, the penalty shall be recoverable as a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

We have omitted the clause which provided that managers and guardians should be public accountants under Act XII of 1850. This is unnecessary, as they are already liable to give security.

We have amended the sections which provide for the expenditure of the income of the estate. After payment of the ward's allowance and charges of management, and discharge of Government revenue and other public demands, the surplus is to be applied as the Court may direct—

- in liquidation of debts;
- in payment of the religious, charitable, and other allowances which were previously paid, and such allowances and donations befitting the position of the ward's family as the Court may approve,
- in the improvement of the lands of the ward or otherwise for the benefit of the ward or his property.

All the sections in this Part which regulate the accounts of managers and guardians have been struck out. The Court is authorized to make rules prescribing the periods at

The custody of securities and papers has also been relegated to the rules.

The powers of the Court with regard to appointing managers and guardians and their establishments have been transferred to Part II.

The above are the principal changes made in this Part, which has been reduced to about one-third of its old compass. Generally speaking it may be said that, with the exceptions noted above, the old law has been retained, but in a much clearer and more compendious form.

PART VII.—SUITS.

We have allowed a manager to authorize a plaint to be filed to save a suit from being barred by limitation.

We have restored the wording of the present law as regards submission to arbitration and compromise.

PART VIII.—PENALTIES.

This is a new Part, in which all the penalties have been brought together. The powers of the Collector are increased by authorizing him to fine persons who disobey his orders when he is taking steps for the preservation of the property before the proprietor becomes a ward of Court, or when he is taking possession of the estate after the proprietor has been declared ward. A new clause is also added rendering disobedience to the lawful orders of the Court punishable on conviction before a Magistrate, in the case of managers and guardians, with a fine of Rs. 1,000, in the case of other persons, with a fine of Rs. 500.

PART IX.—MISCELLANEOUS.

The sections relating to the procedure to be followed when a proprietor ceases to be a ward of Court have been struck out, and a clause has been inserted empowering the Court to make rules for the purpose.

The two schedules which contained the forms of agreements to be executed by managers and guardians have been omitted as unnecessary. The amended Bill provides that managers and guardians shall give such security as the Court thinks fit.

The 25th February 1879.

I SIGN this report with those reservations.

With reference to the power of sale given to the Court by section 8, I am of opinion that the sanction of the local Government should be necessary for the permanent alienation of a property or any part of it in charge of the Court, as in the case of permanent leases.

Also in the case of females with life interests, the surplus, instead of being invested as mentioned in section 45, should, in my opinion, be made over to them.

PRAMATHA NATHA ROY, of Deghapateah.

A Bill to amend the law relating to the Court of Wards within the provinces under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to the Court of Wards within the provinces under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; It is enacted as follows:—

CONSTITUTION AND GENERAL POWERS OF THE COURT OF WARDS.

4. The Board of Revenue shall be the Court of Wards.

5. The Court of Wards shall have the superintendence and management of the persons and property of all proprietors of estates who are disqualified for the management of their own lands, or who are put under the charge of the Collector by order of the Civil Court under the provisions of any Act for the time being in force.

6. The Court may exercise all powers conferred on it by this Act through the Commissioners of the divisions and the Collectors of the districts in which any part of the property of its wards may be situated, or through any other person whom it may appoint for such purpose.

All the powers of the Court shall be exercised subject to the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

The Court may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, from time to time delegate any of its powers to such Commissioners or Collectors or person as aforesaid, and may at any time with the like consent revoke such delegation.

The Court may also, after a disqualified proprietor has been released from its superintendence, make him again a ward of Court.

8. The Court shall have power to give such leases or farms of the whole or parts of the property under its charge, and to mortgage or sell any part of such property, and to do all such other acts as it may judge to be most for the benefit of the property, and the advantage of the disqualified proprietors:

Provided that no estate or part of an estate coming under the charge of the Court shall be leased in putnee or other permanent under-tenure without the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

9. If any property ordered to be sold or mortgaged by the Court is part of an estate of which the ward is the sole proprietor, or if it is a share of an estate separated under Act XI of 1859, or section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, and if it appears to the Court that it will be to the interest of a ward, or of the Government, that such part or share be formed into a separate estate prior to such sale or mortgage being effected, the Court may direct the Collector to partition it off into a separate estate, and such partition shall be conducted in accordance with the law for the time being in force for the partition of estates.

10. If on the death of any ward the succession to his property or any part thereof is in dispute, the Court may either make over such property or part thereof to any person claiming such property, or continue the charge and management of the same under the provisions of this Act, until the right to possession of the claimant has been determined by the Collector under section 55 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, or until the dispute has been determined by a competent Court.

11. The Court may appoint managers of the property of disqualified proprietors and guardians for the care of their persons, and may remove and control such managers and guardians.

Appointments of guardians made by will shall not be valid unless and until confirmed by the Court:

The Court may fix such establishments of officers and servants to act under managers or guardians as to it may seem fit.

12. The Court may make such orders as to it may seem fit as to the custody, education, and residence of minor wards and the minor members of a ward's family who have no guardian appointed by will or by the Civil Court.

13. The Court shall allow for the support of each ward, and of his family, such monthly sum as it thinks fit with regard to the rank and circumstances of the parties.

PART III.

DISQUALIFIED PROPRIETORS AND THEIR ESTATES.

- (a) females deemed by the Court incompetent to manage their own estates;
- (b) minors;
- (c) lunatics;
- (d) idiots;
- (e) persons otherwise rendered incapable by physical defects or infirmities from managing their own estates.

Proceedings (Education), December 1878, Nos. 10-14

IN August last the Maharajah of Mohurbhunj wrote to the Lieutenant Governor expressing his desire to mark, by the expenditure of Rs. 20,000 upon some good work, his appreciation of the services rendered to the division of Orissa by the late Commissioner, Mr. Ravenshaw. The Maharajah suggested that the money might be advantageously devoted to the encouragement of female education; but at the same time expressed his readiness to acquiesce in any scheme which the Lieutenant-Governor might consider to be better suited to the present wants of the division.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor, after consulting the present Commissioner and the Director of Public Instruction, was of opinion that the time had not yet arrived for the successful introduction into the Orissa Division of a general scheme of female education, and thought it would be preferable if the money could be applied to helping to secure the permanent establishment of the Cuttack College, an object in which Mr. Ravenshaw has always taken a lively interest.

3. This view has been fully accepted by the Maharajah, who now requests that his donation of Rs. 20,000 may be invested for the permanent establishment of the Cuttack College, begging further that the College may in future be designated the "Ravenshaw College, Cuttack," in commemoration of Mr. Ravenshaw's long and good service in Orissa, and that this fact be engraved on a marble slab to be placed in the hall of the College, and separately paid for by the Maharajah.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts with pleasure the very liberal gift of the Maharajah, and desires that the thanks of Government may be conveyed to him through the Commissioner of Orissa. The donation will be invested in Government Promissory Notes in the names of the Accountant-General and the Financial Secretary to this Government, and the proceeds be disbursed through the Director of Public Instruction for the benefit of the Cuttack College, which will henceforward be designated the "Ravenshaw College, Cuttack."

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for communication to the Maharajah of Mohurbhunj through the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, who should at the same time be requested to convey the thanks of Government to the Maharajah.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Accountant-General, Bengal, for information and needful action in reference to paragraph 4.

Ordered further that this Resolution be published in the next issue of the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

	27 Shahabad, " 22 "	0.73	A good shower of rain fell in the afternoon of the 15th. Weather clear since the 16th. On the whole the rain of the 15th has done good to the rubbee crops. Small-pox is prevalent.
	28 Durbhunga, " 22 "	0.47	Weather—fair and seasonable. The late rains have benefited to a certain extent wheat, barley, and some other crops, but have on the other hand done some injury to the ratun , peas and tobacco crops. Prices are stationary.
	29 Mozufferpore, " 22 "	0.43	Weather—mild, with west wind. The rubbee crops have been much improved by the recent fall of rain, and there is now every prospect of a fair harvest.
	Hajeeepore " ...	0.44
	30 Saran, " 22 "	Nil	Weather—cloudy at the beginning, but fair towards the end of the week. It is now getting warm. West wind is prevailing. There has been slight rain in most parts of the district. The crops are generally doing well. Mustard and peas are being harvested. The Sub-Deputy (pium) Agent of Sewan reports that not only is the opium crop very short, but blight has set in as it did last year. The prices of food-grains are stationary. Public health is good, but small-pox is on the increase.
	31 Champaran, " 22 "	Nil	Weather—getting warmer. No change to report in the state and prospects of the crops. More rain is required.
Bhagalpore Division	32 Monghyr, " 22 "	0.57	Weather—cold for the first two days with rain, but now becoming hotter every day. A severe though local hailstorm on the 16th damaged the crops near the Monghyr town. The damage is, however, trifling. Elsewhere everything looks well and a bumper rubbee crop may be expected.
	Beguserai " ...	0.28
	33 Bhagulpore, " 22 "	0.35	Weather—occasionally cloudy and getting warm in the Sadder sub-division. The prospects of the rubbee crops are good. Some damage has been done to the peas and linseed by caterpillars. Prices are ruling high. General health is good.
	34 Purneah " 22 "	0.51	Weather—fair and rather warm. The rain has done much good. Prospects are favourable. General health is good.
	Ayarcab " ...	0.34
Bhagalpore Division	35 Maldah, " 22 "	0.15	Weather—fair; occasionally cloudy. The rubbee crops are thriving. Prices of rice, &c., are slightly lower. Public health is generally improving.
	36 Sonthal Pergas, " 22 "	0.76	Weather—still uncertain. There are indications of rain. In the south of the district there is hardly anything on the ground now. The winter crops have been good. The rubbee in the north has been helped by the rain.

40	Hazareebagh, Feb. 21 '79	0.67	Weather—stormy and cloudy; cooler. The hail during the week has damaged the mohwa crop. The rubbee crops are well advanced. The fall of rain has been beneficial to the backward crops.
41	Lohardugga	Return not received.
42	Singbhoom	Return not received.
43	Manbhoom, Feb. 22 ..	0.96	Weather—somewhat unseasonable. The state of the mohwa crop on which the people largely depend for at least a couple of months is doubtful. The weather is threatening, and if heavy rain falls, the crop will be seriously injured.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof. Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 10.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended 60 above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's B formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Report on the Fluctuations in traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of January 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.

ALTHOUGH, as will be seen on reference to the comparative statement at foot, there has been a considerable increase in the traffic during the month in one or two staples, notably in jute, gunny, and tea, the total weight lifted for the period under review shows an increase of 6,126 maunds on December's traffic of 6,126 maunds.

INCREASES.

The crops are nearly all in, and business, which for a time has been almost entirely suspended in the staples carried under this head, except for local consumption, is now reviving.

The paddy crop is everywhere reported a bumper one; but until there is a greater margin than at present exists between the prices demanded by growers on the spot and the Calcutta market, no great movement towards the port can be expected.

Railway materials. The machinery for the Saidpur Workshops continues to go forward in large quantities, and several batches of material for the Darjeeling Tramway and for the extension beyond Rungpore have been despatched during the month.

Salt. The reason given for the increased weight carried under this head in my last month's report applies here. We may, I think, look forward to a steady traffic in this staple until the rains open up water communications again to our stations.

Tobacco. No transaction in the Calcutta market in this article is reported during the month. The small increase is due to a demand for home consumption.

All other goods. The traffic carried under this head has been particularly brisk during the month, 18,614 maunds being carried, against 12,060 maunds last month.

There was also a small increase in the downwards miscellaneous consignments, the figures standing at 3,941 maunds, against 3,475 maunds in December.

DECREASES.

Ale. This is a mere trade fluctuation. There was no commissariat beer despatched during the month.

Cotton. The movement in this staple has up to the present time been unworthy of consideration.

Ginger. This article in the dry state is still being sent forward for shipment. The demand, however, is not brisk, and the slight falling off noticed is to be expected.

Gunny-bags. The market for gunnies of all descriptions was very dull at the beginning of the month, and although there was no decided decline in prices, sales were with difficulty effected. This was especially the case with hand-made gunnies, and for a time despatches almost ceased.

Hides. The demand for hides has been active during the month and prices have been fully maintained, yet the quantity despatched has, as is shown, considerably fallen off. This traffic, as I have in previous reports observed, does not appear to be influenced by the ordinary rules of trade.

Jute. This large falling off is due chiefly to a sudden decline of 2 annas per maund in the Calcutta market. In dealing with this decrease, however, it must be borne in mind that the traffic in this staple last month was exceptionally heavy. There was a sudden jump from 18,412 maunds in November to 40,112 maunds in December, and although the result of the present month's working shows a falling off of 12,074 maunds, the total weight lifted, 28,833 maunds, would, had it not been for the exceptional traffic of December, have been considered satisfactory.

Piece-goods. The large despatches under this head since the cessation of the rains has resulted in the bazars becoming overstocked.

Sugar. This results from a falling off in the demand for supplying the local bazars owing to the holders standing out for better prices.

Tea. As anticipated in my last report, we have now come to the end of the tea season.
